RAID INDIANA JAIL; LYNCH 2

Tribune Fights for Electrification

31 ROADS NAMED IN SUIT TO BE STARTED TODAY

State Commission Is Asked to Act.

All of the thirty-one passenger carrying railroads entering Chicago, which have procrastinated for so many years in the building of suitable terminals or in electrification of suburban lines, are made defendants in a complaint which is to be filed on behalf of The Tribune company before the Illinois Commerce commission this morning.

This action, which is taken in the interests of Chicago and its citizens, seeks new passenger stations for those which are antiquated and archaic; and electrification within a radius of fifty miles in place of the present steam locomotives.

What the Complaint Asks.

The complaint was prepared by Attorneys Luther M. Walter, John S. Burchmore and Nuel D. Belnap, and petitions for the following line of action:

That the commission enter into an investigation, in which each defendant be required to transmit to the commission the report of its engineers and all plans for enlargement of passenger terminal facilities and for electrification thereof.

That each defendant be required to file before 30 days with the commission a report in detail as to the sums necessary to modernize existing stations or to build new ones and to electrify through the suburban zones.

Commission Order Sought.

That after hearing and investigation the commission shall determine the equipment and services to be furnished by each defendant, and shall issue an order directing such changes and improvements to be made within a time to be specified, and also to require the defendants to construct "reasonable and sufficient passenger terminal facilities in the city of Chicago, including particularly the electrification thereof, within an area of approximately fifty miles from such passenger terminal facilities."

The comfort and convenience which this would mean to the citizens of Chicago who use suburban lines, and to the millions of visitors to this city, particularly during the Fair year of 1933, and the advantage of doing this job now when money is cheap and work needed by many, are points brought out by the attorneys acting for THE TRIBUNE.

North Western First Named.

The Chicago and North Western railroad, which is said to have had elaborate plans for electrification ready for years, without action from the directors, is the first defendant named in the complaint. Its three entrances to the city are described and this statement made:

"That the said service is inadequate to meet the public needs; and that a sufficient number of trains operating at a reasonable speed and for reasonable comfort of passengers and reasonable promptness of handling of the mails, parcel post and express cannot be afforded by said defendant, unless and until it modernizes its station and terminal facilities by electrification thereof, operating trains into and out of said station by electric locomotives in place of steam locomotives and over its aforesaid passenger lines to the end of the so-called suburban zone."

Union Station Discussed.

The Union station, the complaint says, is of modern construction and well operated, except that the trains enter and leave that station by steam locomotives, "the use of which has been abolished by modern railroads in metropolitan centers generally."

The Grand Central station, the La Salle street station, the Dearborn station, and the Central station at 12th street are described as overcrowded and wholly lacking in proper facilities for the handling of passenger trains. The complaint proceeds:

"The passenger train service performed by the said defendants, into and out of their respective terminal stations in Chicago [with the sole exception of the Illinois Central Railroad company's suburban traffic between Randolph street and Matteson] is performed by steam locomotives, and all the equipment, appliances and facilities for the transportation of passengers and property on passenger

TAILOR SEIZED; CONFESSES PLOT TO EXTORT $5,000

Joseph Stefano, 4721 South Kedvale avenue, a tailor, was arrested last night by Lieut. William Blaul of the state's attorney's police and held on a charge of attempting to extort $5,000 from Guido Paottelli, 1409 South 48th court, Cicero.

Paottelli became suspicious when Stefano visited him and told him that for $500 he could trace the source of a letter which Paottelli had received, demanding $5,000 and threatening death to members of his family. Paottelli notified the state's attorney's office and Blaul took Stefano into custody as he accepted the $500 in the Paottelli home.

Stefano confessed the attempted extortion, according to Assistant State's Attorney Richard V. Jackson, who questioned him.

Santa Fe Train Wrecked; Two Are Reported Killed

Winslow, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(AP)—H. C. Kabeling, chief clerk to the superintendent of the Santa Fé railroad, said here tonight the line's passenger train No. 8, east bound, was wrecked 10 miles from Joseph City, Ariz., shortly before 9 p. m., with the possible deaths of R. E. Bixby, engineer, and Morris B. Burney, fireman. Kabeling said it was reported the engine leaped into an open wash and pulled two cars on top of it. A chair car and Pullman car, carrying sleeping passengers, remained on the tracks.

Swollen Ankle Ends Dance at 2,831st Hour

If it hadn't been for a swollen ankle that put Jack Ritof, 24 years old, of Joliet, off the floor at exactly 9:34 last night, slating couple 13 for the first prize, the dance marathon at the Merry Garden ballroom, Belmont and Sheffield avenues, might still be shuffling on.

Over the cheers and shouts of a thousand onlookers, the management announced a few wild minutes later that Ann Gerry, 24, and Mike Gouvas had danced 2,831 hours and 4½ minutes. The previous world record, it was pointed out, was 1,800 hours and 21½ minutes. So every one seemed happy that some sort of a record had been established, and there was much merrymaking, handshaking, hysterical congratulations, radio announcing, and such.

They're Not Out Yet.

If the onlookers thought the dancers were weary enough to drop immediately on the white hospital cots to sleep, they were mistaken. Jack might have been disqualified by an injured ankle but he "felt fine" otherwise, and thought it tough luck. Theresa Zito, his partner, was sorry they had to quit, but didn't feel a bit sleepy, and sat on the sidelines watching the fun. But Ann, the pretty blonde girl who was easily a favorite, kept shuffling on, and Mike couldn't seem to stay in one place. They all four tirelessly posed for pictures, admired their loving cups, and didn't believe they would enter another marathon very soon.

"I might set up a beauty shop, or I might go on the stage," said Ann, when asked what she would do with her share of the $2,600 prize money. And I'll have $700, too, from my tips after paying some bills."

"What about getting married?"

"Well, I don't know. One never can tell. When I get done sleeping I'm going down to visit my sweetheart's sister. But," she added hastily, "I don't think I'd get married this year."

Plans Trip to Europe.

Theresa, who comes in for second prize money, plans to go to Europe. She figured she'd have enough for that with the tip money, and what she made each night from selling her autographed picture postcards.

The marathon started on April 11 with 42 couples. By the middle of May the police officials had been aroused by the city's "anti-societies." By June 28, after Corporation Counsel Ettelson had given a legal opinion that the place could be raided, the raiding enthusiasm was lost somewhere. And the dance went merrily on.

QUITS CRIME BOARD; BLAMES IT ON POLITICS

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The New York World says it learned today that Max Lowenthal, New York lawyer, resigned from the executive secretaryship of the Hoover law enforcement commission July 30, because he was disappointed by the commission's failure to make a scientific study of law violation and law enforcement.

Admitting that Mr. Lowenthal referred all questions to Chairman George W. Wickersham, the newspaper says it learned from sources close to the secretary and members of the commission that "disgust" over what he regarded as the commission's "antics in the realm of political expediency" was a factor in the case.

Mr. Lowenthal accepted the secretary's post at Mr. Wickersham's request. He moved from New York to Washington, D. C., and served thirteen months.

The World says he was displeased by dissension in the commission and political pressure, which elicited premature statements by commission members and by the committee as a whole. The commission originally expected to report in two years, issued a preliminary report six months after organization, and a supplementary report several months later.

FLEET OF PLANES ATTACK CLOUDS, BREAK UP STORM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Aug. 7.—Sunshine or rain at will, in any desired quantities, were promised by the Dutch "rainmaker," Herr Veraart, today after he led an attack by a fleet of airplanes on a bank of clouds over the North sea. The clouds were broken up and wiped from the skies. Herr Veraart, with the coöperation of the Dutch war ministry, led five Fokker planes against the clouds about 12,000 feet up. The planes attacked the clouds with ice dust. After about 7,000 pounds of the ice dust had been strewn over the clouds they disappeared. Herr Veraart plans to make experiments on a larger scale soon.

Gunmen Kidnap Woman, Rob Her of Automobile

Mrs. Helen Bunn, 28 years old, the wife of Harry E. Bunn, vice president of the H. B. Bunn company, manufacturers of tying machines, was held up last night by three gunmen as she was putting her automobile in a garage at the rear of her home, 9464 South Laflin street. The robbers compelled her to drive them to 92d street and Vincennes, where they relieved her of $4 and rode off in her car, promising to return it today.

5,000 SEE MOB HANG RAPISTS IN COURT YARD

Pair Also Held for Slaying Youth.

Marion, Ind., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Two Negroes, accused of killing a white man in a holdup last night and of raping his girl companion, were lynched in the public square here tonight before a crowd of 5,000.

A mob of 75 men, armed with pistols, crowbars, and sledge hammers, stormed the county jail at 9:30 p. m. and battered down the steel outer door. They milled past Sheriff Jake Campbell, his four deputies, and ten policemen and seized their victims, Thomas Shipp, 18, and Abe Smith, 19, Marion Negroes.

Report One Man Confessed.

Shipp, who is said to have confessed killing the white man, Claude Deeter, 23, of Fairmount, Ind., was hanged from an elm tree in the courthouse yard. Smith, whom the girl identified as her assailant, was thrown from a third floor window of the jail with a noose around his neck and strangled.

As the bodies hung lifeless two hours after the lynching the mob stormed the jail a second time, chose one from among the fourteen remaining Negro prisoners, and led him out with a rope around his neck.

The prospective victim, Herbert Cameron, 18 years old, convinced his captors he was innocent of complicity in the murder and rape. Beaten severely, he finally was returned to the jail after the uncle of the girl had pleaded with the mob to cease their lawlessness.

Parked in Country Lane.

Deeter, a 23 year old tradesman of Fairmount, eleven miles southeast of Marion, had taken his sweetheart, Miss Mary Ball, 19, for a ride last night. They were parked in a country lane east of Marion when three Negroes came along in another car.

The Negroes drew guns and ordered Deeter out of the car. With hands upraised, he obeyed, and was marched down the slope to the river bank. The girl heard three shots. Deeter had fallen with three bullets in his brain.

The Negroes, stuffing Deeter's wallet and personal jewelry into their pockets returned to the girl. She was struggling with them when another car approached.

Girls' Screams Attract Motorist.

The Negroes fled in their own car and the motorist, attracted by Miss Ball's screams, came to her assistance. He had first noted clearly the description of the killers' car, being suspicious of its sudden and speedy departure.

Deeter still was living, but unconscious. The motorist took him to the Grant county hospital, where he later died, and brought the girl to police headquarters. Four hours later the police took Shipp in custody.

Police Chief Louis Linmuth said he had long suspected Shipp as a highwayman. The squad men who seized him at his home found on the premises a car answering the description of the one in which Deeter's killers fled.

Shipp, according to Chief Linmuth, signed a confession, involving Smith, who was taken into custody at 10 a. m. Smith confessed the assault on the girl, the chief said. Following completion of their confessions both were turned over to Sheriff Campbell.

Crowd Comes from Fairmount.

Reports of the crimes and confessions, published in Marion newspapers this afternoon, stirred this quiet com-

4 County Auto Accidents Kill 5; Five Hurt

Five persons were killed in Cook county auto accidents yesterday, a New York woman, daughter of a prominent Illinois farmer, was killed in a collision near Hoopeston, Ill., and a Chicago youth died of injuries at a Warsaw, Ind., hospital. The dead were:

Elmer D. O'Connell, 57 years old, 330 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, a retired Chicago policeman, killed in a grade crossing accident one mile south of Glenview on the Waukegan road.

Genevieve O'Connell, 18 years old, his daughter, a victim of the same accident.

Mrs. Julian Taillieu, 42 years old, 4842 Quincy street, killed in a collision of two autos at Jackson boulevard and Homan avenue.

John Kallas, 446 South Halsted street, fatally injured when struck by an auto at Michigan avenue and Washington street. The car was driven by John Owens, 40 East Oak street, a former jockey, who told police Kallas stepped in front of the machine as it crossed Washington street with the traffic signal.

Marian Wolf, 4 years old, 9947 South Leavitt street, was killed when she ran in front of an automobile driven by James Bingham Jr., 17 years old, 2257 West 112th street, while playing in front of her home. Bingham was held by the Morgan Park police.

Mrs. Frances Sconce Washburn, of New York, daughter of Harvey J. Sconce, wealthy Sidell, Ill., farmer, leader in various agricultural movements, killed when the auto in which she was riding with her father collided head on with another machine on the Dixie highway near Hoopeston, in Vermilion county. Mr. Sconce, who had been in Chicago to confer with officials of the 1933 Century of Progress Exposition, was slightly injured.

Paul Eastin, 18 years old, 11422 Lowe avenue, died at Warsaw, Ind., from injuries received on Wednesday when the auto in which he was riding plunged into a ditch at a curve near Tippecanoe lake, Ind. Robert Walburn of Muncie, Ind., the driver, was killed.

O'Connell and his daughter were returning from West Lake Forest in Lake county where they had visited the grave of Mrs. O'Connell who died last November. Their auto was struck by a fast southbound Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad train, carried 500 feet down the tracks, and tossed into a ditch a mass of wreckage.

Five persons were seriously injured in the accident in which Mrs. Taillieu was killed when the auto in which she was riding collided with another car and overturned.

CADDY IS KILLED BY ROCK THROWN DURING QUARREL

Marion Conklin, 21 years old, a caddy at the Medinah Country club, was killed yesterday when he was struck on the head by a stone during an argument with Herschel McAbee, 24 years old, 2148 Elston avenue, a fellow caddy.

Play was over for the day and the caddies were returning to the clubhouse when they began an argument over a personal debt of 20 cents. Conklin was walking away when McAbee hurled the stone, striking him in the back of the head, according to witnesses. McAbee was held at the Wheaton jail on orders of Coroner Paul Isherwood.

HOOVER ACTS TO MEET CRISIS DUE TO DROUGHT

Farm Board May Lend 97 Millions.

Wheat Soars, Dips

Soaring wheat prices caused a flurry in the early trading on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday. May wheat rising to $1.14 a bushel. However, when professional traders stepped in for profit taking, the prices slipped again, and wheat, corn, oats and rye showed declines at the close as compared to closing prices on Wednesday. Details on page 23.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—President Hoover and four agencies of the federal government took action today to bring such relief to the drought blighted areas throughout the country as is found necessary after a detailed check of the situation.

The treasury department and federal farm board began mobilizing available credit facilities to meet the emergency, the former through the federal farm loan board and the latter through its grain stabilization corporation; the department of agriculture started to make a detailed survey of the damage for the report it will make to the President next Monday, and the war department undertook to help in distributing water in certain sections of Indiana and Kentucky where actual human suffering has started.

$97,000,000 Available.

Carl Williams, a member of the farm board, stated that the resources of the board available for the proposed drought credit plan approximate $97,000,000. Out of its 500 million dollars revolving fund, of which 250 millions has been appropriated, 220 millions has been spent or loaned, but enough of this has been paid back to furnish the $97,000,000 balance.

Paul Beston, farm loan commissioner, was called to the White House this afternoon for a consultation as to what the federal farm loan board might do through its intermediate credit banks.

The department of agriculture, at the suggestion of President Hover, prepared to send telegrams to all country farm agents in the affected areas asking them to make detailed surveys of the drought damage, the feed that will be produced, and the number of families who probably will require aid in carrying their live stock through the winter.

Hyde's View Encouraging.

President Hoover conferred during the day with Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, who cut short a tour of the wheat belt to return to assist in relief. Mr. Hyde brought the most encouraging reports that the President has heard. He told Mr. Hoover that the damage was considerably spotted, that its actual extent was hard to determine, and that normal rainfall from now on would prevent much of the apprehended damage.

Such "normal rainfall" was by no means promised by the weather bureau, however, which continued its discouraging forecasts. Hard showers in Illinois and Nebraska this morning by no means marked any appreciable break in the drought. Rains also fell in the upper Ohio, and in the middle and southern Appalachian sections, but were slight.

Poor Outlook for Rain.

The meteorological prospects for the next few days remain the same, according to the weather bureau's reports, with no hope of anything like the precipitation that would be necessary to break the drought.

The farm board has evolved a plan for organizing corporations throughout the various stricken states to furnish security for farmer loans to buy feeding grains from the grain stabilization corporation. The plan is almost identical with the one employed by Mr. Hoover in rehabilitating the flooded Mississippi valley in 1927. Applied to the present situation, it contemplates the organization of business men and farmers in any stricken community, county, district or state into a corporation, duly incorporated under state laws, to guarantee the payment of notes to be given by individual farmers for the purchase of grain.

"Under the agricultural marketing act," said a farm board statement, "the federal farm board cannot give anything to anybody, but it has considerable discretion in the matter of terms on loans. There is also the Grain Stabilization corporation through which the board may work.

Clothing Now Offered Near Pre-War Prices

Back in 1912, brewing beer was a leading industry, a fellow made a record by flying to Milwaukee from Chicago, and $30 to $35 bought a suit of clothes fit for a dude. Came the war. Woolens and wages went up. And when Johnnie came marching home he found that it cost a small fortune to buy the civies he was so anxious to get back into. The government made statistics out of the ex-soldiers' experiences and reported that clothing prices were up 216 per cent.

Since then wearing apparel has been getting almost steadily cheaper. According to the government, a dollar now has the purchasing power at the clothing stores that $2.19 had at the peak in 1930. The breweries are gone, 80 miles is no kind of a flight record, but Chicago clothing stores are offering good suits that are right at the pre-war prices. And many is the day since ties, shirts and the miscellany of other things which the stores call haberdashery have been available at the prices now advertised.

agencies or other business men and farmers in any stricken community, county, district or state will form under the laws of their own state a responsible corporation which will guarantee the payment of notes to be given by individual farmers, a plan probably can be quickly developed whereby the Grain Stabilization corporation can sell feed grains of any kinds in car lots at market prices on easy payments of one or two years."

MAY GET SHOWERS

While drought and abnormally high temperatures increased the woes of farmers and brought discomfort to most cities of the central states yesterday, Chicago had an interval of normal temperatures, marred only by excessive humidity.

Gentle, variable winds, partial cloudiness and seasonable temperatures are predicted for Chicago today. A shower is possible here and local showers may occur over the northern portion of the corn belt, which was blanketed by intense heat yesterday, relieved in scattered spots by light rains.

Freshened soon after midnight by a thundershower, which sprinkled Chicago with .29 of an inch of rain—the second highest precipitation recorded anywhere in the country yesterday—the city awoke to find the temperature at 73 degrees. However, the relative humidity, a no less important factor in personal comfort, was 96, a mark nearly double the morning average for August.

Man Dies of Heat.

During the day, with the mercury climbing to a maximum of 82 degrees and the humidity declining to 80, one heat death and four prostrations occurred. The fatality was an unidentified hobo, about 45 years old, who collapsed as he crossed Grant park seeking a shady spot for a nap. He died in the county hospital.

Lightning struck twice during the shower, one bolt blasting a tall elm near the administration building in Lincoln park and the other gouging a hole of eight foot diameter out of a brick chimney on the South Chicago police station, 2938 East 89th street.

The burning sun continued to increase the damage to crops downstate and forced the mercury above 100 degrees again in many communities. In adjoining states temperature readings generally were in the 90's.

For the second consecutive day, Carbondale led the Illinois heat list with a maximum of 108. Marion reported 107. At Pana, where the day's maximum was 105, farmers were making 30 mile water hauls to save their stock from perishing of thirst.

ACTRESS SUES FLEISCHMANN FOR "LOST LOVE"

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Madge Mitchell, 25, film actress, manicurist, and once a beauty prize winner, wants $100,000 heart balm from William N. Fleischmann, cousin of Maj. Max Fleischmann and member of a multimillionaire Santa Barbara family. She believed in his promises and went to Honolulu on a pre-honeymoon trip with him, she charges in her suit, filed in Superior court today.

Miss Mitchell relates that she plunged into "love at first sight" with the wealthy bachelor, who is 57, on Dec. 2, 1929, and that he agreed to marry her and in the meantime support her in luxury. The Hawaiian voyage followed and when she demurred at happenings there, the actress recites, her admirer gave her a ticket back to California, but forgot to include spending money.

FARMER HANGS SELF.

Pittsfield, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—George Bauer, prominent retired farmer, hanged himself today when he received word of a loss on stock shipped to Chicago.

MAYOR LEAVES WITHOUT ACTING ON PHONE GRANT

Ordinance to Await His Return in Six Weeks.

Two important ordinances were left unsigned yesterday as Mayor Thompson departed from Chicago on the "Wolverine" at noon for Nantucket, Mass., to join Mrs. Thompson at the house which he has leased for the summer. The mayor is expected to remain in the east for a month or six weeks and until he returns, it was indicated, no action will be taken by him on the telephone franchise and airport lease.

The mayor, according to reports in the city hall, is not satisfied that the provisions of the franchise adequately safeguard important rights of the city. He has requested Corporation Counsel Ettelson to submit a report but is not expected to study the report until his return to the city.

Relocation Cost Is Factor.

The opposition to the ordinance at the last meeting of the council when it was passed by a vote of 37 to 9 kept the aldermen in session until late at night. The principal attack was on the section relating to the payment of the cost of relocating telephone equipment in the subway. This cost is estimated at $500,000 a mile.

Under the old franchise the telephone company was obligated definitely to assume the relocation costs. In the new franchise the company only "agrees to enter into negotiations for and to become a party to any agreement or agreements between the city and the Insull companies" relative to the removal of the public utility equipment and agrees to perform the provisions of any ordinance which is accepted by the other companies.

Must Act Before Nov. 5.

If the mayor does not veto the ordinance on his return it will become effective at the next regular meeting of the council which is set for Nov. 5. When and if the ordinance becomes effective the city will receive approximately $3,000,000 in compensation which has accrued since the expiration of the old franchise in January, 1929. The company has said it will not pay until it has a new franchise.

The decision on the lease of 585 acres of school property at 63d street and Cicero avenue to develop the municipal airport will follow the opinion of Corporation Counsel Ettelson, the mayor has indicated. Several objections to the lease, which was drawn up after two years of negotiations, have been cited by Roy M. Lesch, assistant corporation counsel.

No Appropriation For Rent.

One of the objections stressed by Mr. Lesch is that the mayor would lay himself open to prosecution if he signed the lease as the council failed to make any appropriation for the rental of $25 an acre from July 1. Under the financial relief legislation passed at the special session of the general assembly the city is forbidden to contract to spend money for which no appropriation has been made.

This ruling brought forth the possibility that the airport lease cannot be legally consummated until next year. Another of the financial relief bills prohibits the city in the future from passing supplementary appropriations at midyear, as has been the custom, and terminated the council's right this year to pass a "baby" budget on Aug. 1.

Golf Course Lease Not Assigned.

Among other points brought out in the Lesch opinion are that the terms of the lease prevent the city subleasing ground to aviation companies for hanger space. The school board also failed to assign to the city the lease on 160 acres of the airport tract which are leased to the Laramie golf course. The city cannot negotiate for the cancellation of that lease before the end of the seven years that the lease has yet to run.

Before leaving the mayor made public his correspondence on the recommendation of the July grand jury that Capt. John Stege be reinstated as chief of detectives. The mayor said that he had referred the matter to Acting Police Commissioner Alcock who announced that the grand jury's request has been denied.

A third ordinance left unsigned by the mayor authorizes Alcock to purchase 16 sedans, ten large cars and six Fords, for $47,000. About 20 minor ordinances were signed by the mayor Wednesday night preparatory to his departure.

AREA HIT BY DROUGHT IS WARNED AGAINST DANGERS TO HEALTH

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Warning that typhoid fever and other diseases may flare up in the wake of the record breaking drought unless sanitation measures are rigorously enforced was given today by Surgeon General Cumming of the public health service.

Reports on typhoid fever show this disease is already more prevalent than it was at the corresponding week last year. Cumming urged extreme care in rural sections, suggesting that drinking water from sources whose purity was not certain should be boiled.

For the week ending Aug. 2, a total of 930 cases of typhoid fever were reported, compared with 870 during the corresponding week of 1929.

In addition to the danger of typhoid, Cumming saw the probability that pellagra, already increasingly prevalent in the Mississippi valley states, might make inroads in other parched, waterless areas. He said also any shortage in the milk supply would work ill on the health of the nation's infants and children.

Hunter Brothers Take Off at Los Angeles for Illinois

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The four Hunter brothers, Sparta, Ill., aviators, who hold the world endurance refueling flight record, took off unheralded from municipal airport today en route back to Illinois. They have been appearing on the stage in Hollywood. The Hunter quartet will make one overnight stop at Las Vegas, Nev., will then fly to Yankton, S. D., for a theatrical appearance on Sunday and fly from there to Chicago.

RAID AN INDIANA JAIL AND LYNCH TWO RAPISTS

5,000 See Mob Hang Pair in Court Yard.

munity of 23,000 to intense excitement. There was no hint of the impending violence, however, until 8:30 p. m., when a motorcade of Deeter's fellow townsmen arrived from Fairmount.

The Fairmount delegation, numbering about 100, gathered in the public square, openly displaying their guns and shouting for a lynching. As the crowd was swelled by local citizens, Sheriff Campbell armed his deputies and called upon Chief Linmuth to send reinforcements with tear gas bombs.

The mob choked the square around the courthouse and jail and police were compelled to go through the sheriff's home and connecting passageway to reach the jail. Meanwhile a fire company also had responded and turned a hose on the crowd, but a display of firearms caused them to desist and leave the scene.

Sheriff Argues with Leaders.

The sheriff led his deputies to the front door, argued a moment with the leaders of the mob and then ordered the tear bombs thrown. Blinded, the lynchers fell back for a few minutes, but returned and began the sledge hammer siege which forced the jail doors within ten minutes. No shots were fired on either side.

Following the lynching the mob gathered in the square for an hour, some proposing to drive the 2,000 members of the Negro colony from the city and burn their dwellings. Peace officers from Indianapolis, Kokomo, Fort Wayne, and other towns were arriving however, and gradually the mob broke up.

Unable to reach Gov. Leslie by telephone, the sheriff outlined the situation to the governor's secretary, O. L. Chasey, who promised that state troops would be summoned if rioting broke out.

Troops Are in Camp.

The state militia is now encamped at Camp Knox, 190 miles below Marion, but Mr. Chasey indicated the troops could be mobilized for action in Marion within ten hours if necessary.

Marion, a peaceful community of 23,000, never before has witnessed a lynching. Forty years ago when the city was a straggling village a mob attempted to seize a Negro accused of attacking a white woman, but was frustrated. The Negro was tried later in another county and acquitted.

ENDS OWN LIFE BY GUN.

While despondent over illness Henry Wilgendorf, 69 years old, 4845 Wabansia avenue, a boat builder at Beverly Lake, committed suicide last night by shooting himself with a shotgun.

Scene of Lynching

Marion, Ind., is a city of about 24,000 population. Once it was the center of a natural gas district and boasted of its manufacturing. Marion is approximately 150 miles southeast of Chicago.

HULL IS LEADING IN TENNESSEE SENATE BATTLE

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—With returns from more than half of the precincts in the state counted, Gov. Henry H. Horton had a commanding lead over L. E. Gwinn of Memphis in his race for Democratic nomination for another two year term. Cordell Hull, 4th district representative in congress, was far ahead of Andrew L. Todd in the race for the junior United States senate term beginning in March.

Unofficial returns from 1,194 precincts out of 2,251 gave Horton 80,149, Gwinn 53,142.

In the long term senate race returns from 1,135 precincts gave Hull 66,537, Todd 40,174.

Senator William E. Brock was nominated to succeed himself for the short senate term from November to March. Returns from 963 precincts gave Brock 44,488, Dr. John R. Neal 16,560.

Harry T. Burn, Sweetwater, led C. Arthur Bruce, Memphis, in the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Returns from 93 precincts gave Burn 3,821, Bruce 3,103.

FOUR BERKELEY CHILDREN GONE; MAY BE KIDNAPED

Berkeley, Cal., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Four children were missing from their homes here today in what police said may be the result of a kidnaping plot.

The children were last seen playing in front of their 6th street home yesterday afternoon. Last night a man telephoned the parents and said:

"Your children are safe. Don't worry. Wait."

17 PERSONS DIE, 13 MISSING IN BORDER FLOODS

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Mayor A. C. Villasenor of Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, tonight estimated 17 persons were drowned in his city by the flood which swept these twin border towns. The estimate was based on a complete check of the list of missing.

Residents of the two towns, already stunned by the catastrophe which last night swirled water eight feet deep through business districts, tonight helplessly viewed renewal of the torrential downpour. Search for 13 persons known to be missing was halted.

Mexican soldiers, searching the debris filled streets of the Conora city for trace of victims, fled to shelter on high ground. The lines of black chawled women, which all day had passed through the morgue, where lay the bodies of known dead, dispersed suddenly.

Last night's storm dropped two and a half inches of rain between midnight and dawn in Nogales and affected an area with a 100 mile diameter, centering here. Storms were reported in other sections of southern Arizona, with transportation and communications interrupted.

Citizens of both towns, which together have a population of 11,000 persons, ran as the first gust of wind bore down a sheet of rain this afternoon. Streams again ran bank full and water flooded the streets.

HUSBAND SKIPS WITH HER $4,000 ON HONEYMOON

Mrs. Mary Kelly Pheles, 38 years old, 4358 Shields avenue, went to the police yesterday with this complaint:

"Two weeks ago I met a nice fellow at the 75th street bathing beach. He said he was Frank M. Pheles of New York, and he made violent love to me. A week ago we were married and started on our honeymoon trip. The next morning when I woke up on the train in the depot in New York I found that Mr. Pheles was gone. And so was my $4,000 in cash and stocks I had entrusted to his keeping."

KILL HOLDUP SUSPECT IN N. Y. POLICE STATION

New York, Aug. 8 [Friday].—[Special.]—A Porto Rican, arrested with three companions for a candy store holdup, was shot and killed by policemen in the High Bridge station early today after he had shot and seriously wounded a detective and a patrolman while he was being finger printed in the detective bureau. The dead man was Robalin Hernandez, 24, a salesman. His body was riddled by bullets from nearly a dozen police revolvers a moment after he had fired at the detective and the patrolman.

FESS IS CHOSEN G. O. P. LEADER; HUSTON RESIGNS

R. H. Lucas Selected for Executive Director.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Senator Simeon D. Fess [Rep., O.], keynoter at the Republican convention at Kansas City that nominated Herbert Hoover, was unanimously elected chairman of the Republican national committee at a meeting of the executive committee today. His selection to guide the Republican campaign in the congressional elections this fall and to pave the way for Republican success in the 1932 presidential election was made immediately after Claudius H. Huston had submitted his resignation as chairman of the national committee and stepped down from the direction of party affairs.

Robert H. Lucas of Kentucky, the present commissioner of internal revenue, was chosen as Senator Fess' assistant with the title of executive director and George de B. Keim of New Jersey was elected secretary of the national committee in place of Representative Franklin W. Fort [Rep., N. J.], who resigned last spring.

Huston Issues Statement.

Today's meeting ended, to all appearances, the several months of party turmoil which centered around the head of Chairman Huston. There was no display of oratorical fireworks at the meeting, which had been called some days ago to accept the reluctantly tendered resignation of Mr. Huston. In resigning, Mr. Huston took occasion to issue a statement attacking party leaders whom he accused of "failing to maintain a solid front when under the enemy fire."

"In the past," Mr. Huston asserted in his statement, which was handed to individual committee members but not read at the meeting, "it has been the policy of party leaders to maintain a solid front when under the enemy fire, but as this has not been the policy in the present case I have reached the conclusion, putting the interest of the Republican party ahead of personal consideration, that I should tender my resignation, for I am wholly unwilling to be accused of imposing any burdens personal to me upon the party during the coming senatorial and congressional campaign."

Never Sought Office, He Says.

"For a lifetime I have been a member and an active worker in the Republican party," Mr. Huston said. "I have never sought office or reward in any form. It was with a desire to promote its success and that of the administration that upon the urging of party leaders I agreed to accept the chairmanship.

"Every accusation made by the senate committee was so completely refuted that its final report to the senate charged no wrongdoing and the opposing party, since that time, has found no advantage in pursuing me further.

"My withdrawal will give the organization an opportunity of selecting a leader free from the present factional opposition, and will permit me, without embarrassing others, to pursue a course that will insure in the minds of the Republicans of the country my right to their continued esteem and confidence."

Huston Advised to Retire.

Chairman Huston's retirement followed a protracted senate lobby committee investigation of his connection with the Muscle Shoals lobby. After the senate committee airing, party leaders frankly advised Mr. Huston that they believed his usefulness as national chairman had been destroyed by the attacks made against him, regardless of the truth or falsity of the charges. After a meeting of Republican leaders on July 10 it was disclosed that Mr. Huston would retire.

The Tennessee politician's testimony before the lobby committee that he deposited in his broker's account $36,000 he had collected for the Tennessee River Improvement association before turning the money over to association uses prompted the uprising against the committee chairman. President Hoover took steps to let Mr. Huston know he desired his resignation, but the chairman declined to quit "under fire" before congress adjourned.

With Huston out and Senator Fess in as permanent chairman Republican leaders asserted today that the party was now squared away for a successful fight to retain Republican supremacy in the house and senate. Many leaders, including James Francis Burke, counselor for the party, asserted that nothing can now stop the renomination and reelection of President Hoover. Mr. Burke asserted that the party must renominate Hoover or face defeat.

Plan Educational Campaign.

Interviewed by newspaper men, Senator Fess revealed that he expected to inaugurate an educational campaign to keep the country constantly informed as to the facts regarding the conduct of the government by the Republican party. He said that Mr. Lucas will carry on the routine work and he will do the planning. He predicted continued Republican success.

"I have accepted the chairmanship of the national committee in the belief that there is a great work to be done," Mr. Fess said.

"The world wide depression, which affects our country less than others, will cause some dissatisfaction with the administration. This will necessitate a campaign of education that the public may be informed. I anticipate continued control of the Republican party in both the house and senate by safe majorities. The country is Republican and will continue to be so as long as Republican principles are courageously continued."

AIR STOP AND GO LIGHTS FEATURE PLANE RACE PLAN

Control System Is Approved.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Stop and go lights for air traffic and a parking and passenger station for airplanes are the novel features of a traffic control system for the national air races, adopted yesterday by directors of the event which will be held at Curtiss airport from Aug. 23 to Sept. 1.

While pilots will not be expected to put on their brakes and come to a halt in midair when the red light shows on the race field, the signal system will be used to keep the airport clear while race events are being run, according to Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events, who is author of the plan.

The traffic control system, declared by pilots who viewed the plans yesterday as the most complete in the history of flying, will be put into effect to prevent the collision of planes aloft. The plan has been approved by Maj. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, who is issuing formal regulations to make the plan effective.

The traffic lights are the equivalent of a giant stop and go sign employing a signal panel 45 feet by 28 feet on the ground which will be operated in conjunction with a red neon light on the south end of the hangar roof. When the signal panel shows white and the red lights on the hangar are turned off planes not participating in the race will be allowed to land. Ten minutes during every hour, the racing planes will be held up and the outsiders will be allowed to come into the field.

While the racing planes roar about the pylons in the air above and for 1,000 feet on all sides of the airport will be closed to other aircraft. Pilots will be required to circle the airport in wide left hand turns 1,000 feet up until the light changes.

Another innovation introduced by Maj. Schroeder is a reception station at the south end of the main grandstand. Visiting pilots will taxi to this discharging platform and receive a parking check from a licensed pilot attendant who will taxi the plane to a parking area, service it and bring it back to the station when the pilot and passengers are ready to leave. Baggage will be checked direct to the visitors' hotel.

STRANGE FLUID CHARGES BATTERIES INSTANTLY.

A simple, harmless fluid which automatically recharges automobile, radio, and other wet batteries instantly, is being offered on trial to users by Harry Elliott, Suite 42-H, Eighth and Park Sts., Des Moines, Iowa. This remarkable fluid also increases the life of batteries and enables them to hold their charge indefinitely. Dead batteries charge themselves as if by magic. Old batteries act like new. No trouble—no battery expense—can be used instantly by any one. Mr. Elliott wants agents and is making a free offer. Write him today.—Adv.

NAB EX-MEMBER OF CONGRESS AT STILL HE TENDED

Manuel Herrick Held as Moonshiner.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Manuel Herrick, former representative from Oklahoma, whose escapades have brought him into the limelight frequently in recent years, was nabbed yesterday morning by federal dry agents as one of the operators of an illicit still near Park Fall, Md., about eighty miles from Washington.

Attired in tattered clothing and wearing a three day growth of beard, Herrick, who was an absentee and unsuccessful candidate for nomination to the house in the Oklahoma primary last week, at first claimed to be a special undercover agent for the department of justice, but finally admitted, it is said, that he was working for the owners of the still for $3 a day.

Taken With Two Companions.

Investigation showed that Herrick had applied to the federal prohibition bureau here for a commission as agent or informer. He was told however, his services were not wanted, that he would not be compensated for any information he might obtain independently, and that if he were caught under incriminating circumstances he would be considered a law violator.

Herrick with his companions at the still, Willie Airey, 26, and Pius Bennels, a Negro, was brought to Upper Marlboro, Md., last night riding in a truck which, loaded with 50 cases of fruit jars and 12,000 gallons of mash, had been confiscated by the raiders.

Finding the still, the five agents who conducted the raid maintained an all night vigil before closing in yesterday morning on Herrick who, they asserted today, they saw firing the boiler and dipping mash into the still during the night.

One Hectic Term in Congress.

A native of Ohio, Herrick represented the so-called "Cherokee strip" district of Oklahoma in the house for one term from March 4, 1921, until March 4, 1923, and was defeated for reelection. During his two years in the house Herrick's eccentricities brought him wide publicity in addition to the notoriety which followed his affairs with several girls.

Shortly after he entered the house he was threatened with a $50,000 breach of promise suit by the guardian of Miss Anna Elizabeth Niebel, 18 years old, New York entry in a local beauty contest. His persistent attentions to another contestant, Miss Elizabeth Storey of Washington, moved the latter's mother to appeal to local police to keep Herrick away from her daughter.

Then he was sued by his stenographer, Miss Evelyn Crane, who charged he had reflected publicly on her character, and Herrick countered with a breach of promise suit against Miss Crane.

At a hearing late today Herrick was held to the federal grand jury with bonds set at $1,500. A charge of impersonating an officer was not pressed.

GERMAN WINS EUROPEAN AIR RACE ON POINTS

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The German, Fritz Morsik, who won last year's around Europe reliability tour sponsored by the French Aero club, today was declared the winner of a similar flight made last month. He won on points, with a total of 427, although a British pilot, Capt. Hubert S. Broad, was the first actually to complete the tour. Capt. Broad was given eighth place in the final scoring.

John Evans Carrbery, who dropped his British title of Lord Carbery after he became a naturalized American in California several years ago, was given sixth place. Lord Carbery added one "R" to his name when he gave up the title.

YOUTH SEIZED IN CLASSROOM ADMITS HOLDUPS

Police are hopeful that a score or more of recent holdups will be solved with the arrest yesterday of Maurice Free, 16 years old, 2909 West 39th street. Free was seized by Sergt. Robert Calkins while he attended classes at the Central Y. M. C. A. school, 19 South La Salle street. Among his books in his brief case was found a loaded .38 caliber revolver.

Free already has confessed seven recent gun robberies, mostly of loop haberdashers, and has admitted obtaining $600 loot. As fast as he got the money he spent it on his girls in the night clubs, he said.

"One of this fellow's jobs was the robbery of a shooting gallery on Stony Island avenue," said Sergt. Calkins. "He turned the shooting gallery rifle on the manager and then ran out with all the cash and the rifle, too."

HOLD RINELLA ON DRY CHARGE AFTER SHOOTING

U. S. Warrant Served at Jail Hospital.

CRIMINAL COURT.
William Conrad and John Ryan, burglary, sentenced to Joliet penitentiary for 1 year to life by Judge Harry B. Miller.

A warrant charging conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws was served at the Bridewell hospital yesterday upon Joseph Rinella, 36 years old, recently of 3342 Lowe avenue. Rinella was fired upon and wounded twice Wednesday night in what was described by police as gangland vengeance for his activities in the Capone alcohol syndicate.

Police were notified by George Hurlburt, assistant prohibition administrator, that Rinella and three others had been named in a suppressed indictment in connection with a 2,000 gallon alcohol still, one of the largest ever raided here, at 814 South Michigan avenue. The others indicted were Rinella's wife, Lottie; his brother, Sam Rinella, alias Reynolds, and Alex de Millo, none of whom has been apprehended.

Considers Several Motives.

Several possible motives for the attempted assassination of Rinella, who was fired upon in his automobile in Union avenue, near 39th street, from a passing sedan, were advanced by Hurlburt. One was that he was assaulted by some individual connected with the still, who may have attributed the raid to Rinella's lack of caution.

The plant was operated under the firm name of the Chicago General Merchandise company, which was incorporated at Springfield, said to be an innovation in the wildcat booze business. Rinella's name was signed to the lease as vice president of the concern and De Millo's name was found on checks and bank deposit slips, Hurlburt said.

Another theory was that Rinella's operations, which allegedly included the management of several stills, impinged on the territory of the north side Moran-Aiello-Zuta gang, or that he had negotiated with that outfit and incurred the enmity of the Capone organization.

Not an Informer, Says Hurlburt.

Hurlburt declared that Rinella had never been a government informer.

Rinella maintained to police that he could not explain the shooting. He disavowed any gang affiliations and described himself as a grocery store operator, mentioning a place at 2917 South Wells street and another in the 2600 block in South Wells. No grocery stores were found at either place.

Rinella was wounded twice in the left shoulder by a fusillade of shots from the sedan, containing several men. His condition was described as not serious.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 7.—(AP)—An unofficial estimate today said that there were 450,000 unemployed persons in the country, due largely to the agricultural crisis.

Many Witnesses Refute Case Charges at Maguire Hearing

A procession of witnesses marched to the witness chair in the courtroom of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday to give testimony in the hearing on the petition to oust Fred V. Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners. After a day of sharp exchanges between witnesses and attorneys the judge announced that no further testimony will be heard after 2 o'clock this afternoon. Final arguments will begin at that time.

City Collector Morris Eller, boss of the Twentieth ward, was the first witness. He denied that his ward is deliverable and that ballot box stuffing is common at its elections, as had been charged by Special Assistant State's Attorney Charles Center Case. For forty years, he said, the people of the ward have looked on him as a father and voted on his recommendations.

Eller Calls Ward Clean.

"The statement that my ward is deliverable by fraudulent practices is only the statement of Mr. Case and a few more hypocrites," Eller declared. "It's all the bunk. I got a good clean ward."

Eller testified that he met Case in the lobby of the Hotel La Salle after he had appeared before the election board to fix the time for investigating suspect notices before the last election. Case, he said, apologized for remarks directed against Eller, saying, "I did not make them directly at you. I want to get even with Maquire."

"Isn't it a fact that you stopped me and told me I was all right and I answered that that was a generous remark from you and you said that if I ever ran for office you would try to see that I got all the votes in your ward?" Case asked.

Eller denied making the statement amid general laughter, adding, "You like to go on public pay rolls and besmirch innocent people at $150 a day."

Denies $150 Daily Pay.

CASE—Name one, I never got more than $40 a day.

ELLER—That's too much. I can compare my record with yours any time.

Q.—Is your ward known as the bloody 20th? A.—Yes, through you and Raber (Assistant State's Attorney Edwin Raber) and the newspapers. The first time it was called that was in April, 1928, when the newspapers and Raber and Bruseaux (investigator for the grand jury investigating 1928 election frauds) started framing me.

Q.—And Frank Loesch, too. A.—No, Mr. Loesch is an honorable man, but you fellows go into him and he is an old man.

Gregory Dillon, a publicity man, followed Eller. He also said that he had heard Case threaten to get even with Maguire, in disappointment at the number of votes Case received when he was a candidate for Superior judge in 1927.

Dillon, who handled publicity for Case and a number of other candidates, said that Case told him that he had talked to P. A. Nash, State Representative Michael Durso, and Arthur Quinn about the election.

"You mean the Quinn I prosecuted for vote frauds?" Case interrupted. "You're a liar and you know it."

The judge demanded an apology and Case continued his cross-examination.

Q.—You are unfriendly to me, are you not? A.—I despise you. You are a contemptible individual.

A Pleasure to Lick Him.

Q.—You threatened to lick me. A.—It would be a pleasure.

Dillon said he became press agent for Case because in order to help the other candidates on the ticket he had to take Case.

State Senator James B. Leonardo denied that the 27th ward is deliverable, stating that Case might have a chance to apologize for the statement or take the consequences. He admitted having been indicted 17 times by "reformers," but said that he had never been convicted.

Harry Williams, 2115 South Michigan avenue, testified that he had a conversation with Anthony Czarnecki, collector of the port, the day Case resigned as attorney for the board of election commissioners. He said that Czarnecki told him that Case's resignation would soon be in the papers and Maguire would be the next one to go.

Czarnecki Denies Statement.

Czarnecki, who followed Williams, denied the conversation. He said he had nothing to do with the proceedings against Maguire.

"Williams' story is manufactured out of whole cloth," Czarnecki said. "I want to ask him a question." He turned to Williams, pointing his finger: "Have you ever been convicted of a crime?"

"Never," Williams shouted. "Prove that statement. It's a lie."

Attorney Albert Fink, representing Maguire, asked Czarnecki if he were an appointee of Senator Deneen, stating the attempted ouster of Maguire is a move of Deneen's. Czarnecki said that he was appointed by President Coolidge and had been recommended by Deneen and the late Senator William B. McKinley.

Other witnesses denied that vote frauds are common in the 1st ward. The hearing was continued until 9:30 this morning.

CLAPP, FINANCIAL ANALYST, KILLED BY SUICIDE LEAP

Estranged Wife Finds Note at Rendezvous.

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—His health ruined by constant illness, his domestic life disrupted and his savings wiped out by stock market losses, Edwin J. Clapp, a widely known economist and financial writer formerly with the New York American, a Hearst publication, and more recently an assistant to William C. Durant of the Durant Motor Car corporation, jumped from the roof of the Grosvenor apartment hotel at Fifth avenue and Tenth street early today and was killed.

His domestic affairs were on the way to a settlement. He had been separated from his wife for several years, but two days ago wrote to her at Charlottesville, Va., begging her to come to New York and talk over their domestic problems.

Wife Finds Death Note.

Mrs. Clapp and her two children, Edwin, 20, and Amy, 18, arrived in New York today, less than an hour after Mr. Clapp threw himself from the roof of the hotel. They learned of his death even before the police found them. They went to Clapp's apartment, and there on the table in the living room of the four room apartment was a penciled note with a stub of a pencil lying across it.

"Good-by, Sue. I have killed myself. Nobody is to blame but me. I am crazy," the note read.

Mrs. Clapp was Susanna Clifford Nelson before her marriage in 1907.

Born in Wisconsin.

Mr. Clapp was 49 years old and was born on Sept. 9, 1881, at Hudson, Wis. He was graduated from Yale in 1904, studied for three years in Germany, and received his degree of Ph.D. at the University of Berlin in 1910. He was a nephew of the late Senator Moses Clapp of St. Paul.

Returning to this country from Germany he held several positions as an authority on economics, including chief of the economics section of the department of labor, was professor of economics at New York university from 1914 to 1920, and in 1922 became financial editor of the New York American. The next year he was made editor, and the following year became a staff correspondent for all the Hearst newspapers. Since 1927 he had been a financial writer for the Hearst papers, and, ceasing his connection with the American two years ago, is believed to have shared his time between the Hearst service and special economic investgiation and writing for Mr. Durant.

DETROIT'S RADIO SLAYING THEORY INVOLVES 6 MEN

Authorities Say They Know Motive.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Six men have been linked with the assassination of Jerry Buckley in the lobby of the La Salle hotel, three weeks ago, by investigators for the prosecuting attorney. They are Frank Cammarata, Pete Licavoli, Thomas [Yonni] Licavoli, Angelo Livecchi, Ted Polarigna, alias Pezzino, alias Brocco; Mike Morgan, alias Manlio Lobiundo, alias Zerillia, and best known in Detroit as "New Orleans."

Revelation of the names followed questioning of Norman B. Smith, bootlegger, briber, and prisoner at the federal prison camp at Fort Riley, Kas., by James E. McCarthy, former chief of detectives, and investigator for Prosecutor Chenot and Thomas C. Wilcox, police commissioner of Detroit, who talked with Smith Wednesday, and is now on his way to Detroit.

Based on $15,000 Fee Story.

Smith advanced a theory of bad blood between Buckley and Cammarata and Licavoli, which substantiates a theory already held by police. It is based on a report concerning a retaining fee of $15,000 said to have been given to Buckley to free Cammarata and Licavoli from trouble in Canada. The defense failed. And, as the theory goes, Cammarata and Licavoli, when they were released after serving sentences, demanded that Buckley return the retainer. Jerry didn't have the money, so he paid with his life, police believe.

Of the six men named, only one is under arrest. He is Angelo Livecchi, whom the police call the finger man in the murder. A resident of the La Salle hotel, he was arrested in his room, two hours after Buckley was shot as he sat in the lobby.

If the police are successful in arresting the killers, Wilcox said, many other killings will be solved, including the slaying of George Collins and William Cannon, Chicago dope racketeers, who were slain by Sicilian gangsters while they sat in a parked car in front of the La Salle hotel the night of July 3.

Judge May Set Closing Time on Miniature Golf

The legal closing hours for miniature golf courses may be determined within the next few days by Municipal Judge John H. Lyle. A warrant for the arrest of Leo Harrington, manager of the "Tom Thumb" golf course opposite the Edgewater Beach apartments at 5555 Sheridan road, charging him with disorderly conduct, was obtained yesterday by Harry L. Johnson, manager of the apartment building. "My guests have complained of the noise from the course which continues nearly all night," Mr. Johnson told Judge Lyle.

James Murray of Films Sued for Divorce, Alimony

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—James Murray, motion picture leading man and formerly an attendant in a New York theater, has been sued for divorce. Papers filed by Mrs. Lucile McNamee Murray, actress, whom he married in Tia Juana, Mexico, in September, 1928, accuse him of habitual intoxication. She asks $185 a month alimony.

Issue Warrant for Arrest of Florida Controller

Miami, Fla., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A warrant charging State Controller Ernest Amos with malfeasance in office in connection with the liquidation of the suspended bank of Bay Biscayne was issued here today.

Amos is charged with violation of Florida statutes by employing former officials and employés of the bank to make the liquidators' audit.

ROCKFORD MAN GANG VICTIM AT MINNESOTA LAKE

Lake City, Minn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Buckshot rather than acid caused the death of Hugh Rausch, 30, of Rockford, Ill., an autopsy late today revealed. He is believed to have been slain by gangsters.

Rausch's body was found at the Lake Pepin bathing beach here yesterday, clad in a bathing suit, and scores of small marks on the body were at first believed to have been caused by acid. Results of the autopsy indicated, however, that he had been killed by a charge of "mustard" shot, a small form of buckshot.

A trail of blood, starting near the lake about a half mile north of the bathing beach, leading to the pavement on Highway No. 3 and thence about a mile toward Red Wing, on the pavement, was discovered late today by investigators. A report that an automobile had been parked all night near where the blood trail started was being investigated.

Another clue being developed was the renting of a boat by two men and a girl about midnight Tuesday from Andrew Benson, who lives near where the automobile was parked. The three were out on the lake about an hour. It was during this time the cries were heard from the direction of the bathing beach. A pocketbook, believed to belong to one of the men, was found in the boat. In it was the name of a Minneapolis man.

Word from Rockford late today said Rausch, alias Harry Hauser, the name found in a car parked nearby, was in Rockford Saturday and asked for an extra week of vacation from his work at a machine shop there so he might return to Lake City.

PUBLIC ENEMIES REDUCED TO 26, LOESCH REPORTS

Zuta Slain and Niemoth Facing Prison Term.

Stricter vagrancy laws were advocated yesterday by Frank J. Loesch, chairman of the Chicago crime commission, in his periodical report on the activities of the twenty-eight "public enemies." Mr. Loesch called attention to the recent murder of Jack Zuta and the sentence of twenty-five years in prison awaiting William Niemoth for a Baltimore robbery, thus reducing the list of public enemies to twenty-six.

"While two dangerous characters are removed from the scene, one permanently and the other for a long term of years, credit is due the law enforcing authorities in but one instance, that of Niemoth," Mr. Loesch's report said. "Zuta came to his death at the hand of a criminal group of which he was a part.

"Crime Better Organized."

"His taking off is a sad commentary on the efficiency of law enforcement and is evidence of the superior organization in the criminal underworld for the purpose of meting out punishment to those who incur its displeasure."

"Jack McGurn, with a well established reputation as a killer, was convicted of gun toting, but is at large on bail pending a review of his case by the Supreme court of Illinois. This case is illustrative of the weakness of the present law which permits a criminal liberty after conviction. It is hoped the next legislature will enact a law denying bail to defendants after conviction.

"Also the commission's program will suggest to the legislature a vagrancy law that will enable the authorities to rid the streets of known gangsters, bombers, racketeers and pickpockets who have no legal or useful occupation and whom it is almost impossible to convict under the present law.

Points Need of Vagrancy Law.

"The necessity for a vagrancy act has been well demonstrated in the recent arrest of James Belcastro, Rocco Fanelli and Dago Lawrence Mangano, who were charged with disorderly conduct and discharged for lack of evidence, although their reputation was such that they might have been convicted under a proper vagrancy law."

Regarding others on the list of public enemies, the Loesch report said: "Ralph Capone has indicated a willingness to abandon his appeal from a conviction for income tax fraud if one year is stricken from his three year sentence.

"An archaic criminal law is contributing to delay in the cases of Frank Diamond, George Barker and William [Three Finger] White, who are under indictment for gun toting.

Sammons Wanted in Baltimore.

"James [Fur] Sammons, also indicted for gun toting, is sought by Maryland authorities as a partner of Niemoth in the Baltimore pay roll robbery.

"Terry Druggan and Frank Lake are defendants in criminal proceedings in the federal court which may eventually lead to their incarceration.

"Anthony Volpe, Frank Rio, Jack Gusick, Frank and Vincent McErlane, George Moran, Joe Aiello, Edward O'Donnell, Joe Saltis, Danny Stanton, Myles and William O'Donnell, Joseph Genaro and Leo Mongoven have not been in conflict with the law so far as is known for the last two months."

GIRL BARES ZUTA PLEA FOR AID AS DEATH CLOSES IN

Gangster's Phone Call to Chicago Overheard.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503 Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Jack Zuta, Chicago gang leader, who was murdered in a lake resort at Delafield, Wis., last Friday night, made frantic demands for protection from his Chicago allies a few hours before his murder, it was revealed yesterday by District Attorney Herman Salen at Waukesha.

A young girl, who lives near Pewaukee, Wis., which is near Delafield, gave the new testimony which Mr. Salen declared indicated that Zuta had been betrayed by members of his own gang. The girl's name was withheld by the district attorney.

The girl declared that on the day of Zuta's murder she was in the Rexall drug store at Pewaukee when a man entered. He betrayed visible agitation, she said, which attracted her attention. Since Zuta's murder she has seen photographs of the dead gangster, and has identified them as pictures of the man in the drug store.

Girl Tells of Conversation.

The man hastened to the telephone booth in the store, the girl said. The door to the booth is warped and will not slam shut, she said, and consequently she was able to overhear part of the man's conversation.

"He asked for Chicago," the girl said. "I didn't catch the name of the party he talked to, but he was highly excited. He said, cursing: 'You better send some one up here damn quick. I want a bodyguard and an escort back to Chicago, and you better send 'em here in a hell of a hurry'."

The man then hung up and hurried out of the drug store, the girl said.

District Attorney Salen said he had information that Zuta, under the name of "Goodman," had made several calls from Pewaukee the day he was killed, and these calls are being investigated.

Mr. Salen and George William, detective on the staff of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson of Chicago, went to Milwaukee yesterday and obtained from the telephone company there a list of all calls made to Chicago from Waukesha county in the several days prior to the Zuta murder. All the calls will be traced in the hope that those believed to have been made by Zuta's assassins to their Chicago headquarters may be revealed.

Friend of Zuta Questioned.

Salen and Williams also questioned Tony Scaler, Milwaukee cabaret man, who revealed himself as one of Zuta's companions in the latter's rambles about Wisconsin before he was slain.

Scaler said he first met Zuta in Chicago last March when the gang leader employed him to take charge of entertainment at the Wigwam, a cabaret at 3750 Broadway. He remained at that job, Scaler said, until after the murder of Alfred [Jake] Lingle, when the uproar raised by that crime caused the Wigwam to be shut down.

Then Scaler said he toured about Michigan and Wisconsin with his family. Early in July he was driving to Okauchee Lake, Wis., to visit a boxing camp there when he chanced to encounter Zuta on the road. The gangster greeted him, Scaler said, and invited him to go swimming with him.

The pair swam at the beach opposite the Lake View hotel on Upper Nemahbin lake, where Zuta's murder occurred. In the next two weeks Scaler said he met Zuta often, fishing and swimming with him and visiting various resorts in the vicinity.

"I asked him if he wasn't afraid of being killed," Scaler said. "He had a pretty close call when they tried to kill him on State street in Chicago on July 1. He said: 'Those —— will never get me.' He seemed unafraid."

The officials took Scaler to the resort of George Poetzel, where Zuta had stayed, and witnesses there identified Scaler as one of Zuta's companions.

Scaler appeared for questioning voluntarily. He said he would be available at any time, but that he would refuse to come to Chicago.

"I'm not afraid of a bullet," he said, "but I don't want to get my face smashed."

Other witnesses revealed that Zuta's companions had included Solly Vision, his principal lieutenant; Al Bratz, another gangster, and a third man who was accompanied by a boy about 12 years old.

Denies Girl Identified Pictures.

Inez Spearman, a waitress at the Lake View hotel, who had been reported as identifying pictures of Henry Finkelstein, north side hoodlum, as one of the killers of Zuta, was in hiding in Milwaukee.

Mr. Salen said Miss Spearman had not been shown pictures of Finkelstein or any one else, but that the description she gave of one of the killers fitted Finkelstein. Mr. Salen admitted that witnesses whose names appeared in the newspapers as soon as they gave testimony became frightened and disappeared or refused to continue their coöperation with the investigators.

The Associated Press in a dispatch from Milwaukee quoted the Milwaukee Sentinel as publishing a story that District Attorney Salen had information that Ted Newberry, former ally of Zuta and now in the gang of Scarface Al Capone, had been identified as the man who fired machine gun bullets into Zuta's body.

"This is an outright lie," Mr. Salen said last night.

Five in Custody Here.

Five men, declared by the police to be members of north side gangs, were in custody here yesterday, and Detective Chief Norton said he wanted them viewed by Wisconsin witnesses to the Zuta murder. The men are Earl Meschler, Frank Sperry, Anthony [Red] Kissane, Claude Mahassey, and William Doyle.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun was still holding Joseph Jeck Jr., who insisted he had seen the murder of Lingle, and that it was committed by James [Red] Forsythe. A check book stub which Jeck said he picked up at the scene, and which he said had been dropped by the killer, was examined yesterday by Mr. Rathbun and Investigator Roche.

Both declared the handwriting on the checkbook stub was identical with samples given by Jeck himself.

FIND BODY IN CANAL AT CICERO; MAY BE VICTIM OF TONG FEUD

A tug boat steaming up the drainage canal near 48th avenue, Cicero, churned up yesterday the body of an unidentified man about 30 years old, which had been in the water six weeks.

Deep gashes in the skull might have been inflicted, the police said, by a boat propeller or a hatchet. The man's hair was long, straight and jet black, leading the police to conjecture that he might have been a Chinese, slain by a hatchet man in a tong feud.

Tom Lee, head of the On Leong Chinese Merchants association, a tong recently embroiled with New York rivals, sent his secretary, George Jing, to view the body on the chance that it might be that of one of Lee's followers. Jing failed to recognize the features but agreed the physical characteristics were those of a Chinese or Filipino.

The body was clad only in underwear and trousers, supported by a belt with the initials J. M. on the buckle. The trousers' pockets were turned inside out, indicating that the man might have been the victim of robbers.

OFFICERS' WIVES TAKE OVER CAMP SOCIAL PLANNING

Career of Col. Gowenlock Is Reviewed.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roy D. Keehn, wife of the commanding general of the 10,000 troops of the Illinois National Guard, now assembled in their annual encampment here, today joined her husband at headquarters. She was accompanied by Mrs. Frank R. Schwengel, wife of Brig. Gen. Schwengel, commander of the 58th field artillery brigade. The wives and relatives of many commanding officers are expected to arrive in camp over the week-end for the brilliant round of social affairs planned for next week.

The arrival of a number of officers' wives, led by Mrs. Keehn, was greeted with a sigh of relief by the headquarters staff which has been perspiring over such social niceties as the seating arrangement for prominent guests, the problem of whether a former governor outranks a brigadier general, and other similar delicate but important matters. The feminine contingent will assume supervision concerning such perplexities, it was declared.

Review Gowenlock's Record.

Among those thus free to attend to matters more military in nature is Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, chief of staff, whose war record was reviewed today.

At the outset of the war, Col. Gowenlock was a business man, unconnected with any branch of the military service. He offered his services to the department of justice and was made head of a flying squad, composed of Chicago police, which investigated communistic activities.

Studying at the military training camp at Fort Sheridan, he gained the rank of captain of infantry. He was sent to Camp Funston, Kas., where he commanded a company under Gen. Leonard Wood and was later made assistant chief of staff. In France he was transferred to the First division, acting as assistant chief of staff in charge of intelligence under Gen. Charles P. Summerall.

Wins St. Mihiel Honors.

In this capacity, he prepared all the intelligence plans for the St. Mihiel attack and for his accurate program he was made a major after the offensive. Just before the end of the war he was promoted to be lieutenant colonel. He was gassed and wounded and for his distinctive services in several engagements was awarded the distinguished service medal, the croix de guerre with palm, and the medal of the Legion of Honor. He was the first American officer to lead troops over the line into German territory after the armistice.

Col. Gowenlock joined the national guard three years ago and was given his present rank.

A thirteen gun salute will be fired tomorrow morning for Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area, who will arrive for his annual inspection of the 33d division. Maj. Gen. Parker will witness a demonstration of a war strength infantry battalion in a review and approach march. Brig. Gen. Abel Davis will command the troops in this review.

A squad of prohibition agents, led by Victor Dowd, took some of the merriment out of camp life this afternoon when six bootleggers, hanging about the tents, were arrested. The men, local Italians, had been selling gin and whisky in pints to both officers and men, and the arrests were made after National Guard officers, apprised of the sales, made buys of the liquor.

TRIBUNE OPENS FIGHT FOR NEW RAIL TERMINALS

31 Roads Are Named in Complaint.

trains are solely designed for the operation of such trains by steam motive power, and that each of them, in the handling of passenger trains, with the sole exception of the Illinois Central suburban service, is unsafe, improper, inadequate, and insufficient."

Chicago the Railroad Center.

The city of Chicago, it is stated in the complaint, is the second largest city in the United States, and the fourth city of the world in population. More railroads enter Chicago than any other city in the world, and more passenger trains enter and leave the passenger stations than in any one city of the United States, it is declared. The complaint continues:

In the other major cities of the country the various railroad companies are spending, or have spent, many millions of dollars in the building and equipment of modern passenger terminals with electrification of terminals and operation of trains into and out of them by electric power, such as the Pennsylvania and Grand Central terminals in the city of New York, the Broad street terminal in Philadelphia, the Central station in Cleveland, the passenger terminals in Baltimore and the Detroit passenger station and terminals.

World's Fair Plans Cited.

"The public authorities and civic and industrial interests of Chicago are now planning and construction is under way, for a world's fair to be known as the Century of Progress, to be held in Chicago in 1933, which will bring to the city millions of visitors from points in the state of Illinois and in other states and foreign countries, who will enter and leave the city through the several passenger terminals.

"Unless said terminals are modernized, enlarged and the service through them augmented and expedited, there will result a great congestion of passengers and delay to their transportation which will endanger the health and prosperity of the passengers and of the city and the civic and industrial interests of the city.

"Only by the electrification of the terminals of the defendants, within a radius of approximately fifty miles of their respective passenger terminals in Chicago, can suburban development, with consequent benefits to the public and to the defendants, and their employés, be made possible.

Condition Called Favorable.

"The present conditions are unusually favorable for the railroads to finance additions and betterments; and the defendants may procure the necessary funds for the additions and betterments to their properties, by the sale of their securities at low rates of interest. The said rates of interest would be very much lower than the rates of return on their property devoted to public use, allowed by the interstate commerce commission under the provisions of section 15a of the interstate commerce act, and much lower than the dividends which said defendants are paying and have paid for a long period of years.

"The complainant is informed that certain of the defendants, through their executives, officers and agents, have investigated from time to time the question of electrification of their terminals and operation of their trains by electricity in terminals and suburban zones; that their engineers and technical experts have reported to the executives that the said electrification is feasible and can be accomplished within a reasonable period of time and at an investment cost which the complainant believes would not be unreasonable in comparison with the public benefits to be realized thereby.

Lack of Improvements Charged.

"There have been no substantial improvements and no substantial progress, with the single exception in the case of suburban passenger trains of the Illinois Central railroad, in almost a century that has elapsed since railroad operation was begun into Chicago. Notwithstanding the laws both of the state of Illinois and of the United States have substantially protected the railroad facilities of the defendants, there has been no constructive action by the defendants to keep pace with modern methods.

"In all other fields of human endeavor, tremendous progress looking to comfort, economy, safety and health, has been made. In the field of transportation notably, is there lack of improvement in the Chicago area. The defendants in and about the city of Chicago are failing to follow improved methods which many of them have applied in other metropolitan centers of no greater size or importance than Chicago."

Section 49 of the Illinois commerce act is cited as giving the commerce commission power to investigate and act in this matter.

SEN. HEFLIN INJURED WHEN AUTO CRASHES INTO HEAVY TRUCK

Decatur, Ala., Aug. 7.—(AP)—United States Senator J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama suffered bruises and cuts and a sprained wrist and three members of his party were cut and bruised today as their automobile crashed into a telephone pole to avoid striking a heavily laden log truck that drove onto a highway from a side road, near here.

Three of his party were brought to a Decatur hospital, but the senator went to a hotel where a physician attended him. After a rest he departed to fill an engagement at Anniston.

Others injured were: J. Thomas Heflin Jr., the senator's son; Walter Brown of Washington, a member of the staff of the Fellowship forum; Perry Schussler of Lafayette, Ala., driver of the car and nephew of Senator Heflin.

RULES ON RAIL PROJECT

The legal angle of the controversy over the erection of a freight and mail building at 7 West Polk street by the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad was ruled on yesterday by Acting Corporation Counsel Higgins. Efforts have been made to revoke the permit for the building on the ground that its construction will complicate plans for opening and widening Plymouth court and Taylor street.

The permit for the structure was issued by Building Commissioner Paschen on July 2. On July 16 the city council passed an order directing him to withhold the issuance of permits for construction in that area until action had been taken on them by the council railways terminal committee. Paschen then asked the corporation counsel if he can properly stop the work and revoke the permit.

The Ruling of Higgins.

The opinion given by Mr. Higgins holds that the power of Paschen to revoke the permit or stop work is expressly limited by ordinance and cannot be exercised simply because a protest is made, even if the protest comes from the city council. The limitation is that there must be a violation of the provisions of the building laws or that construction is being done in a reckless or careless manner, the opinion says.

"Therefore," it continues, "if there is no violation of the city ordinances so far as the erection of this building is concerned, the commissioner of buildings would have no right to stop the construction of the building or revoke this permit, and possibly would render himself personally liable if he did so."

Says Tracks Would Block Streets.

The Western Indiana railroad now has tracks in Plymouth court adjoining the Dearborn station, in Taylor street at the rear of the station, and in the alley between Plymouth court and State street.

According to William A. Dudley, managing director of the Greater Central District association, if the railroad builds on the site specified in the permit and uses the building for freight and mail purposes, it must have tracks to the structure. This would mean, he said, that the present tracks would be maintained and would be an obstacle in the widening of Plymouth court and Taylor street.

INHALE IF YOU LIKE....

To get that AIR-COOLED "FEEL"!

IF you inhale, WINGS give you a satin-smooth, delightfully cool, clean smoke. A cigarette you can smoke from the crack of dawn till midnight with the same keen, live enjoyment!

But even if you don't inhale, you can get full-bodied enjoyment from WINGS. Simply puff. Taste that subtle private WINGS flavor—so full-bodied, so individual, so satisfactory.

WINGS are Air-cooled—that's the difference. The exclusive new process of "air-washing" cools the fine blend of Turkish, Virginia and Burley tobaccos in WINGS by "air-washing" A-W-A-Y all dust and grit—every hint of irritating impurity. No bites, stings, or flares remain. Just pure, honest, clean tobacco.

Unquestionably WINGS are cooler. That's because they're cleaner. And because they're cleaner you can smoke more of 'em!

NEW CANADIAN CABINET TAKES OFFICE IN OTTAWA

Premier Bennett at Head of Conservative Rule.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A Conservative premier and his cabinet assumed control of the Canadian government today for the first time since the world war. R. B. Bennett, fiery leader from Calgary West, Alberta, took the oath of office of prime minister before Governor General Willingdon this afternoon. Fifteen of the 18 members of his cabinet were sworn in at the same time.

The Conservatives went into office just after W. L. Mackenzie King and his Liberal government submitted their resignations to the governor general. The Liberals, who had held a majority of members in parliament for eight years, lost the balance of power to the Conservatives in the Dominion election July 28.

The new prime minister will hold the office of minister of finance for the present time.

Cabinet Members Listed.

The cabinet of the new government, in order of preference, follows:

R. S. Bennett, prime minister, president of the privy council, secretary of state for external affairs and minister of finance.

Sir George H. Perley, K. C., M. P., minister without portfolio.

E. N. Rhodes, minister of fisheries.

Senator Gideon Robertson, minister of labor.

Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice and attorney general.

H. S. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce.

R. J. Manion, minister of railways and canals.

E. B. Ryckman, minister of national revenue.

J. A. MacDonald, minister without portfolio.

Arthur Sauve, postmaster general.

Col. Murray MacLaren, minister of pensions and national health.

H. A. Stewart, minister of public works.

C. H. Cahan, secretary of state.

D. M. Sutherland, minister of national defense.

Alfred Duranleau, minister of marine.

Thomas G. Murphy, minister of interior and superintendent of Indian affairs.

Maurice Dupre, solicitor general.

W. A. Gordon, minister of immigration and colonization and minister of mines.

Robert Weir, minister of agriculture.

Colombia's President Inaugurated.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera this afternoon became the 51st president of the Republic of Colombia. While the enthusiastic populace of this mountain city celebrated with fiestas, the former Colombian minister to the United States swore "faithfully to uphold the constitution." His term of office will be four years.

The president walked through wildly cheering crowds to the capitol for the inauguration ceremony. In his address he pleaded for closer cooperation between Colombia and the United States.

Fascists Ask Party Cleanup; Cry "Smoke Out Traitors"

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 7.—Agitation is growing in Fascist circles for a general cleanup of the Fascist party, which is said to have a large disloyal element, damaging to the interests of the régime. Renewed vigilance and more ardent "revolutionary" activity was advocated today by Arnaldo Mussolini, brother of Premier Mussolini and publisher of the duce's Fascist newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, in Milan.

Insistent demands are being made by many Fascist leaders for the adoption of a general policy of withdrawing the membership cards of those who have grown lukewarm in their allegiance to the party or are using their membership for gain.

The quality of the membership and not quantity is needed, proclaim the reformists, who declare that many who have been in the party for years and who were once good members are now backsliding.

"It is absolutely essential," declares an editorial in the Impero tonight, "that every one who holds a Fascist card should have a firm conviction of Premier Mussolini's fateful mission, and believe that the Fascist party is his formidable arm. Courage, honesty, loyalty, and no sophistry should be the quality of every one."

The reformists also advocate a more careful selection of those admitted to the party and the immediate withdrawal of the cards from those who are outwardly Fascist but who secretly are using their party membership to combat Fascism.

"With whom shall we begin?" demands the Impero. "With false Fascists who occupy posts of command at the present? With rich Fascists who are ever ready for speculation and corruption, or with those who are not rich but who have financial power, and who are always ready in private to run down the Fascist régime?"

Some months ago reports became widespread that the duce contemplated the abolition of the party. These rumors, however, were denied. Since the Fascist party has been declared totally Italian and is identical with the state it is pointed out that it must have only the best representation. Augusto Turati, secretary of the Fascist party, has practically plenary powers to withdraw any party cards he sees fit.

INDIA'S REVOLT CHIEFS TO ACT ON OFFERS OF PEACE

Predict Jailed Leaders Will Defy Britain.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 7.—Mahatma Gandhi, the two Nehrus—Motilal and Jawaharlal—and Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, India's civil disobedience leaders, will hold a conference in the Poona prison tomorrow to discuss the peace overtures, which have been initiated by Viceroy Lord Irwin. The impression exists here that this parley will result only in a decision to carry on the campaign along the lines inaugurated, with the successive presidents and members of the Nationalist congress' "war council" concentrating in this end.

These plans, it is stated, entail carrying civil disobedience into an intensive campaign for nonpayment of taxes, despite the fact that thousands of farmers are already being deprived of their live stock and other chattels. The forest campaign—foraging live stock on government preserves—is also increasing, while the program contemplates the renewal of the salt campaign after the monsoon season subsides early in October.

See No End to Revolt.

It seems certain that the Nationalists will continue to boycott the round table conference, while, on the other hand, there are increasing signs that Great Britain is determined that the present campaign of repression will be carried on until the Nationalists yield.

Following the conviction today of Vallabhai Patel, the fifth successive president of the working committee of the Nationalist congress to be arrested, Patel nominated Maulana Abul Kalam Azad as president. All of his predecessors are in cells.

Special significance is attached to this choice as Azad is a Mohammedan, and most of the others have been Brahmins. Tomorrow is a Moslem holiday and his appointment will bring a double celebration.

Tribesmen March on Peshawar.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—A hostile force of Afridi tribesmen are reported marching toward the frontier city of Peshawar in northwest India, according to advices received here. Dispatches say that the British royal air force is unable to attack the 5,000 tribesmen because of bad flying weather.

The Afridis were bombed yesterday by 54 planes, but the attack did not check them. They continued their march down the Bara river valley.

The government in its probe to learn the source of arms used by the tribesmen on the Afghan border has reached the conclusion that they came from Russia. It was impossible for the Afridis to get arms from India, as the border was closely guarded. The Baluchistan frontier was likewise closed. British airmen spotted large dumps of arms and ammunition over the Russian border on reconnoitering flights.

GEN. E. L. KING INSPECTS CAMP AT FT. SHERIDAN

The citizens' military training camp at Fort Sheridan was inspected yesterday by Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, assistant chief of staff of the regular army and in charge of operations and training.

Gen. King, who won the distinguished service cross as a captain in the Philippine insurrection and the croix de guerre, legion of honor, distinguished service medal, and silver star citation while fighting in France, flew from Camp Grant to Sky Harbor airport and was greeted there by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the sixth corps area.

A salute of thirteen guns signalized Gen. King's arrival at the fort. Following maneuvers by the citizen soldiers, he was a luncheon guest of Gen. Parker. Today Gen. King will visit headquarters of the sixth corps area at 1819 Pershing road and tonight he will leave for Fort Hayes at Columbus, O.

CHINA CALLS RED OUTRAGES PLOT TO STIR POWERS

Declares Rebel Generals Back Communists.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—The Nationalist government at Nanking in an official statement tonight accused Gen. Wang Ching-wei, civil head of the northern coalition, of being directly responsible for the communist occupation of Changsha. The government also gave verbatim two recent wireless messages from Gen. Wang to support the accusation that other rebel generals, Yen Hsi-shan and Feng Hsu-siang, are working hand in hand with the Chinese Reds.

The intercepted wireless messages from Gen. Wang urged closer cooperation with the communists, who are ravaging south China. One message was sent to the Kwangsi rebel generals, Lit Sung-jen and Chan Fak-wei, instructing them to aid the Reds in Hunan and the southwest and thereby dealing a death blow to Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's forces. This message was dated July 31.

Message Contain Signatures.

In another message to Gen. Feng, dated Aug. 2, Gen Wang states that, according to a message received from Gen. Chan Fak-wei, "communist troops are preparing to launch a general offensive against Hunan Aug. 10, and other important cities on the Yangtse are expected to fall by the middle of August."

Copies of the intercepted messages contain Gen. Wang's signatures. The messages also declare that by closer coöperation with the communists foreign complications might be provoked, further endangering Gen. Chiang's position as president.

Gen. Yo Ying-chin, minister of war and commander of troops in the Hankow area, also has notified Nanking that he has uncovered further evidence that Gen. Yen and Gen Feng are mixed up with the communist outrages. He also charges that both generals sent secret agents to Hankow to arrange with the Reds for the occupation of that city.

Fear for Yankees' Safety.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Fears were held by state department officials tonight for the safety of Americans trapped in the Chinese city of Kanchow, in the midst of a vast bandit infested area 300 miles inland from Foochow.

Five days ago, on instructions of the American legation at Peiping, the American consulate at Hankow telegraphed Bishop O'Shea of the Catholic mission at Kanchow, urging that he warn all Americans to withdraw. Since then no word has been received from Kanchow and it was feared tonight the Americans might have decided to remain in the unprotected city rather than attempt to withdraw to a place of safety through the bandit infested neighboring country.

SEEKS EXECUTION FOR KILLING WIFE WITH AUTO BOMB

Attorney Declares He Planned Suicide.

Stinnett, Tex., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Requesting that he be hurried "through to the electric chair," A. D. Payne, Amarillo, Tex., attorney, today was said by officers to have confessed he placed three sticks of dynamite in his automobile, their explosion being credited with killing his wife and maiming his 9 year old son.

Murder charges were preferred against the lawyer after his arrest late Tuesday. Officers alleged the dynamite plot was evolved by Payne because of his love for Mrs. Verona Thompson, his former secretary. A statement by the woman asserting Payne had made ardent love to her led to his arrest.

Payne, who is the father of three children, declared his one great regret was that he did not have a chance to commit suicide before he was arrested. He said he had made two plans to kill himself in such a way that his death would appear an accident.

"I wanted my children to collect the full insurance I carry," he was quoted as saying. "I have about $40,000 on my life, counting the double indemnity they would get if I were killed accidentally. I have done the children a great wrong and the only thing I can do for them is to let them have what insurance I can."

Payne, according to Mayor Ernest O. Thompson of Amarillo, today detailed his plans for doing away with his wife and revealed a plot to kill her with a charge from a shotgun three months before she finally perished.

All the Benefits of Cod Liver Oil in Sugar Coated Tablets

The scientific accomplishments of this era well prove that "truth is stranger than fiction." Soon you'll be able to see, as well as hear, world famous musicians and entertainers broadcast over your radio.

In the health-field equally amazing developments are taking place—such as extracting the weight, strength and energy increasing elements (vitamins) from Norwegian cod liver oil and putting them into sugar-coated tablets.

Though McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets haven't a trace of fishy taste or odor, they do give a weak, run-down underweight body all the benefits of the pure, vitamin-tested cod liver oil from which they are made. As millions of men, women and children are in great need of these flesh and strength building elements, the value of this new, pleasant form of taking them cannot be overlooked. All druggists sell McCoy's.

A 10-year-old New Jersey boy was very thin and peaked and badly run-down. But he gained 10 pounds in 21 days on McCoy's, and now is the picture of health. McCoy's have been tested and approved by the Good Housekeeping Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health. And Walgreen and Economical drug stores guarantee them—60 tablets 60 cents.

Mussolini Hard at Work; Rome Denies He Is Ill

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Aug. 7.—Reports that Premier Mussolini is again seriously ill with stomach trouble have been officially denied. It is a fact that there is nothing in his own behavior or in the actions of his family to suggest that he is ill. Il Duce himself continues his usual life of hard work.

Takes a Drink in Lima, O., and Wakes Up in Chicago

Albert Frick, 31 years old, who says he is a printer of Lima, O., is in a cell at the detective bureau while police are trying to find his family. Frick told police he woke up penniless yesterday morning in Grant park. He said it was the first conscious moment he had experienced since taking a drink of moonshine with a friend in Lima two weeks ago.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

$924.56 was the price paid to experiment two years with a fuel other than coal

DR. E. E. MIDDLETON of 4130 South Parkway set out, a very few years ago, to investigate the merits of a fuel other than coal for house heating. In his 16 room dwelling he installed the expensive burner, the special motor, the tanks, and all the equipment needed for the efficient handling and consumption of this fuel.

For two years he burned it; then he went back to coal . . . the experiment had increased his heating bills by $924.56.

Had he used the second fuel that can be substituted for coal his heating bills for those two years would have been $2,667.50 more. So another case where Coal Heat Costs Less—in practice as well as theory—presents itself.

Moreover, Dr. Middleton found that no matter what bonus he paid for heat from fuels other than coal, he could not duplicate coal's advantages. No other fuel could equal its quietness; no other fuel could deliver such consistently even heat; and with no other fuel could he enjoy as complete a feeling of safety.

Dr. Middleton paid for his experience. You don't have to! If your coal merchant is a member of the Chicago Coal Merchants Association, you can go to him, and he will help you figure fairly and accurately how much extra it would cost to heat your home with other fuels.

In all things you can expect fairness from every member. Each one has pledged himself to honest grading. Each one has the weight of every load he delivers guaranteed unreservedly by the Association.

Chicago Coal Merchants Association presents weather reports every weekday at 12 noon and 6:55 P. M. over WGN

COAL HEAT GIVES MORE B. T. U's. PER DOLLAR

One dollar's worth of fuel A (Coal) delivers 1,740,012 B. T. U's. (Heat Units)*

One dollar's worth of fuel B delivers 773,396 B. T. U's.*

One dollar's worth of fuel C delivers 463,737 B. T. U's.*

*Figures based on average prices of fuels, and on facts given by Julian C. Smallwood, Johns Hopkins University and the United States Government. They include conservative estimates on equipment and operation.

FAHERTY OFFERS NEW STATE ST. WIDENING PLAN

Starts Survey of Area North of Division.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, yesterday announced that he has started engineers working on a survey of North State street to further plans to widen the thoroughfare from 66 feet to 100 or 115 feet. Appraisers also are figuring the cost of the improvement preparatory to holding a public hearing on it in September.

In a conference yesterday with James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, and with other officials of the commission and of the improvement board, Faherty urged that the street be widened from the river to Division street, instead of stopping at Chicago avenue, where the subway will terminate.

Must Be Widened.

The street must be widened as far as Chicago avenue, according to engineers, to permit the construction of a four track subway underneath.

Faherty argued in the meeting that the widening of the street only to Chicago avenue will create a "bottle neck" between that point and Division street, which would congest traffic. The matter was not fully decided yesterday and definite determination of the extent of the improvement will not be made until the survey is completed.

Gives Plan for Project.

After a recent inspection of the street Faherty said that if it is widened to 115 feet the additional 49 feet will be obtained by taking 39 feet from the west side of the street and 10 feet from the east side. By condemning 39 feet on the west side he said the west line north and south of the river will be straightened.

G. A. Dahlberg, attorney for the improvement board, was requested by Faherty to reach an agreement immediately with lawyers representing the Moody Bible institute and other property owners along North La Salle street in connection with suits they have pending against the city in the condemnation of land for widening La Salle street north of the river. Faherty insisted that the suits be either dropped or pressed, so as to permit the work to proceed.

HAWKS IS HELD UP ON RETURN FLIGHT PLAN BY EX-WIFE'S SUIT

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Litigation of his ex-wife, Mrs. Newell Vaughan, grounded Capt. Frank Hawks today in the midst of his plans to top his spectacular east to west record flight from New York to Los Angeles yesterday. Hawks had planned to assault Lindbergh's speed record east to New York on Sunday, but a court order now directs him to appear before Court Commissioner Kurtz Kaufmann on Monday for examination as to his finances.

The former Mrs. Hawks asks satisfaction of a judgment for $10,635, this sum embracing principal and interest on promissory notes which she says Hawks made out to her prior to their divorce. The proceeds from the notes were used by Hawks to buy his first plane.

Mrs. Vaughan's court action began several weeks ago. Hawks is on record with a deposition denying the financial obligation and asserting he supported his wife to his full ability prior to their divorce in 1924. The couple was married in Lewistown, Mont., in 1918 while Hawks was an army officer.

William Allen White's Son Winner in Primary

Emporia, Kas., Aug. 7.—(AP)—W. L. (Young Bill) White, son of William Allen White, publisher of the Emporia Gazette and author, made his start in Kansas politics Tuesday, winning the Republican nomination for state representative. Although "Young Bill" is editor of the Gazette, nothing favorable to his candidacy was permitted to appear in the newspaper. His opponent, W. A. Gladfelter, was given space to set forth his claims.

KEEP COOL With Kruschen

It's the acid and toxins in your blood that causes it to boil in hot weather.

You can keep free from acid and toxins and at the same time gain in vigor, ambition and keenness of mind by taking half a teaspoonful of Nature's Own Magic Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Ask for Kruschen Salts—At any drug store in the World—Not just one salts, mind you—but a combination of six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts that Nature put into the Human body at the beginning of creation—And demands you keep there or good health will not be yours.

Kruschen Salts is what you need to keep your stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys in fine working order. A bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents and before the bottle is half gone you'll feel the spirit of youth within you—Your bright eyes—your clear skin—your spry walk and great power of endurance will mean but one thing—Good Health—Life will be well worth living.

YOUTH RELATES HOW HE STABBED GIRL TO DEATH

Angelo Monserrate, 20 year old Spanish youth, 212 South California avenue, yesterday outlined the details of a well planned murder to Capt. William Schoemaker of the Warren avenue police station. Monserrate stabbed his sweetheart, Miss Lillian Madden, 18 years old, of 208 South California avenue, to death Wednesday night in her home. He was held to the grand jury by a coroner's jury yesterday.

On Wednesday afternoon he was to meet Lillian at Kedzie avenue and Madison street, Monserrate said. Arriving there, some children said she had driven away with one Patrick Murphy. Monserrate immediately borrowed $20 and purchased a long knife. He went to the girl's home that night.

"After she came home I talked to her half an hour in the hallway," he said. "I didn't mention Murphy. I didn't ask her where she had been. We talked of different things. Then I stabbed her—25 times in all. I was crazy yesterday. I wish I could bring her to life again."

JUST ONE BLACKHEAD Will Ruin Any Complexion Get Rid of It

No matter how nice and smooth your skin may be . . . no matter whether the lines of old Father Time have been removed or not . . . just one single pesky blackhead and your complexion is ruined, so why not get rid of it? This is easy to do. Get a little Calonite powder from your druggist, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet towel and rub briskly over the face, then rinse off with water and presto! Mister blackhead will have been dissolved away entirely.

Then use Calonite powder nightly to take the make-up off your face and cleanse the pores, and you will never again be troubled with these unsightly and disfiguring blackheads.

Thousands of women are using Calonite powder nightly . . . why not you? Give it a trial tonight. You can get Calonite powder at any Walgreen or Economical Drug Store. Ask them to show you the Calonite Gift Package.

CLEVELAND'S NEW TERMINAL.

We are indebted to the Cleveland Union Terminals company for the opportunity to examine their handsome brochure on the new Cleveland station. We take the liberty of quoting and annotating a few sentences:

"Passenger train operations to and from Cleveland over the New York Central, Big Four and Nickel Plate railroads now focus in the new Union station at the Public square. The station is in operation; its railroad facilities together with . . . other terminal conveniences are now available to the traveling public."

(In Chicago, the New York Central and Nickel Plate run into the ageing La Salle Street station. The Big Four uses the Illinois Central station at Roosevelt road, which is nearly forty years old. Louis Sullivan said when it was building that it was unique in that you have to go in to go out and go up to go down. It is still unique in these respects and in most others which make for the convenience and comfort of travelers using the Big Four.)

"Fulfilled now is the long felt civic need for an up to date passenger station conforming with highest standards of municipal planning, keyed to Cleveland's progress and prestige and geared to the requirements of a large and growing metropolitan population."

(Chicago's need for modern terminals is of longer standing. Chicago's city plan was the first of its kind in the United States, antedating the Cleveland plan by many years, and the railroads have been pressed from the first to cooperate in its realization. Cleveland's progress between the 1920 census and the 1930 census has been from fifth city in population to sixth city. Chicago's population is nearly four times that of Cleveland and its rate of increase is nearly twice as rapid.)

"With trade and industry greatly expanding and with the prospect of continued growth in the Cleveland district, anything short of a metropolitan scale for the terminal would have been out of keeping with the city's potentialities. Not the prestige of size, therefore, but rather the discernible indications of future metropolitan development revealed . . . the size that the terminal ought to be."

(The Chicago stations of the railroads using the Cleveland terminal would have been inadequate even for Cleveland a decade ago. Chicago has more than realized in population, in wealth, and in railroad travel the utmost that a high powered imagination can anticipate in Cleveland in the next century.)

"American railroads have been characteristically confident and optimistic with regard to American cities. They were built 'in faith that population would come and that cities would arise.' Something of this spirit . . . is reflected in the planning and building of Cleveland's Union station—planning it not merely for the present, but with generous provision for anticipated steady expansion . . . A nation's network of rails is brought within convenient portals . . . In a word, the Union station is . . . dedicated to the comfort and convenience of the Cleveland public and to the travelers of the nation."

(If these are reasons for building modern terminals, every one of them applies, with added strength, to Chicago. There is no city in the United States which has grown so rapidly. "The nation's network of rails" is not in Cleveland but in Chicago. Many thousands of the travelers of the nation go through Cleveland without stepping foot in the new terminal. No traveler in Chicago can fail to use the terminal facilities because Chicago is the starting point of every train which leaves the city and the destination of every one which enters it.)

"The terminal operation involves the use of 22 electric locomotives . . . The locomotives have a maximum speed of 70 miles an hour . . ."

(The same railroads pour smoke over Chicago and operate at slow speeds. Every consideration which justifies electrification in Cleveland justifies it in greater degree in Chicago. If the railroads have found it possible to provide electrification and a modern terminal for Cleveland they can do at least as much for Chicago. And if they won't do it of their own motion the state commerce commission should force them to it.)

TRAFFIC CONTROL FOR MICHIGAN AVENUE.

The south parks board has declined as yet to cooperate with the city and the Lincoln park board in a unified traffic control system for Michigan avenue downtown. The city's traffic engineer has estimated that a single control system directing traffic from 22d street to North avenue would greatly increase the capacity of Michigan avenue and save motorists and bus riders many minutes.

Engineers for the south parks board are reported to have estimated the cost at $50,000. Whether this figure is correct or not we cannot say, nor are we prepared to pass on the claims for unified control, but we are certain that any considerable relief of the present congestion on Michigan avenue would be worth many times $50,000 to the taxpayers who support the south parks. The south parks board would have to hunt long and far to find a better use for the money.

THE NEW CHIEF OF STAFF.

The President's appointment of a new chief of staff will please every one interested in the welfare of the army. Without disparagement of the other men considered for the place, several of whom were highly fitted for the performance of its duties, the selection could not be bettered.

Maj. Gen. MacArthur is one of the ablest men in the service. He has the intellectual equipment and military knowledge which are required for a chief of staff, and he has a mental vigor and resourcefulness which insures progress. He has nothing of the bureaucrat or routine ridden official in his makeup and he has had an experience of actual warfare which provides him with the necessary test of theory.

Besides this he is a soldier of exceptional personal gallantry, who has led troops brilliantly in battle, and we think this is a desirable consideration in command, even command during peace. It is a good thing for the army and for the whole personnel of our military forces to have at the head a soldier who commands both confidence in his military abilities and admiration for his soldierly personal qualities. This inspires the army down to the last private. The greatest leaders have always possessed a personality of this character. Maj. Gen. Summerall, whom Gen. MacArthur succeeds, had this personality of a true leader, inspiring devotion, and he is not an easy man to follow. But Gen. MacArthur has, we think, all the qualities essential to distinguished success as head of the army, and the President and country are to be congratulated upon his promotion.

AL LASSMAN AND THE SUPPRESSED TRUTH.

The loss of a very fine young life in a Maine camp for boys has made a celebrated and admonitory case. Alfred Lassman, a New York university football player, was drowned saving three boys of the camp in a canoe upset. He had been injured in football, permanently it was thought, but he was a powerful swimmer and he saved the boys before he himself was lost. The camp was conducted by Zarakov, the former Harvard football player, and had as counselors other college athletes, including Marsters of Dartmouth.

A folly which would be unbelievable if it did not find authenticity in many circles of painful respectability led the camp management to suppress the facts. The consequences were, first, a reflection upon the character of Lassman, the son of immigrant parents, who had proved his courage and his worth, and then, justly enough, an overwhelming reproach upon every one who had joined in the conspiracy of silence. It was given out that Lassman was alone in the canoe and the inference was permitted—it seems to have been more than an inference and it seems to have been more than permitted—that he had committed suicide because of dejection caused by his injury and disability. The object of this deception was to protect the reputation of the camp as a safe place for boys. What better reputation a camp would want than one found in the sacrifice of the custodian for the sake of the boys is not easily imagined, but when respectability turns to folly for advice its absurdities are countless.

When the whole story was bared it was seen that a heroic young man would have been denied the only mitigation death would grant, an understanding of his sacrifice. His parents would have been denied it and his friends would have thought of him as the victim of his own low spirits and would not have known him as the conqueror of his most tenacious instincts.

People who protect themselves in their private griefs have general sympathy. This other case is different but not of a class by itself, peculiarly marked no doubt, but in a class quite generally respectable at least in pretense and repute, where the desirable thing is suppression for self-protection regardless of the injury which may result to others.

NOISY WHISTLES IN THE RIVER.

The protest of tenants of buildings along the river against unnecessary whistling by tugs and other vessels is justifiable. That it will be heeded by whatever authority has power to give relief may be doubted from our experience of the official attitude toward bridge relief. But the protest should be pressed. Whistling in the river is necessary as long as bridges are to be opened, but it need not be loud enough to be heard on the Mississippi. Some of the craft use whistles which are an assault and battery upon the nerves of every worker near the river, thousands whose health and peace of mind deserve some consideration from officials. Unnecessary and untimely noise has no place in a civilized community and should be suppressed.

Editorial of the Day

[New York Evening Post.]

Now that automobile buses and the airplane have become popular rivals for railroad passenger service, Scotland is busily experimenting with a new form of transportation to add still further to this modern competition in rapid travel. It is the "railplane," invented by George Bennie and already installed at Milngravie, near Glasgow.

This new system consists of an airship shaped car which is suspended from an electrified overhead track. It is driven by two propellers and is designed to attain a speed of 150 miles an hour while carrying fifty passengers. Its promoters declare that it is perfectly safe, that it can be both constructed and operated at less cost than a railroad and that it is eminently practical for extensive development. At the recent Glasgow meeting of the institute of transport its performance is said to have created a sensation.

That our railroad tracks are in any imminent danger of being supplanted by overhead rails carrying railplanes back and forth across the country at tremendous speed we very seriously doubt. But the idea is certainly not altogether impracticable and it seems to have some chance of developing those twin goals of all modern transportation—speed and safety. For many years the railroad reigned supreme without any dangerous rivals, but now that it has celebrated its centenary they are appearing on every side.

WHEAT GERM HELPFUL.

DR. TISDALE has had success in feeding young babies, and even premature babies, by giving them wheat germ in milk. The method is very simple. He starts with a mixture of milk, water, and sugar of a strength appropriate to the baby's age, weight, and vigor. The tendency of practice now is to give mixtures of milk and water in equal quantities and to add an appropriate amount of sugar. He makes use of a good quality of wheat germ. The germ is commercially pure. That is, it is as free from bran, flour, and other foreign matter as a good, careful, commercial miller can make it.

After being washed in clean water, as is customary in the nursery, some of this germ is put in the milk mixture in the baby's bottle—say a teaspoonful or less to begin with. This is allowed to stand a few minutes and is then well shaken. The mixture is now ready for use. The germ is converted into a mucilaginous mass thin enough to pass through the hole in the nipple of the baby's bottle. If the hole appears to be a little small it can be enlarged slightly with a needle.

Very young babies, and even premature babies, have been found to digest this mixture well. It does not cause disturbance of the bowels—neither diarrhea, constipation, nor vomiting. The germ supplies vitamins B and E, both of which feeble babies appear to be in need of. The milk and sugar supply them with calories needed for energy and heat, with proteins and minerals needed for growth and repair of waste. The whole wheat germ adds to the supply of calories and minerals, but especially contributes to vigor and hold on life. The baby who gets these vitamins can make better use of the calories, proteins, and minerals supplied by milk.

The important question is—can a feeble baby digest and assimilate grain germ? Unless the answer to this question is satisfactory the food is not a good one regardless of its other qualities. Dr. Tisdale's answer to this question is that in his experience wheat germ is readily digested by young babies.

TROPICAL ITCH.

B. D. writes: Some time ago you gave a prescription for tropical itch. I had it filled and would like to get it again.

REPLY.

If you mean toescald or ringworm of the toes, the recipes given were:
Solution of carbol fuchsin, such as bacteriologists use, 100 parts.
Boric acid, 1 part.
Acetone, 5 parts.
Resorcinol, 10 parts.
One recipe for Whitfield's paste is:
Benzoic acid, 25 grains.
Salicylic acid, 15 grains.
Soft paraffin, 2 drams.
Enough cocoanut oil to make one ounce.
There are various salicylic ointments under trade names on sale in drug stores. The purpose of salicylic acid is to loosen up dead tissues and let the fungicides get at the parasite.
Any of these remedies do harm when used in excess.
Danish itch ointment is used by some.

NO; IT'S GOOD FOOD.

H. F. writes:

1. Is it harmful for a young man to eat on an average of two to three eggs each day?

2. Can you suggest a fattening diet for a young man, 5 feet 7½ inches tall, weight 130 pounds? He wants to gain about ten pounds.

REPLY.

1. No. Egg is a wholesome food, high in food value and vitamins.

2. Rest and regularity are more important than diet. In addition to a diet of plain, substantial food, let him eat a bowl of crackers and milk or sugared rice and milk at bedtime.

CREDITORS COME FIRST.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last October I made a loan of $500 to my uncle, accepting a note which calls for payment on or before three years from date, interest at 6 per cent, to be paid semi-annually.

Last month my uncle died. His entire estate consists of a little over $300 cash and real estate valued at $10,000. His bank is executor of the will. He had a memorandum attached to the will stating that I am to receive the $500 for which I hold the note.

The bank tells me it is impossible to say when I will be able to collect. 1. Aren't all debts to be paid as soon as possible? 2. Shouldn't the cash on hand be paid towards this note? There is a monthly income on the property. Couldn't I collect on that? I am one of the heirs? F. H.

1. Since a year is allowed for creditors to file their claims, there is a possibility that enough claims may be filed to render the estate insolvent and, hence, it would not be theoretically safe for the bank to pay you in full.

2. It cannot be required until the expiration of a year.

3. See No. 1.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TO BE NATURALIZED.

Chicago, July 31.—[Friend of the People.]—If an alien has been living in the United States for five years and received his first papers two years ago, can he now apply for the second papers, or does he have to wait until five years have elapsed between taking out of the first papers and applying for the second papers? L. N.

Yes. In order to be naturalized an alien must have a declaration of intention at least two years and not more than seven years old and he must have resided in the United States for five years at least continuously next preceding the date he may file a petition, the last six months thereof in the same county in which the petition may be filed. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization.

SIDEWALK PARKWAY.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Many discussions have often been concerned with the ownership of land from the sidewalk to the curbing.

Could you tell me who really is entitled to the land? Is the property owner or the city entitled to it? P. P.

In most cases the property owner owns up to the sidewalk line, but there may be exceptions. Ownership depends on the previous history of the title.

CLAUDIUS SPRINGS A SURPRISE ON THE G. O. P.

The Republican National committee at its session in Washington was absolutely dumfounded when it was presented with the resignation of its chairman, the Hon. Claudius H. Huston of Tennessee. "It is like a bolt from the blue," exclaimed the committee. "Why didn't he give us some inkling that he had this in mind?" Whereupon the committee closed the window which they had thoughtfully opened in order to pitch somebody out of it if he didn't come through with his resignation, wiped its brow, and after again murmuring, "This is so unexpected! So very sudden!" accepted the resignation in an extemporaneous resolution that was written not more than three or four months ago. The shock caused by the impulsive action was so great that the committee could hardly pull itself together enough to name a successor to Claudius, but as the successor had already been picked some time last spring and notified of his selection it was hardly necessary to do more than go through the motion.

GIVE ME THREE GRAINS OF CORN, MOTHER.

Give me three grains of corn, mother,
Only three grains of corn;
So I can buy some new duds, mother,
What I've got are tattered and torn.

Give me three grains of corn, mother,
Only three grains of corn;
So's I can pay all our bills, mother,
And no longer be looked at in scorn.

Give me three grains of corn, mother,
Only three grains of corn;
I want a new automobile, mother,
My flivver is old and forlorn.

Give me three grains of corn, mother,
Only three grains of corn;
I'll buy me a house and lot, mother,
Before tomorrow morn.

Give me three grains of corn, mother,
Only three grains of corn;
For the drought has sent its price, mother,
A soaring to hellengone.

AND NOW THEY'RE going to use what has often been described as "decent circumlocution" to soothe the breasts of Yankee tourists. The Travel association of Great Britain and Ireland is saying that Americans sitting in consular and passport offices are deeply pained at the word "aliens," referring of course to them, and so the phrase "foreign visitors" will be substituted. It's an improvement, but Americans would like it much better if "aliens" were changed to "well, folks," as we've been trained to that by the radio announcers, and it would make us all feel as if we were right back home again.

Things Are Different These Days.

A piece we read in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch yesterday complains because there are now 77 servants at the White House, it is costing us taxpayers $90,000 a year more to run the place than when Cal rented it, and with all and after all, important letters are not being answered and very important ones are being consigned to pigeon holes by third assistant secretaries. We showed that piece to Ray. "Yeah," said Ray, measuring us out two pounds of sugar, "I don't doubt it. Nobody's answering their letters these days. Don't I know? I been sending out statements four times a month since March and I haven't collected $12.98 altogether, except what I get when I refuse to charge any more."

The Optimist.

[From the Fort Dodge (Ia.) Messenger-Chronicle via Geojenn.]

Weather Man Believes Rains Over State Will End Drought.

THE AGE OLD question of what would be a proper uniform for our ambassadors is up again. Well, it's about as good a thing to argue about as anything else during dog days. The ambassadors generally want some sort of military uniform plastered with gold braid and including a sword. Let 'em have it; let 'em have two swords, a brace of revolvers stuck in their belt, and a machine gun. They should have six bombs (or pineapples, as we quaintly call them in Chicago) festooned around them, and a bowie knife and a tomahawk, both typical of early America. And make 'em wear spurs and stick feathers in their hair and paint their noses green and yellow like the Apache Indians do. If the ambassadors want to dress up, for heaven's sake let 'em.

THE RETURN.

Last night I came home again,
I hung my dresses up,
And when I set the table
I put an extra cup.

But you paid no attention,
I do that every day . . .
You had no way of knowing
I had ever been away.

HELEN WELSHIMER.

LAGNIAPPE.

JULIUS H. BARNES, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce and a close friend of the administration, is quoted as saying that unemployment means only wearing clothes longer and other measures of self-denial. Tck, tck, tck! Only wearing clothes longer and other measures of self-denial. Ah, dream on, Julius, and may you never lose your job and wake up.

"IT COSTS LESS to Die; Morticians Lament!"—The Her-Ex. Goody, goody. That's something anyhow! Add Good News of Good Times!

THE DOUBLE SCARE

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 8, 1914.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Post from Brussels says that the Belgians have granted the 24 hour armistice requested by the Germans and that the latter are now collecting their wounded and burying their dead. The Germans have withdrawn to a less exposed position where they can recuperate. The French army marching to the relief of Liege has passed the Belgian frontier.

BRUSSELS.—Official announcements at the ministry of war say the Germans admit their casualties in the attack on Liege numbered 25,000. The Belgians admit a loss of 7,000. Word has been received that fighting has occurred between the French and Germans in Belgium and Luxemburg.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Virtually the whole population of Russia capable of bearing arms has been called to the colors. This makes a total of more than 6,000,000.

WASHINGTON.—Official dispatches received by the state department indicate that Italy's reason for not joining Germany and Austria in the war is a danger of rebellion against the reigning house.

LONDON.—Military operations or preparations throughout Europe are being carried on behind an impenetrable veil of censorship. There has been no telegraph communication between England and Germany for the last week. News from Berlin came via Washington or was brought by refugees. The cutting of the German-American cable by British warships destroyed the former source of information.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 8, 1900.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—United States Minister Conger at Peking has been heard from direct and has informed this government that he, together with the diplomatic representatives of other powers, has been fired upon daily by the imperial troops. The situation, so far as regards the ministers, is more precarious than it has been since the trouble began in China. The Chinese government is insisting on the ministers leaving Peking.

LONDON.—Li Hung Chang has issued a dictum that the allies shall not enter Peking. He says: "In case the troops advance the Chinese must fight. The suggestion that the allies should be allowed to enter Peking to escort the ministers to Tientsin is absolutely impossible." The statement was transmitted here to William Pritchard Morgan, M. P., by his Shanghai agent.

CHICAGO.—The thermometer reached 93 again yesterday, the fourth day of the terrific heat wave, and there is no prospect of relief in sight. Five more died and 37 were prostrated.

CHICAGO.—Some of the promotions made by Postmaster C. U. Gordon since July 1, when he was allowed $100,000 for increase in salaries, are resented by most of the 1,200 clerks of the local office. It is charged he has disregarded the civil service rules and handed out the choicest sections of the extra allowance to "pets."

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 8, 1865.

GALENA.—Lieut. Gen. Grant will reach his home here on Aug. 21. Great preparations are being made by loyal citizens for his reception.

NEW YORK.—The Post publishes more of the fiendish barbarities practiced upon Union soldiers who were prisoners of war in the Andersonville, Ga., prison, by the infamous brute, Wirz, commandant of the prison. Prisoners were not permitted within thirty feet of the stockade on penalty of being shot by guards. The thirty foot line was unmarked. Remains of the dead prisoners to the number of 13,800 were buried in a field a short distance from the stockade. Three months ago the remains of at least a tenth of the number were exposed, the shallow dirt having been washed away.

FATHER POINT.—The steamship Damascus from Liverpool passed on its way to Quebec, bringing late news from Europe. The Great Eastern, laying the Atlantic cable, was about 450 miles out of Valencia on July 28, and had paid out about 500 miles of cable. The signals were good and the weather fine.

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

THE CORN CROP.

Rays Crossing, Ind., Aug. 5.—People become scared before they are hurt.

Two months before wheat harvest everybody thought the wheat would not make ten bushels to the acre, but it made twenty.

Now all the corn is burned up. Don't people know that corn on the whole is not hurt as bad as it would have been had the drought come one month later, provided, of course, the drought is now broken, which it looks as though it may be?

The pastures, of course, are pretty well dried up, but if we have normal rains from now on there is no question there will be plenty of late pasture, which will make up for the loss in early pasture.

Again, we have a large oat crop and people are taking good care of their oat straw, which makes good feed. Also they will save more corn fodder than ever before.

Mill feeds are much cheaper, so all in all there is no need of alarm.

Don't expect anything to go very high in price with millions of men out of work. J. C. BRILEY.

WHEAT FOR FEED.

Colchester, Ill., Aug. 6.—Your editorial "Corn Passes Wheat" is timely and to the point.

As our corn crop looks today, we will need at least 400 million bushels of wheat for feed, which will eventually put wheat on an importing basis. If our wheat market was left to our millers, exporters, and speculators, wheat prices would soon rise to at least $1.24 per bushel, or Babson's average cost of production figure, and would eventually rise until wheat came in over the tariff wall. However, it seems the federal farm board has fixed a maximum price of $1.23 per bushel.

Total grain production for 1930 would have been below domestic requirements if wheat acreage had been reduced, using average yield per acre for last ten years as a basis for the estimate. The laws of supply and demand are immutable and where nature controls production cannot be changed by man excepting for temporary effect.

The British rubber coöperative failed. The Brazilian coffee coöperative failed. The copper producers coöperative failed and copper is now selling below cost.

The federal reserve banks failed to stabilize the money market.

The federal farm board failed to stabilize the price of wheat around their fixed price at Chicago and wheat has been selling about 30 per cent below cost of production.

CLAUDE D. LOVELY.

A HAYMARKET ECHO.

Chicago, July 3.—I think Mr. Bennett omitted one very important incident in his interesting account of the activities of Mayor Hoan of Milwaukee. It was to his father's home in Waukesha that my late husband, Albert R. Parsons, went immediately after the bomb was thrown on the Haymarket. It was young Hoan who drove Parsons to Milwaukee that he might take an early train to Chicago that he might voluntarily surrender at the opening of the trial of his co-defendants, the anarchists, and ask for a fair trial that he might prove his absolute innocence of the bomb throwing. All I know is that he did not receive a fair trial.

LUCY E. PARSONS.

CLEANING ALLEYS AND PARKS.

Chicago, July 23.—It will be a fine thing to have Chicago's alleys cleaned, but Mr. Wolfe, the commissioner of public works, might well spend some of the remaining funds on a campaign of education, for from present appearances a great number of the citizens do not seem to know what a garbage or rubbish container looks like, nor where they may be bought.

Last spring from my window I watched and timed some garbage collectors. It took them just two minutes to empty the cans from an apartment building housing some fifty families and over ten minutes to scrape up the loose stuff thrown into the alley from a home housing only one family next door. At that, of course, it was only roughly taken up.

Another thought that seems to occur to everybody except the powers that be is the need of a great many more rubbish containers in the parks. Let them be of a different type than the wide open baskets from which every gust of wind takes toll. C.

THE MONKEY AND THE WEIGHT.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—The problem in today's Voice is a classic fooler which is always handed to freshman physics students. It is worth noting that this problem was first proposed by Lewis Carroll, author of "Alice in Wonderland."

As stated by "Mack" the puzzle is this: "A supposedly weightless rope passing over a frictionless pulley has a ten pound weight hanging on one end and a ten pound monkey on the other. What will happen when the monkey climbs the rope?"

The answer is that the relative positions of the monkey and weight will always remain the same, no matter how boldly or how carefully he climbs. As the monkey moves up the rope one foot of it moves down and the weight one foot moves up. If he climbs five feet his end of the rope moves down five feet, while the weight end of the rope goes up five feet.

Any one familiar with Newton's laws of motion can solve the problem.

PICKPOCKETS.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—May I invite your attention to the pickpocket ring or racket, operating, to my knowledge, on the Grand avenue street car line in the vicinity of State and Clark streets? Within three months I, personally, have had my pocket picked three times; within the last ten days I was speaking to a gentleman on the same car line, whose week's pay roll had been taken five minutes previously. The majority of the users of this line are working people upon whom real hardship is inflicted. W. E. FERRELL.

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

In the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood busybody. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter, also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom he reports, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment painting automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has known better days. Mrs. Colt wants Theresa to marry Billy Treadway, a rich bachelor friend of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work. For Christmas he sends her a thousand dollar bond. Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. When he confesses Theresa feels he has deceived her and she will not forgive him. He breaks his engagement and the girl, frightened, sells his letters to a newspaper. Johnny returns to his father's home. Theresa tells her mother she will marry Billy Treadway and writes to her father, who calls and tells Theresa it would be criminal for her to marry Billy.

Johnny, in New York, keeps informed about Theresa from Katie. He tells his father of his unhappiness.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

A DISMAL SPRING.

"Is it about a girl?" asked the elder Deane.

"Yes," Johnny answered.

"What sort?"

"The right sort."

"Wouldn't she have you?"

"No."

"Can you tell me about it?"

"Surely," Johnny answered, and pacing the thick rugs he told his father it all; stumblingly; sometimes unsteadily and occasionally he had to stop to cough a synthetic cough that gave him respite and courage to go on. He didn't want his father to think he was "a weak yapper," nor to have his father disappointed in him—in any way.

"Of course," Johnny ended [he coughed], "I'll—I'll pull through all right. I don't mean I'll get over it. I won't. I'll want her and in—a good many ways—all—my life. In—all the ways, I mean. You know—you do—when it's real—"

J. Z. nodded as he looked, frowning, at an ash grown long on a cigar; tapped the ash to a tray.

"But—what I want to say is—that—you needn't worry. I won't kick up any hell. I'm going to be as decent as I can be. I can't—be any other way thinking of her as I do—all the time." His voice broke sharply. Lord, he wished it hadn't had to go and do that! He'd got through it—fairly decently up to that! He mopped his brow.

"She knew who you were?" J. Z. asked levelly.

"Yes."

"It didn't make you any difference?"

"No. She said I lacked—qualities—money couldn't buy."

"O, is that so?"

The veins on J. Z.'s forehead were standing out; knotted, purple. He was thinking, "There's not a better boy on God's earth! I'd like to tell her—a few things—I'd like to show her a few boys of John's class who——"

"John, we don't, as a firm or a family, lose accounts, or——trust."

Johnny broke into J. Z.'s thoughts.

"You needn't get sore, Dad. It was true all right," he said. "I guess still is, but I do feel—it's less so. You would have been—crazy about her."

"Um. . . . I don't know—about that."

"You would have been crazy about her. She's lovely——" [again his "darned voice cracking!"] "and—in—every way."

"I want you to have what you want, John; there's not much left for the old folks—but that."

For a second Johnny's hand was on his father's. "You must be happy! You're my world!" thought J. Z. He said, and it seemed with real petulance, "It seems to me if you'd had any gumption you would have closed the deal. At your age, John, I was taking care of my mother and your mother—and—if I'd let any chances slip I couldn't have——"

"I know——" Johnny admitted quickly, breaking in. He did know. He had heard that story—once or twice. "I had—a letter from Katie, my third floor bunky, today," he stated. He fumbled in a pocket for it and gave it to his father. J. Z. too read the letter without any appreciation of its unconscious humor. He knew, did J. Z., that life is a long stretch when you walk in the shade and that for some few men who love but one woman, the shade is made by walking alone and having to walk alone.

"You say she did love you?" [A lift of the gray head, a lowering of Katie's letter.]

"Yes" [hard breath] "sir."

"John, we don't, as a firm or a family, lose accounts or—trust."

"I'd never ask another thing," Johnny broke out, "if—if——" but he couldn't go on nor have even his father see how the thought of getting her back knocked him. So—blindly, and with an unintelligible, choked murmur, he bolted from the room and brushing the table in his swift passing, the queen Johnny had lost rolled from the table to lie at Johnny's feet. J. Z. picked up the small, white queen, and he saw the analogy. He set her upon her square and he smiled down at her.

"Well," he murmured, "we'll see! we'll see!"

Johnny in the open walked unsteadily . . . realizing that he must not think of getting her back and because it made it "too horrible afterward."

A group of hard riding old friends hailed Johnny from a passing motor with a blitheness which grated upon him. Definitely he shook his head. They didn't interest him any more.

So February and the high spots from February. And the calendar leaf again changed to make people generally, hope for an early spring and warmth and to take some of them into the Lambert pharmacy for "a good tonic."

March, contrary to the adage, came in wearing astrachan to depart with the mane of the jungle's monarch and a roar. The first week of April was dismally cold, snow fell, snow shovels were recovered and furnaces were pushed; yet the feeling of spring prevailed to make the women of the nine hundred block sigh with their murmurs of "getting at the house cleaning." Mrs. Baum discovevred through Mrs. Sipe that Mrs. Detwiler was "just going to leave her cellar go this year!" That she didn't care "what happened to it!" And, through Mrs. Nulman, Mrs. Baum heard that Katie's divorce [framed by Mr. Kauffman] hung near Katie's bed so that, each morning on waking, it was the first thing she saw. Katie had had a pretty hard time with "Warner" who had drunk most of the time before the beginning of that which is called the prohibition enforcement—and all of the time since. Drink made "Warner" pugnacious and when sundry men of Katie's world are pugnacious, it means "beatin' up the ole woman," and "doin' it right." Herman [with the waxed mustache] wasn't like that and that was why, occasionally, thinking of him, Katie's eyes filled with tears.

"Warner" had done Katie one favor, in staying away long enough to give her her freedom.

Spring meant for Katie whitewash and soap suds; strained, protesting muscles, and shoulders that were a solid, stocky ache; splinters in roughened, raw fingers; broken nails. And strangely enough, sundry women, who protested against "the abuse of labor" by big corporations, flattered Katie; gave her an old hat, laid a hand on her arm. . . . "You can get her to whitewash, whip carpets—do anything—if you pretend to like her" they said. Ah, Saint Peter will pardon the sins of hunger in the alleys more easily than he will pardon the sins that are made of greed, or any sin wrought through a counterfeit love.

In Billy Treadway's Chanceford Pike house Agnes delayed house cleaning and any mention of it that she could sidestep. She wasn't going to bother to clean anything if anybody new was coming in! No, sir! Not, she—Agnes' daughter marry Billy and yet—how to avoid it—stop it?

The first week of April done, Billy spoke timidly to Agnes of the "house cleaning."

"Maybe I won't be doin' it at all. I may pack up and leave," she responded harshly. Billy's eyebrows tightened and his lips sagged. Agnes knew exactly how he wanted everything prepared. Very fussy, Billy, about dances and degrees of browning. His sole pleasure in dining out was made by his inner censure of his host's bread—as he broke it and after breaking it.

The first week of April done, snow drops and crocuses appeared in some sunny stretches and the end of that week saw an occasional crocus melt to a purple or an ochre ooze upon the feet of the upward pushing, lustily green grass.

North Siders Compete for Musical Fete

Last of Four Preliminary Contests Held.

The north side was represented last night by eager musicians, representing many nationalities who won the right to appear in four Publix Balaban & Katz theaters next week in THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland Music Festival. They sang and played in the audition room of the Chicago theater.

MRS. L. B. GOODMAN

The music festival will reach its climax with a concert in Soldiers' field Saturday night, Aug. 23.

MRS. EDMUND TYLER.

Last night's was the last of four preliminary contests.

The judges were Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, Carl Craven, Mrs. Lillian Rosedale Goodman, and Arnold Isolany.

Private J. C. Tomlin, 1629 Lunt avenue, a soldier in the C. M. T. C. at Fort Sheridan, and Guy Hamilton, 629 Barry avenue, an usher in the Chicago theater, both appeared in uniform. Tomlin won as a tenor and Hamilton was approved as a bass.

Miss Agatha Lewis, 21 years old, of 8247 South Carpenter street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Lewis, sang a selection from the opera "Manon Lescaut," by Massenet. She was chosen a winner in the soprano group. Several days ago Miss Lewis took the part of Yum Yum in the children's version of "The Mikado" as given at Ravinia. She has attended Northwestern university for three years and hopes to go to Germany for further study.

Albert Peters, 844 Lakeside place, won the right to sing in the Uptown theater next week. Peters, who is a baritone, is a relief cook in a restaurant.

Earl Johnson, 23 years old, of 15 West Erie street, of Swedish parentage, born in Jeppo, Finland, a car man helper on the New York Central, became a victor among the tenors.

Mrs. Novella Lee, 6033 Calumet avenue, colored soprano, sang "I Love Life" so well the judges ranked her as a winner. She is a seamstress.

When Miss Mabel Roberts Walker, 1859 East Railroad avenue, Evanston, colored contralto, was told that she had been chosen she embraced her accompanist, a woman.

A high C sung by Mrs. Tana Greenwood, a soprano of 7344 Ridge boulevard, wife of Chauncey Haines, organist at the Century theater, put her over as a winner in the soprano class. She came to Chicago from the University of California, where she studied music.

The winners of the four day preliminary contests will appear in the Uptown, Marbro, Paradise, and Tivoli theaters Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of next week. The singers and players will be divided into groups and appear at the 6:30 and the 9 o'clock entertainments. Judges will be seated in the audience and give decisions following the appearance before the theater audiences. The participants will be notified in Sunday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE of the time and place of their appearance.

Other winners last night were:

Tenor—J. D. Young, 3331 Rokeby street.

Contralto—Miss Florence Anderson, 3633 Wilton avenue.

Bass—Raymond George Steiner, 2423 West Cullom avenue.

Saxophone player—Edward Turley, 3725 Rokeby street.

Trombone player—Anthony Armour, 2337 North Paulina street.

More than 350 contestants will compete tonight in Hammond, Ind., in the finals of the Lake County Times music festival held as a preliminary to the Chicagoland Music Festival.

The Hammond High school auditorium will be the scene of the contest for singers and instrumentalists from Hammond, Whiting, East Chicago and other cities of Lake county. The Saengerbund Fidelia, 40 German singers, as well as mixed choruses of the Orpheus club and the First Baptist church will appear.

Hammond's crack high school band, winner of third place in the class A division of the national contests at Flint, Mich., last spring, also will give a concert under the direction of Adam P. Lesinsky, head of music in that city's schools.

"THEATER DONE FOR," SHAW SAYS, SELLING PLAY TO THE TALKIES

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—George Bernard Shaw has succumbed to the talkies.

"The poor old theater is done for," he said today as he signed his first film contract, which he drew up himself.

"How He Lied to Her Husband," was his selection for his first screen production. It is to be filmed as a talkie by the British International Pictures, just outside of London. Shaw insists on supervising the scenario. He also will watch closely over the production. A German version will be made later, and possibly some in other languages.

Shaw's decision comes after many years of refusing big American offers for the film rights to his plays.

"I signed today's contract because I want to make some money," Shaw said. "Why have I stood out so long against the films? I've stood out against the silent film. That is true, because it was no good to me, but I've certainly made no prolonged stand against talkies, which are a different proposition altogether. All of my plays will be made into talkies before long. Apart from that, there will be nothing but talkies soon."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

An item in THE TRIBUNE yesterday said that the picnic of the Municipal Court Clerks' Welfare association would be held tomorrow. The picnic will be on Aug. 23.

World to Hear Lindbergh's Talk on Flying

Speaks This Afternoon and Tonight.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A great network of broadcast stations will present Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in his first prepared radio talk tomorrow night. His subject will be "International Aviation." The combined networks of the Columbia Broadcasting system and the National Broadcasting company will be used.

Previous to this broadcast, Col. Lindbergh will deliver his address at 3:25 p. m. for various countries of the world. It will go out from America at that time only by short wave.

For his talk to Americans transmitters will be linked together for the first time to a single microphone in the studios of CBS for the talk, scheduled to go on at 10 p. m. eastern standard time. The previously announced hour of 9 o'clock was changed to permit a greater hookup of stations.

It is estimated that the listening audience will total more than 75,000,000.

The talk will last 15 minutes.

[THE TRIBUNE'S station, W. G. N., will be among the stations broadcasting the talk.]

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Delegates from all parts of the world witnessed the dedication this afternoon of a statue in honor of Abbe Charle Michel de l'Eppe, pioneer instructor of the deaf. The dedication was conducted by members of the National Association of the Deaf. The statue stands in front of St. Mary's School for the Deaf, one of the oldest educational institutions of its kind in the world.

Long Island Peat Bogs Bought for Use of Poor

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Free peat from nearby Juniper bogs for the poor of his town was the unfulfilled dream of the late Patrick Gleason, last mayor of Long Island City. Although great tracts of peat bogs exist in the vicinity of Maspeth, Long Island, Mayor Gleason died before he could acquire them. Now his nephew, Timothy Gleason, has acquired 108 acres of peat bog from the estate of the late Arnold Rothstein.

Radio Curfew Shall Not Ring, Decision of Mayor of Boston

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Mayor Curley today vetoed the radio curfew bill recently passed by the city council as an infringement on personal liberty which he believed was already overinfringed.

"The operation of law under the ordinance as proposed would constitute a serious infringement on personal liberty which in my opinion is sufficiently restricted," he declared in his message.

The ordinance was to provide against any radio which could be heard a distance of over 50 feet between the hours of 11 at night and 7 in the morning. The mayor declared in his veto that he was in favor of the control of noise making instruments operated in connection with advertising.

City Launches Campaign for Removal of Weeds

With the sneezes and sniffles already beginning, although the hay fever season does not officially start until Aug. 18, the city health department has begun its campaign against owners, lessees and agents of premises where ragweed flourishes. Dr. Arnold Kegel, health commissioner, announced yesterday that 300 violators who have not complied with the order of the health department to remove weeds from their premises are being summoned into court for hearings. The fine for failure to comply with the weed removal ordinance ranges from $10 to $50. Lack of funds prevents the city from cutting weeds where owners and agents fail, according to Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE playgoing season of 1930-'31 opened (a little prematurely, perhaps) at the Studebaker theater last night. "Love Technique" is the title which the first entry boldly carries. It might be quickly forgotten but for one fact: This is the first new play to appear in Chicago for eleven and a half weeks, or almost a quarter of the year.

In the idiom of the showshop, "Love Technique" opened cold; which is to say that this was its first performance and that it had never passed through the chastening experiences of trial engagements. Under such circumstances plays are supposed to enjoy some of the benefits of an immunity bath—flawed and unready interpretation is to be forgiven, pending the improvement that is theoretically around the corner.

But whether its debut was "cold" or hot, this piece—a comedy dealing none too lightly with the amorous methods of a polygamous actor—represents a stumbling start for the season. If I were a judge of the course instead of merely one of the clerks, I would set it back a yard or two for trying to beat the gun. I was hungry for a new play, but this unripe manuscript killed my appetite.

The central character here is that most depressing of all the types that dramatists dream about, a "great lover," swanking and swooning over a series of women, strutting his sex appeal like a floorwalker in a harem. Only a superman of wit and irony should be permitted to write such rôles, and only old masters of the art of high comedy should have a franchise to act them. In minor hands they become exceedingly fatuous.

So "Love Technique," written bluntly and acted heavily, is, most of the time, tactless floundering. It is signally lacking in the quality of charm, without which these would-be broad minded and worldly comedies become merely brazen examples of low taste.

Lou Tellegen, who hasn't acted here for some years, carries the serious responsibility of making the Sir Chantecler of this gaudy and bawdy fable persuasively human. The rôle was patterned for him, being described as a Broadway matinée idol of French background; and yet he seems no more real in it than if he were Robert Mantell or Fritz Leiber.

He is by training and temperament a romantic actor, but "Love Technique" requires him to play satrical farce. He wears all the costumes that symbolize the allurements of philanderers—pajamas, white silk shirts open at the neck, brown plush "vetements d'appartement," etc., and in the strangle holds and the long luscious kisses he is, no doubt, a stirring picture to the feminine eye, although no longer the "Greek god" of yore. But for the comedy which was the author's intention, he is like an old, practiced hand at Hamlet trying to play the first gravedigger.

Betty Linley is crisp and cool as the high society girl who married this incorrigible amorist and affected toleration of his moral lapses. Eve Casanova [Mrs. Tellegen] is pretty and pert as a casual of the bachelor flats named Mimi; and Brenda Lane was neatly in the vein as a wide-eyed, willing maiden upon whom the sultry sultan of Broadway practiced his technique. They will be better a few days hence, no doubt; for, let it be repeated, they were brave enough to "open cold."

The premiere of "Artists and Models," at the Grand Opera house, has been postponed until the week of Aug. 25.

The Selwyn theater announces that its first booking of the new season will be "Lost Sheep," a play which was well received in New York last spring. The opening is set for Saturday night, Aug. 30. A. P. Kaye, Cecelia Loftus, and [Miss] Sidney Fox are prominent in the cast.

Polish National Alliance Seeks 50,000 New Names

A drive that is hoped will add 50,000 new members to its rolls is under way by the Polish National alliance, as a feature of its celebration of its golden jubilee this year. Membership in the organization, begun at Philadelphia, Pa., in 1880, is said to now total 275,836. A mass meeting in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary will be held at 2 p. m. at the Chicago Stadium, Wood and Madison streets, and will be followed that evening by a banquet at the Hotel La Salle.

Gold Coasters Suggest Plans for Park Shore

Outer Drive, Beaches Part of Projects.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The new plan for the development of the lake shore between the river and Simmons island, off the foot of Fullerton parkway, was discussed yesterday by Gold Coast property owners and the Lincoln park commissioners. The various suggestions presented were referred to a committee composed of John Wentworth, Benjamin H. Marshall, Vincent Bendix, and Hugh E. Young. They were assigned the task of determining what suggestions can be incorporated in the plan, so that the development to be carried by the Lincoln park board may represent the best thought on the subject.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick contributed several suggestions which appeared to register on sympathetic ears. She was interested in preserving the beauty of the shore line along the Lake Shore drive.

Mr. Bendix was particularly concerned with the effect of the proposed new boulevard upon traffic. He said: "I feel that the proposed development offers unsurpassed opportunity for splendid embellishment, both architecturally and in the form of formal landscaping."

Frank G. Logan put forth the idea of a wide promenade along the building frontage on the west side of Lake Shore drive. He suggested that this would complete and supplement the projected esplanade along the water's edge, which is provided for in the plan.

Warren Wright, president of the Lincoln park commission, complimented the property owners on the spirit of coöperation expressed. Sheldon Clark, vice president of the board, added that the desire of the property owners to do all they could to aid in working out the best possible plan was an assurance of the success of the project.

James Simpson, chairman of the Chicago Plan commission, sketched the benefits of the plan and the value to all of the residents of the Lincoln park district of the park, boulevard, bathing beach, and other recreational facilities to be provided by the new development.

Vice Chairman A. A. Sprague of the plan commission said the present plan will cost less than the original plan and yet will provide equally good park, boulevard, recreational, and traffic facilities. He stressed the elimination of the stagnant park lagoon, which has been criticized for years.

Architects John Wentworth and Benjamin H. Marshall pledged that every suggestion received would be given careful consideration. Both pointed out the possibility of creating a shore line of unusual charm and attractiveness.

No one predicted how long it will take to review the suggestions and arrive at a final recommendation.

Hot Weather Loses Terrors at Algonquin

The hot weather was no respecter of persons yesterday, least of all of the tenement childre.

Wailing babies kept up a discordant chorus. Mothers rocked them and tried to soothe them. The babies cried. The babies were hot and bothered.

In other homes mothers planned vacations for their children.

A vacation at Camp Algonquin may mean saving a baby's life. If you doubt that, take a trip to the tenement districts, then drive out to Camp Algonquin, 46 miles northwest of Chicago.

You may find there similar mothers and children on a two weeks' vacation. The children play on the nursery's cool, screened porch. The babies are made comfortable. Older children are taking sun baths, swimming, playing ball, or exploring the Fox river camp on a nature trip with camp counselors. The mothers visit with each other. For the first time in years there is nothing of immediate consequence for them to worry about.

Your ten dollars will send a baby or its mother to Algonquin for two weeks. Will you help give 1,000 mothers and children that reprieve from the tenement heat?

The ice fund is the recipient of $3 from two Chicago girls who conducted a lemonade stand on their vacation at Elkhart Lake, Wis. They are Marcella Menacker and Rochelle Altman, both 12 years old.

Irish Army Officers Win Dublin Horse Show Tests

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Aug. 7.—The attendance of the Dublin horse show was reduced today owning to the rain. Only 2,000 attended. Nevertheless the grandstands were all crowded and between the showers fine jumping was witnessed. In the army contests Ireland won first and fourth place with Great Britain second, and Switzerland third. Of the thoroughbred horses five sold under the $5,000 mark. Tonight the Irish army officers gave a dinner in honor of the visiting officers from other countries.

The villagers of this ancestral home of the duchess of York believed, however, that the event would not occur before tomorrow night.

His Dance.

I was hurrying east on Madison street to the I. C. depot when I met a man going west. He stepped to the right, I to the left, he to the left, I to the right. I guess this would have kept up indefinitely if he had not stopped, lifted his hat and said, "I beg pardon, madam, which shall it be a two step or a waltz?"—R. T.

have you discovered the "symphonie" skin-tone?

HERE'S the most flattering face powder you ever tried ... yet perfectly natural, like the simple lovely lines in the new fashions. "Symphonie," the newest Armand Powder, is blended to the exquisite flesh-tones found in Old-World portraits. You, too, possess these soft, translucent tints which the usual face powders only obscure. But "Symphonie" complements them in delicate color and brings out all their mellow beauty. Ask for

"Along the Shore" Describes Fish, Birds, Seaweeds

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

If you want to enjoy nature with your children write to Mrs. Bevans for a list of books on the outdoor world, which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

As a child, have you ever wandered along the shore on a treasure hunt? As a grownup have you ever wandered in such a hunt with your children? Bleached, paper-thin shells, seaweed, snails, periwinkle and scallop shells, and sand fleas! Such adventures, such finds, such delight and ecstasy over the newly discovered hermit crab or starfish! Along the shoreline where the tide has receded and in the little pools in the rocks made by the receding tide there is a whole world of adventure.

And have you found your lore meager when you were plied with questions? Did you know that the contraption that looks like a purse of dried black leather is really the egg case of the ray and the skate? Did you know that the cat tail rush found in the marshes made beautiful punk for Fourth of July when dried?

Do you know the difference between the razor clam and the mussel; or the periwinkle and the whelk; or a spider crab and a fiddler crab? Even if you do know some of these things, I am sure you can add to your knowledge by reading Eva Butler's book, "Along the Shore."

This book describes the kinds of shellfish, jelly fish, sea weeds, shore birds, etc. that live along the shore, and their haunts and behavior. It is just the right size to slip into the pocket and be taken on jaunts. It is arranged for easy reference. Each page contains a description of an object and a simple, clear illustration by the author. This latter is a great help in identifying the various finds. It will help you in answering your own questions—and more searching still, the questions the children ask.

There are directions for collecting specimens and for making an amateur aquarium where the specimens may be kept and stored.

"Along the Shore," by Eva Butler, is published by the John Day company, New York, and costs $1.25.

Simplicity Is the Keynote for Fashions

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The smartest costumes worn by Paris élégantes at the brilliant fêtes that mark this season are distinguished by their simplicity of line. They may tend toward complication in the details, but all suggestion of fuss is seduiously avoided. The Famous Forty are wearing plainer gloves, fewer and less florid jewels, hats that depend for effect upon their line rather than their trimming.

The materials used, however, are of unparalleled richness. Lamés, all-over embroidered fabrics in heavy matte satins, supple and stiff velvets are all much seen. And everything is trimmed with fur, even ensembles destined for summer wear!

The evening ensemble sketched above is a good example of this luxurious simplicity. Heim made it for the Vicomtesse de la Rochefoucauld, who is one of the prettiest and smartest women in the younger set.

The frock is of heavy black satin. It has a simple diagonal décolleté that is echoed by a long, triangular incrustation descending at the left side of the circular instep length skirt. The short coat is of gold lamé, ornamented all over with diamond-shaped nervures. It has a medicis shawl collar of natural mink. The interesting mink cuffs reach to just below the elbow.

The Vicomtesse de la Rochefoucauld wore with this ensemble plain black satin pumps. Her stockings, of a dark gold shade, picked up the gold lamé of her jacket. Her evening sac was also in gold lamé, and her only jewels were a diamond bracelet and two diamond clips, one at the point of the décolleté in the back and the other at the waistline in front.

Youth Must Be Pretty Plus Today, Says Antoinette

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In a report on a casting director's experiment with 500 applicants for chorus jobs and only two survivals of the test, one learns that a pretty face and figure are too commonplace assets to count any more.

For stage purposes the requirement is that a girl must be able to dance as well as be easy to look at. And showmen pray that added to looks and nimble feet they may be favored with personality and vivacity. Now, if that is the order for stage work, isn't it reasonable to assume that off-stage requirements aren't far behind, since the stage does more or less reflect fashion in girls?

Just plain prettiness does not carry a girl far, these days. She has too much open competition. With youth, the profile of youth, the fresh young skin, the not too ripened figure, teeth and hair that reflect the health of youth, and dress styles being pretty well standardized a young girl cannot rest on her natural laurels. She has to be pretty plus. Personality and vivacity are the highly recommended plus-es.

How to go about adding personality is one of those things which cannot be charted. But vivacity is something upon which the finger can be put and the pulse beats counted.

Vivacity is the natural expression of young enthusiasm. And while most young girls are naturally addicted to it, it would not seem to be a difficult asset to add to the charming face. Only many of our young women play so hard at being grownup, sophisticated and experienced that the enthusiasm is rather smothered under a hard veneer. Maybe the veneer is paint over-applied, or a "line" that is not consistent with the vivacity about life a young girl should normally possess.

Maybe it is an actual hard-boiled existence or an enthusiasm for the wrong sort of things that loses the beauty laurels to a young person. Or maybe it is misdirected energies, frivoling time away, not building a useful today into a more useful tomorrow.

Given fresh, decorative youth, stimulated to worthwhile adventure, it is not difficult to add personalty to the list of needed assets for current wants.

POPE BACKS GROUP FOR BUILDING OF NEW ROMAN CHURCHES

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The pope, in a personal statement, published in the Osservatore Romano this evening, announced the formation of a "pontifical organization for preservation of the faith and for the provision of new churches in Rome," designed to combat protestant proselytizing in and around Rome.

The announcement in "Motu Proprio,"—that is, a document made by the pontiff himself—recalls the pope's protest against Protestant activities in an allocution at a secret consistory held on June 30.

The new "defense organization" will have a cardinal for its president, who will maintain continuous contact with Cardinal Paomili, vicar general of the diocese of Rome, to keep him informed and exchange useful ideas.

The new organization will be divided into two sections, one for "preservation of the faith, in addition to the organization now devoted to that work and bearing that name constituted by Pope Leo XIII, which will extend its operations."

The second section will be devoted to providing more churches wherever needed, reorganizing parishes, regrouping parishioners, the demolition of old and unsuitable church edifices, and the question of dealing with the civil authorities for necessary authorization.

Choose Variety of Fruits for Week End Use

Then Choose Ripest for First Meal.

BY META GIVEN.

Today one of your big problems in purchasing food for the week-end is to decide on fruits. Unless you give considerable thought to the kind of fruit and the state of ripeness of each, you are liable to have considerable waste. At this time of year fruits are highly perishable. Almost all of them need to be kept in the refrigerator.

It is a wise plan to choose a variety. Use the fruit that is ripest and most perishable for immediate meals, leaving the firmer fruits for Sunday and Monday morning. If you are unable to keep your entire supply in the refrigerator, be sure that some of the fruit is firm enough to keep at least 24 hours in the coolest and driest storage place you have in the house.

Melons should be included in your fruit list today. In addition to watermelons there are three others now on the market—honey dews, honey balls, cantaloupes—and in a week or so we will have Persian melons and Casabas.

Cantaloupes Are Cheapest.

At present cantaloupes are the most inexpensive of all melons because they are home grown. The others, which are from the tropics or subtropics are most expensive, but considering their thin, thick flesh and the number of portions they yield, they are good values. And their pleasing flavor, beautiful color and interesting texture furnish variety and make them well worth indulging in, occasionally.

While we should always make our purchase with dealers who are good judges of quality and ripeness, it is wise to learn to be our own judge. The ripeness of melons is tested in three ways—by fragrance, color and how they yield to thumb pressure.

Testing for Ripeness.

Smell the melon at the stem end. [Ripe melons do not have stems attached.] All of them should have the sweet smell of delicious, ripe, fruity cut melons. In color, honey dews should be the palest green, almost white in color, but never yellow. Honey balls should be white or the palest yellow. Cantaloupe should be ribbed and heavily netted with a background that is yellowish white. A background of a definite yellow color means a melon that is too soft and will not be edible after a few hours.

All melons should yield slightly to thumb pressure either at the stem or blossom end. Unless you plan to serve them for the immediate meals, avoid those that yield too much to pressure.

If melons are too hot to be placed in the refrigerator, place them in a pail under the cold water faucet and allow water to run over them for several minutes.

Melons make refreshing appetizers, delicious salads and satisfying desserts. In every case they must be thoroughly chilled.

Ways of Serving.

Honey dews and honey balls are best when served with lime, lemon or orange juice. A sprig of mint and a wedge of lemon, orange or lime make an attractive garnish.

Cut in half inch cubes, or into balls with a French potato ball cutter and combined with wedges of pineapple and orange and chilled in pineapple or orange juice, all melons make delicious appetizers.

Cantaloupes are usually served for breakfast or as a simple dessert with salt.

Any of these melons may be used in following salad recipe given today.

Cantaloupe Salad

1 cantaloupe.
2 dozen sweet red or black cherries.
1 head lettuce.
½ cup French or vinaigrette dressing.

Chill cantaloupe thoroughly. Cut in six sections. Remove seeds and peel. Arrange on a club of lettuce with 6 pitted cherries. Keep cold until ready to serve. Serve at the table with dressing. [Cantaloupe also combines well with grapefruit.]

Yield: Six servings. One serving with French dressing: Total, 159 calories; protein, 3 calories; fat, 103 calories; carbohydrates, 53 calories.

MUSIC STORE WINDOW ROBBED.

Saxophones and trumpets valued at $600 were stolen early yesterday morning when burglars threw an automobile crank through a plate glass window in the Harry Brooks Music company, 335 South Wabash avenue, and looted the display.

Chicago Tables Served Daily by Remote States

BY PAUL POTTER.

In spite of a wide band of land surrounding Chicago and now bearing heavily of fruits and vegetables for metropolitan dinner tables, this city is also served by many thousands of farms and gardens in remote states. Produce arrives from them daily by the trainload to be bartered and distributed into countless corners of the world's largest food center or reshipped eastward.

Of the several terminals in the Chicago region for receiving and distributing fruits and vegetables, the largest is located at 27th and Ashland. Here the maze of train tracks, platforms and sheds forming the Chicago produce terminal represents a public concentration point, available to any railroad or distributor of foodstuffs. It cost $12,000,000 to build, and when completed will accommodate 3,000 carloads of edibles at a time. It is the only one of its kind in the country, the management declares, covering the entire area from Ashland to Western avenues and from the Santa Fé to the Illinois Central right of way.

Auction Begins at Eight

This terminal, started in October, 1925, now provides an outlet for from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 worth of fruits and vegetables from almost every state in the Union. Its development has been the logical outcome of a growing demand in cities for fresh vegetables and fruits the year around.

At daybreak, a caravan of men arrive at the terminals. Some have trucks while others are on hand to buy or sell for some three hundred local firms handling perishable foods. Other men have been working all night, routing the cars into place, sorting and grading potatoes or other crops on long platforms or in sheds.

The fruit auction, a daily means of transfer between shipper and buyer, starts at 8 o'clock. After inspection has been made, and reports issued on amounts of foods on hand, quality, source and other points pertinent to trading. Immediately as sales are made, trucks begin taking away the produce. There is a total of between 600 and 700 cars sold here daily, while from 100 to 150 carloads are reconsigned to other cities, usually east.

All Food Sold Daily

The dispatch in handling such bulky items as potatoes and other vegetables is the result of careful planning, since time is an expensive factor in the disposition of perishable foods. A busy sight is offered the early morning visitor when the terminal is receiving heavy shipments, 225 "loads" being handled in an hour and a half. There are track facilities of concrete driveways for 950 cars available for such congested yet organized transfer and distribution. As many as 760 carloads of food may be held for inspection at once.

Every item of food is sold during the day at some price, for the next day will bring a new supply, fresh from the fields. Potatoes from Missouri river bottoms have followed those from Tennessee and the Carolinas, while the crop from Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin and other northern states is just starting.

There are cantaloupes from Arizona, tomatoes from Tennessee and Virginia, lettuce and cauliflower from California, and onions from Texas. Florida, Louisiana, Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado, Washington, and Oregon and nearly every other western state send substantial parts of their production to this modern terminal during the twelve months it keeps open.

Dealers Market "Old Maid" Eggs in Oklahoma

Egg producers in Oklahoma are retailing a brand of hen fruit known as "Old Maid" eggs, consisting of eggs laid by hens that have been isolated from roosters. Carl N. Kennedy, assistant secretary of agriculture, says that the process means a satisfactory premium for the infertile eggs because of superior keeping qualities.

Attention to this marketing plan is being given by farm flock owners in Iowa, on advice of Mr. Kennedy. He points to the results of candling to show that infertility would reduce wastage in dealers' warehouses.

Now Slot Vending Machines May Be Used to Sell Butter

Butter merchandised by a slot vending machine may soon be another step in speeding up the sale of perishable foods, according to information from the United States department of commerce, which finds that the coin vending industry is directing attention at the possibility of solid carbon dioxide and refrigerating equipment for selling milk and ice cream, as well as butter.

After Dinner Coffee Adds a Festive Touch

It's Fitting End to a Delicious Meal.

BY SALLY LUNN.

Dinner for guests is over. For a change why not coffee in the living room? Having finished the dessert at the table, adjourn to the living room to receive a demi-tasse cup filled with hot, fragrant coffee. This permits the party to break up into small groups or pleasant little tête-à-têtes to sip the final offering of a delightful dinner. Only a hostess who thinks of the little touches that really make a meal will see the possibilities of demi-tasse in the living room.

Also, from the hostess' point of view this is a most successful venture. The diners arise from the table before the dessert dishes are removed, thus doing away with the necessity of another service. Hot coffee is not passed at the table—a process that often causes strong men to shudder when they think of what some one else's carelessness might do to them. At a large dinner, especially, it is true that oftentimes the guest who likes his coffee boiling hot must wait until his coffee has cooled beyond the point of desirability. Persons who dislike or may not drink coffee do not enjoy watching other people still at the meal when they have finished.

When the hostess pours coffee from the clever coffee pot into those interesting cups she has been anxious to show off she serves the hot beverage to those who wish it in a unique and pleasing manner.

Simple family dinners do not call for this type of service. But the coffee set may be placed on a low odd table in the living room ready when company does come. Here it will serve as a decoration when not in use.

Paris Society, Britons Welcome Indian Ruler

PARIS, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Princes of India and the Ismaili, Mohammedan leader, have been lionized throughout the social season just closing here, regardless of the delicate political situation in India.

Few foreigners in Paris have been more conspicuously entertained, officially and privately, than the Maharajah of Kapurthala; his son, the crown prince of Kapurthala, and the Aga Khan and his new French wife, the pretty young Begum Aga Kahn. The Aga Kahn is the spiritual sovereign of India's strongest Moslem group.

The maharajah of Kapurthala, whose full title is Colonel His Highness Maharajah Sir Jagatjit Singh Bahadur, is the ruler of a state with scarcely half a million population, but as a leader of the Punjab Sikhs he is one of the most powerful and wealthy princes of India, as well as the most westernized.

Within the last six weeks the maharajah has been the guest of the heads of the royal households of England, Spain, and Belgium.

The garden party of the maharajah, an annual event, outdid itself for brilliance and numbers this year.

Among the hundreds who greeted him on the red carpet spread under the trees of his garden on the edge of the Bois de Boulogne were Pola Negri, moving picture star; M. Raymond Poincare and Mme. Poincare; André Tardieu, premier of France; Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, known as Ganna Walska; several Greek princes, a handful of Russian grand dukes, ambassadors from the important embassies, including Lord Tyrrell, British ambassador; Princess Chivediar of Egypt, and many members of the oldest and most aristocratic French families.

Part of the social triumph of the Aga Khan during the 1930 season is the readiness with which diplomatic and aristocratic society has accepted his wife, the former Andrée Cargon, one time mannequin, whom he married at Dix les Bains last winter.

The Begum Aga Khan was not only presented at the June court in London but she and the Aga Khan were guests recently at one of the most exclusive dinners offered by the British embassy for many months. They have been guests at other European embassies as well as popular figures at many private parties. They have also entertained informally themselves.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

This morning frock adds a capelet collar through epaulet shoulders that extend into flaring sleeves. The waistline is defined by a wide belt that is passed through a bound opening at the right side front, leaving the front in panel effect. The wrapped arrangement of the fronts is reversible, and the patch pockets are gathered into bands. The flaring skirt may be straight or scalloped at the bottom. Pique, percale, gingham, and sateen are smart materials.

The pattern, 2617, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material with 8½ yards of binding.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

You rushed her too hard, Tommy. Let some time elapse before extending the next invitation.

Are Remarriages Successful? Yes, if Tolerance Enters In

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Please tell me was there ever a successful remarriage after a divorce has occurred? I was married for five years, and divorced my husband. We've been divorced a year, since which time he has been trying to get me to remarry him, promising to be good, etc. He is willing to prove that he has changed before I remarry him. I wish you would be frank and tell me just what to do, as I would be disowned if I went back to him and the marriage went on the rocks again. "PUZZLED."

Of course, there are successful remarriages. In one instance familiar to me there was a long period separation (not a divorce). The woman said after her remarriage: "We get along beautifully now, but Henry married a different woman this time!"

Instead of the headstrong young, half-baked romantic Henry had grievously offended some years back, he now had a woman who had learned something about life and realities. Chiefly she had learned that you can't have your own way all the time. This she admitted quite frankly; also that men are not angels, neither are they beasts and rogues. The point is, however, that she took another woman inside herself to the second ceremony and she played that wiser woman part in the remarriage.

That's the hope of a successful remarriage. If one has not learned in the separation interim the lesson of compromise she had better keep out of the remarriage. If it means the same intolerance toward the partner's weaknesses, whatever they may be, there will be the same unhappy denouement. If it means the same thirst for power over another individual, again we say it is better to stay out. If it means that outside influence is strong enough to regulate one's conduct within the marriage, it has not much chance of surviving.

If, however, two people love and find after divorce or separation that they are miserable away from each other, it is wise to make a second attempt, but on an improved course of behavior. The right of an individual to certain idiosyncrasies that the peculiarly his or hers, must be recognized, but tolerance above all things is wanted to cope with the temperamental differences that must have existed when divorce was resorted to in the first place.

CONCORD COACH GIFT OF TWO COMEDIANS TO NATIONAL MUSEUM

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Two of the country's comedians, Will Rogers and Fred Stone, have presented to the Smithsonian institution a rare old Concord stage coach built in 1825.

It arrived at the museum yesterday after journeying from San Francisco to New York via the Panama canal on an army transport, thence by boat down the coast and up the Potomac.

Under orders of the quartermaster general the creaking old relic, with paint peeling off the wheels and red leather upholstery badly worn, was handled as carefully as though it were a jewel. It came uncrated and was rolled proudly through the streets of the capital to its final abode.

Now they are trying to get from Stone or Rogers a history of the relic, but so far have had to be content with the small brass plate attached to the coach and inscribed: "G. Gerald, blacksmith, Concord, 1825."

Wheaton Club Pool Is Popular in These Days

The Chicago Golf club at Wheaton is the center of social activity for summer residents of the western sub-urbs. The club swimming pool is a popular gathering place these warm days. The golf course and tennis courts are made use of daily by ath-letically inclined persons, who find there no drawback to exercise.

Wives and daughters of the club members may have all the golf they wish during the week, but on Satur-days and Sunday the course is monopo-lized by the men. While there is no rule forbidding women on the course during the week-end, the ladies gen-erally observe the unwritten law that provides two days of undistracted golfing for the men.

The Saturday night dinner dances are well attended throughout the sea-son, which opens officially in early June and continues until after Labor day.

Among the residents at the club this year are John Black, Mr. and Mrs. Royal B. Cushing, the young Hugh Thornes, the Herbert Wither-spoons, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Finne-gan, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Allen B. Ripley and their daughter, Miss Jane Ripley. Members who have summer residences in the vicinity include the George M. Sea-man and their daughter, Miss Mary Seaman, Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hooper Jr., Mr. Edward N. Hurleys and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed-ward N. Hurley Jr.

Friends of the Coonley family here will be interested to learn of the engagement of Miss Jane Barton Breeding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Penn Breeding of Seven Oaks Park, Orange, N. J., to Dudley Ayer Coonley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Coonley of Boston, Mass. The announcement was made by Miss Breeding's parents at a dinner at their summer residence at Sunapee, N. H. No date has been set for the wedding.

Visitors at the opening of the Lake Forest flower, fruit, vegetable and dairy show this afternoon at Horticul-tural hall will note that the exhibit will vary greatly from the shows of former years. The women in charge have worked out a more modern form of display, with an increased gallery of shadow pictures, a special class of vest pockets, and groups of decorated cakes. The gardens of some of the children will be open to the public. Mrs. Edwin B. Frost is general chair-man and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay as-sistant chairman.

MARRIED

MRS. W. S. HUGHES.
[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Cox, daughter of Mrs. E. C. Cox of Oak Park, to William Spencer Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hughes of Schenectedy, N. Y., took place on July 25 at the Oak Park Arms hotel.

Chicagoans Sailing

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Chi-cagoans sailing aboard the Majestic to-morrow for Cherbourg and Southamp-ton include Judge Dennis Sullivan, William G. Wall, Mr. and Mrs. Ed-ward Lowe, B. E. Bensinger, Edward Kleinschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ren-shaw and Miss Brereton Sturtevant.

Residents of Chicago and its sub-urbs to sail on the Hamburg-American liner Milwaukee on Saturday are: Miss Johanna Fiedler, Mrs. Myrtle C. Gissler, Dr. C. F. C. Kramer, Mrs. Paula Kutna, Dan Lubowski, Harold R. Newton, Walter Preuss, Edmund Terlitowski; from Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Czerwonky and their children Beatrice, Joachim and An-dreas; from Wilmette, Miss Estelle Swigart, and George Swigart.

Sally Depicts Circus as Seen by 100 Children

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

I've come to the conclusion, after our party yesterday, that the best way to attend a circus is with one hundred boys and girls. For what you don't see—and it's certainly next to impossible to watch everything when there are six rings and five stages full of performances all the time—they tell you about. And what a circus Ringling Brothers and Bar-num & Bailey have gathered under the big top out in Grant park!

The parade, which is comparable to some lovely pageant out of fairyland, opens this show. Glittering, spangled costumes, huge, slate colored elephants wearing crowns of ostrich plumes, amusing clowns, sleek bodied horses, camels and zebras make up the pro-cession which winds about the hippo-drome track.

Then come the thrilling acts follow-ing each other in such rapid succes-sion that it's almost impossible to fol-low all of them. The trapezists who swing aloft from their perches in the air, the tight rope walkers who dance, slide and turn somersaults on the slim wire. One wonders how they keep their balance and what strange power keeps them from crashing to the floor below. The most breathtaking stunt of the afternoon was the shooting of the man from the cannon, across the wide expanse of tent and into a huge net.

Comedy richly interspersed the dar-ing feats enacted above, below, to the right and to the left of us. The hun-dred clowns who parade about the arena in ridiculous costumes and fun-ny makeups getting themselves in and out of amusing situations gave us more laughs than we could comfort-ably manage. And the sober faced monkeys who rode by on their pony mounts delighted us.

Then came the Wild West show, where we saw expert horsemen and horsewomen, champions of rodeos, perform the most difficult tricks with lasso and saddle and unbroken horses. Hurdles and races, fancy riding, and bucking bronchos are some of the fea-tures of this superb exhibition which brought the afternoon to a close. It was a strenuous party, because we were kept so busy every second of the time, but it was a happy, hilarious one and we came away trying to re-member when we had had such a good time before.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Edith Cummings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Mark Cummings of Lake Forest, and Mrs. John Went-worth of 222 East Delaware place, who have been traveling in the east for about a fortnight, attended the opening of the races this week at Sar-atoga. On Tuesday evening they were guests at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minot Avery of New York at the Arrowhead inn in Sara-toga. Among the other guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. T. Smith, Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. B. Widener, and Mr. and Mrs. Alan L. Corey. Miss Cummings is expected to return to Lake Forest today.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Aldis will leave Lake Forest in about a fort-night to spend the last weeks of the summer at York Harbor, Me. There are to be no plays this year in the Lit-tle Playhouse on the Aldis compound, because most of the amateur Thes-pians who usually compose the casts are away on vacation trips.

Mrs. Peck Matthiessen of 1540 Lake Shore drive, who has been traveling along the eastern coast for about a month, is spending a few days at the Savoy-Plaza in New York before re-turning early next week to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kirk of 203 East Chestnut street sailed on Wednes-day from New York on the Evangeline for Yarmouth, N. S.

Miss Sarah Wood, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood of Highland Park, will leave shortly to spend a month in Santa Barbara as guests of Miss Leila Withers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Withers of Winnetka. Miss Wood and Miss Withers will be debutantes this winter.

Barrington's Flower Show Is Opened on MacMurrays' Grounds

Modernistic garden and flower ar-rangements were credited by specta-tors are being among the most inter-esting features of the fifth annual flower show of the Garden club of Bar-rington in its opening program yester-day afternoon at Oak Brae, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. MacMurray. Mrs. George Van Hagen Sr., Barring-ton, was awarded a blue ribbon for flower arrangements in the modern-istic style, while Mrs. Renner received a red ribbon in the same class and later was presented with a special award ribbon on the same entry.

More than 250 exhibits by the ama-teur gardeners of Barrington and the vicinity again will be open for inspec-tion today between noon and 8 p. m. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Evan Evans, who is being assisted by officers of the garden club; Mrs. R. R. Hammond, president; Mrs. Edwin A. Seitz, vice president; Mrs. Frank John-ston, treasurer, and Mrs. Lloyd Canby, secretary.

Among the other prize winning ex-hibits judged yesterday was a group exhibit of 71 wild flowers gathered and labeled by Mrs. Weinberg of Highland Park; a second prize ribbon and a spe-cial award going to John L. Bell of Barrington for a group of 65 wild flowers. Mrs. Robert Work of Bar-rington took a blue ribbon for the greatest variety of garden flowers, labeled and grown by the exhibitor.

Travel to Canada

Mrs. Ralph H. Poole of Lake Forest and her daughters, Miss Barbara and Miss Nancy Poole, and her son, Ralph Jr., have gone to Canada and will spend the remainder of the summer in the island colony at Desbarats, Ont. Mr. Poole will join them in late Au-gust.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Spe-cial.]—Mrs. Hoover started unexpect-edly yesterday for the presidential fishing camp on the Rapidan, accom-panied by three of her secretaries, Miss Ruth Fessler, Miss Mildred Hall and Miss Helen Green, and her house guest, Mrs Stark McMullin of Palo Alto, Cal. This afternoon Mrs. Hoover and her party motored to the Girl Scouts' camp in the Shenandoah val-ley for the dedication ceremonies of the footbridge which Mrs. Hoover's donation made possible. Tomorrow she will be present at the dedication ceremonies of the summer camp. Mrs. Hoover and her party will not return to the White House before Monday. The President and a party of his friends will join her at the camp to-morrow.

$52,000 Suit Recalls the Team of Van and Schenck

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Lil-lian Schenck, widow and principal heir of Joe Schenck, member of the vaude-ville team of Van & Schenck, is seek-ing to collect $52,000 from Gus B. Van, surviving member of the team.

In a suit on file in Brooklyn Su-preme court she claimed that Van, whose real name is August von Glohn, owed her husband $26,000 at the time of his death in Detroit on June 28. She also demanded that Van pay her $26,000 under an insurance agreement between the partners.

She said Van has collected $75,000 on a policy made payable to the sur-vivor of the team. The agreement, Mrs. Schenck declared in her com-plaint, provided that $25,000 of the insurance money was to be paid to the widow of the first to die.

CALL EX-JUDGE TO FACE CHARGE HE BOUGHT JOB

Tammany Men Subpœnaed as Witnesses.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—George F. Ewald, the "jailing judge," and Dr. William F. Doyle, "pleader extraordinary" before the board of standards and appeals, continued to hold the limelight today in New York City's ever widening municipal scandal. Former Magistrate Ewald, now on the suspended list, has been subpenaed to appear tomorrow at a county inquiry into the report he paid Tammany workers $12,000 for his appointment. "Doc" Doyle, the veterinarian with the political pull, passed the day listening to half a dozen of his fifty clients testify to favors and fees at his trial in federal court on a charge of perjury and income tax evasion.

Matters in Tammany controlled municipal offices have become so bothersome that John F. Curry, Tammany chief, let it be known publicly that he was annoyed by the growing discredit cast on his organization by officeholders. "Tammany Hall," Mr. Curry said, "stands for clean government."

[County Treasurer Inquiry].

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, with his income tax records, is the one who lifted the lid from the city's scandal barrel, but in the case of Ewald, the terror of the Traffic court, the matter for the present has been turned over to county authorities.

Along with subœnas for former Magistrate Ewald and Mrs. Ewald, another batch was issued for Tammany leaders. Two of them were served on Michael J. Healy, Tammany district leader, and Thomas T. Tommaney, Tammany henchman, to appear tomorrow morning.

A subpœna has not been served, however, upon the person who might become the most important witness of all—the man who, according to the information Mr. Tuttle furnished Mr. Crain, was told by Ewald that the magistracy cost him $12,000.

Name Is Withheld.

The name of that witness has not been revealed.

Ewald was appointed magistrate on April 27, 1927. He was suspended late yesterday on orders of Mayor James J. Walker. Bank records procured by Mr. Tuttle recently show a train of transactions by which $10,000 left the hands of Mrs. Bertha F. Ewald and passed through the hands of Healy and Tommaney.

The slow process of calling one by one the many clients of Dr. Doyle in order to prove to a federal jury that as a pleader extraordinary before the board of standards and appeals Dr. Doyle's income was "upward of $650,000 for the years 1927, 1928 and 1929," was continued this afternoon.

Operator Predicts Coal Shortage as Price Increases

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—An acute shortage of anthracite coal next winter was predicted today by Sanders W. Wertheim, president of a coal company, in announcing an increase of 50 cents per ton in price Sept. 1, and a prospective additional increase of 50 cents on Nov. 1. Curtailment of work for four months and the fact mines are operating now at only 30 per cent of capacity brought about a shortage.

MASTRO FIGHTS LA BARBA TO 10 ROUND DRAW

ROOT RESCUES OSBORN IN EIGHTH; CUBS WIN, 6 TO 5

MOWS DOWN 3 CARD BATTERS WITH 3 ON BASE

Hafey Hits Homer in First.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—Masterful relief pitching by Charley Root this afternoon saved the third game of the series with the St. Louis Cardinals and prevented the Cubs from dropping 4½ games back of the Robins. Thanks to Charley's superlative efforts in the eighth and ninth innings the Cubs won, 6 to 5, and tomorrow they will be at home to meet the eastern invasion 3½ games out of first place.

If you don't think Root is entitled to praise for his work please read the following details:

Going into the last of the eighth the Cubs were leading, 6 to 3. Osborn was breezing along, with a record of seven hits, and had almost forgotten that Chick Hafey had nicked him for a homer with two on in the first inning. But at the outset of this last half of the eighth things got merry. Adams singled to center and stopped at third when Frisch doubled to right. The bases were full after Bottomley walked. Hafey doubled to left, scoring Adams and Frisch, Bottomley stopping at third.

Root Emerges Unscathed.

So there was the picture: The tying run on third, the winning run on second, and none out. In came Mr. Root. He gave Fisher an intentional pass, filling the bases. Then he fanned Jimmy Wilson and Gelbert. Pinch Batter High grounded gently to English and the threat was over. And in the ninth the enemy went out on three flies.

Despite his late collapse Osborn got credit for his ninth win of the season, as compared with two defeats. Aside from his trouble in the first and eighth innings Long Bob held the Cards to five singles.

The champs left for Chicago tonight, and tomorrow will greet the first of the eastern arrivals, the Boston Braves, who will play a four game series at Wrigley field. Bush will oppose Seibold in the ladies' day ceremonies. While the Cubs are entertaining the Braves Brooklyn will be in this town doing their stuff against the Cardinals.

In winning today the Cubs took the odd game of the series, and each battle was decided by one run. They also effected a tie with the Cards in the season series at nine games each.

Homer After Two Out.

There were some encouraging signs in the game today, for some of the stars who had begun to forget the purpose of bat manufacture broke loose most. Ki Cuyler, whose best in the series up till today was a scratch single, obliged with two doubles. Charley Grimm also knocked two doubles and so did Woody English. Doc Farrell had three hits.

With two out in the first inning, Frisch walked and stopped at third when Bottomley doubled off the right field screen. Hafey then drove his homer high into the left field bleachers, scoring Frisch and Bottomley ahead of him. Fisher grounded out to Blair.

The first five Cubs up in the fourth contributed three doubles and a pair of singles, just enough to tie the score. But all the exhilarating effects of the rally were destroyed by dizzy base running. English led off the inning with a double and scored on Cuyler's two bagger. Hack Wilson hit a double, and Cuyler scored. Stephenson singled to left, putting Wilson on third. Grimm doubled to left, scoring Wilson and putting Stevie on third.

Hartnett grounded to Gelbert and the base runners held on while Gelby was being thrown out. Farrell also grounded to Gelbert, who threw to Jimmy Wilson in time to turn Stevie around. Wilson, apparently recalling the triple play staged against the Cubs in Cincinnati a fortnight ago, started toward third, waiting for Stevie and Charley to do the wrong thing. Well, Stevie and Charley both arrived at third at the same time.

Stevie Caught at Plate.

Charley, after due reflection, started back to second and was disposed of easily by a toss, J. Wilson to Frisch. Stevie, fascinated by all the activity about him, wandered off third, whereupon Frisch, with the ball in hand, ran over and trapped Stevie between third and home. At this point it occurred to Stevie that he was the center of interest. He started for home but was doubled at the plate.

The Cubs broke the tie in the next inning, however. After Osborn had been retired, Blair singled to center and stopped at third on English's double. Cuyler grounded to Gelbert and Blair beat the throw to the plate, English reaching third. Woody scored on Hack Wilson's sacrifice, Gelbert threw out Stephenson.

In the seventh the score became 6 to 5 in favor of the Cubs. Cuyler got his second double and came home on Wilson's single to center.

Grimm led off the eighth with his second double. Hartnett flied to Douthit, but Farrell came through with his third hit, a line single to left. Grimm, however, was out at the plate sending up. Charley apparently did not know the play was being made on him.

YOUTHFUL TENNIS STARS VANQUISH TILDEN AND LOTT

Shields and Wood Win at Southampton.

Southampton, L. I., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—As suddenly as William Tilden came into the Meadow club singles he went out of it today, conquered by Frank X. Shields, 18, of New York, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1. The match definitely established Shields as one of the outstanding players of the younger generation.

Tilden's defeat in the quarter final round was supplemented by one almost as unexpected, that of George M. Lott, Tilden's fellow Davis cup contestant, who succumbed to Sidney B. Wood of Forest Hills, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

Subordinated by contrast with these surprises the victories of Wilmer Allison of Texas and Frank Hunter of New Rochelle, went along quite unnoticed. Allison downed Richard Murphy of Utica, 7-5, 6-4, as Hunter eliminated a stubbornly resisting Eddie Jacobs of the University of Pittsburgh, 8-6, 8-6.

Critics Favored Tilden.

When Tilden substituted for Berkeley Bell of Texas yesterday it was the belief of critics that the Philadelphia veteran, who recently triumphed in the Wimbledon final, would achieve his third and final leg on the famous Meadow club bowl.

From the beginning of the match it was apparent that Shields would be a stubborn opponent. Ready to give Tilden the initial whipping administered by an American since Fritz Mercur accomplished the feat at Rye in 1928, he won the three introductory games of the opening set. He was volleying carefully and accurately and showed no fear of Tilden. Big Bill got his strokes working in the fourth game of this set, booming over his first ball with deceptive speed that Shields could not fathom.

This was Tilden's lone flurry in the set, however, for his antagonist followed with a love game and then proceeded to run out the fifth and sixth games.

Wood Sets Pace.

Upon conclusion of the Tilden affair Wood and Lott went on the same court and again it was a boy of 18 who did the unexpected. Victor over Ellsworth Vines in the Sea Bright final last week and a strategist of the old school, Wood curbed Lott following an exciting struggle.

Wood will meet Shields tomorrow, while Hunter tests Allison. Hunter had difficulty overpowering Jacobs to get to this round, but succeeded in doing so by his splendid forehand.

Thanks to Charley

975 Start on Camel's Trail at Medinah

RIAL ROLFE.

Nine hundred and seventy-five golfing Shriners started on the annual camel's trail over three courses at the Medinah Country club yesterday.

Rial Rolfe of Ridgemoor, George Dawson of Glen Oak, and Vince Huntington of Brookwood led the scoring with 72's. Rolfe played on No. 1 course, Dawson on No. 2, and Huntington on No. 3. Close behind the leaders were Cy Anderburg, 73; John Dawson, 74; Jack Westland, 74; H. Kipfer, 74, and A. A. Haegh, 74.

Among the early starters were Rolfe, Westland, Al Hale, and Peter Raap. Inspired by the low scorers, the latter two shot 80 and 82, respectively, to even the foursome prize with 308.

Don Armstrong made a tee shot of 310 yards to win the driving contest on No. 2 course. Otto Schmidt, president of Medinah, was second with a drive of 285 yards. Ray Franzen won on No. 3 course, and Rolfe on No. 1. Franzen reached 279 yards and Rolfe, 285 yards.

While not earning a prize for the feat, N. E. Tarble of Ridgemoor had the greatest thrill of the day when he holed out from the tee on No. 17 of the third course. The shot was 150 yards across water and it enabled him to finish 85—14—71.

Lieut. Gov. Fred Sterling and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom attended the fête but did not compete.

Other leading scores:

S. C. Dean	76	R. H. Quale	82
Don Armstrong	76	R. Franzen	82

After a hectic 36 hole round yesterday, Ben Stevenson emerged with 78—81—159 to win the Beverly Masonic title for the second time in succession. Ben wound up with an 8 at the thirty-sixth hole, but he was into clear by several strokes.

W. P. Johnston won low net for the double round with 201—56—145.

Shooting 95—17—78, Arthur H. Haigh won the trophy competed for by past presidents of the association.

The entry numbered close to 200 presided at the annual banquet.

George P. O'Shea of Columbus council and J. M. Kennedy of Barry, tied for the Fred B. Snite trophy in the annual Knight of Columbus tournament at the Elmhurst Golf club. Their scores of 77 led a field of 250 contestants.

J. J. McNamara of Barry council came next with 37—41—78, and two were tied at 80, the Rev. J. P. Kiley of St. Timothy's parish and the Rev. S. Conway of St. Rita's.

The team title was won by Barry with a total of 322. The foursome being made up of J. M. Kennedy, 77; J. J. McNamara, 78; H. B. Bedard, 81, and the Rev. McCauley, 86.

The Father Perez council team was second with 344. The members of the foursome were the Rev. S. Conway, 80; J. Spoo, 86; T. McInerny, 89, and T. Scavone, 89.

A new southpaw champion was crowned yesterday at Midlothian when Lew Levinson of Bryn Mawr shot rounds of 75—75—150 to top a field of sixty entrants.

The runner up was Charles E. Nixon of Columbus, who had 74—77—151. Rudy Juran of Minneapolis suffering a bad lapse in his putting, had 75—82—157 to finish fourth and lose the title he had held for two years.

R. C. Wilson of Olympia Fields, a former champion, turned in 80—75—155; R. C. Ackley, Olympia Field, 75—83—158, and C. H. Andrews, Urbana, 76—89—165. A. N. Defrance of Gary took low net at 36 holes with 169—32—137.

KID CHOCOLATE POUNDS BERG BUT LOSES DECISION

Negro Whales Briton for Most of 10 Rounds.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Where his strength came from nobody in the big crowd knew, but Kid Chocolate, a tiny, blue gum Cuban Negro, gave away about ten pounds to Jack Kid Berg of London and whaled him most of the way, only to lose the decision at the end of a ten round fight in the Polo grounds this evening.

It was a wild half hour of fist fighting and Chocolate sat in his corner with his kinky head bowed in his bandaged hands moaning some plaint like a jungle lament when he learned that the court had defrauded him of his victory after the struggle he had been through.

Neither prizefighter dealt as much as a skin bruise for all the mutual belting and mauling but Berg had taken a thorough treatment, including many a hard, accurate rap on his chin, whereas the best he was able to serve was a mussy, boresome routine of body thumps, delivered in the clinches which he was always seeking.

Farley Impounds Ballots.

There were two or three impromptu pleasure fights among the patients in the ringside benches placed on the Giants' infield after the decision was read by Joe Humphreys but the constables jumped in joyously and spanked the restless parties into quiet behavior without delay. The indignation was not stifled, however, but only subdued and James Farley, the chairman of the prize fight commission, apparently sensing the injustice to the Negro boy, temporarily impounded the official voting slips of the referee and judges and refused to reveal the individual opinions.

When the crowd had begun to vanish, however, he changed his mind and the press row was notified that Charlie Mathison, one of the judges, had voted for Chocolate, and Joe Agnello, the other judge, and Patsy Haley, the referee, for Berg.

Even Berg Incredulous.

Chocolate's anguish was the more painful because when Humphreys first received the voting slips he apparently thought there could be no question as to the Kid's winning and started for him to grasp his hand. The Kid waited, his pickaninny features illumined with a smile of relief and pardonable pride and his gold tooth gleaming from his black face like a nugget on a velvet cushion. Then Humphreys turned and beckoned Berg to the center where he raised the startled and slightly incredulous young man's sodden glove.

Chocolate hadn't the common, hod carrying strength that Berg had, so naturally he fought at a distance as much as he could and tried to lock Berg's arms when he was forced into clinches.

There were frequent short spells when Berg, a spread legged, shuffling body fighter, drummed the Kid on his lean, black middle with both gloves, but this kind of doing was the whole sum of his attack, whereas the Kid piled up a large score in clean, sharp hooks and crosses.

Reaches Berg's Chin.

The Kid also solved the problem of reaching Berg's chin with a right hand, dropping it over a large wad of shoulder muscle like a football player's pad, as Tony Canzoneri had been unable to do in a similar fight at the Garden some time ago.

Chocolate stirred the patrons with a reckless challenge in the first minute of the ninth round, rushing to grips at the opening bell and swinging gloves in a rash encounter until his legs began to melt and he had to take back to draw breath.

The fight drew about $160,000, practically the same as the receipts of the recent Mandell-Singer fight for the lightweight championship.

WHITE SOX FACE JOB OF 2 TWIN BILLS WITH A'S

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7.—The White Sox, already weary from unprofitable toil, are confronted with a staggering amount of labor. They arrived here this evening to discover that they not only must battle the chesty Athletics in a double header tomorrow, but also on Saturday. On top of this strenuous program they will be forced to find amusement for themselves over Sunday, which, in blue law Philadelphia, is not easily done.

One of tomorrow's games will be handled by Ted Lyons, admittedly about the most effective pitcher in either league at the moment. The Louisiana lad will be searching for his eighteenth triumph of the season, which, with a second division ball team, is a record worthy of comment.

The other game will be Braxton's problem.

For the time being Manager Bush intends to continue with the lineup he has employed in recent games, with Bill Cissell playing third.

Hal McKain, who could be used to advantage in view of the team's shortage of pitchers, both in numbers and quality, did not accompany the Sox out of Chicago. He has a sore side and is unable to throw a ball. As soon as he recovers, which Pilot Bush hopes will be soon, he will be summoned for duty. Carl Reynolds, the team's best fly chaser, also is going to continue as a cripple for a few days at least. He is handicapped by a charley horse in his right leg.

Cozy Dolan Held to Grand Jury in Prohibition Case

Cozy Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants whose Club Huron, at 16 East Huron street, was raided recently by prohibition agents, was held to the grand jury in bond of $2,500 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday. Harold Watson, Herman Schroeder and Frank Lewis, employés, also were held to the jury, while James Taylor and John Johnson were discharged.

"Give Me Work or I'll Quit America Flat," Says Carnera

BY ARCH WARD.

The unemployment situation is becoming increasingly acute. It apparently has hit the fistic trade. Primo Carnera, the big mitt merchant from Venice, is in town looking for work and thus far has had no success.

According to Mons. Leon See, the dapper little Frenchman, who is ring master of the Carnera circus, the troup will pack up and sail back to sunny Italy unless business picks up pronto. Carnera is anxious to return to his native land for a visit anyway, and if Chicago fails to provide him work he will leave the country in October.

This, of course, would approach a national calamity.

Mique Malloy, it seems, is the only Chicagoan who appreciates what it means to keep Carnera in America. As far as we can find out there was no officially deputized delegation from the city hall at the station when the Italian arrived Wednesday. The usual welcoming theatrics were missing. This doesn't seem right. It might be misconstrued as a lack of interest in physical monstrosities.

Mr. Malloy, however, promises to awaken Pop Dearborn to his civic responsibilities. He left yesterday for New York, and plans to stay there until he lands either Jack Sharkey or Young Stribling as an opponent for Primo on the lake front before snow flies." Meanwhile Carnera marks time in a loop gymnasium.

Should Malloy fall down on the assignment of saving Carnera for America, there is little possibility of Primo going hungry. He has done right well by his bank roll since coming to the United States. Mons. See stated last night that Primo has saved $150,000 out of his ring earnings. All of this was not made in America. He banked nearly $50,000, See said, after his last two European bouts.

The $150,000 is net. His purses in this country have enabled him to send considerable money to his folks in Italy in addition to his savings. Meanwhile he has lived like a member of the Quirinal. Much of his earnings has been invested in the United States. He owns a plot of ground near a movie studio in Hollywood on which there are 26 bungalows. The income from this investment nets him more than $1,000 a month.

Mons. See denies that Primo's managers are legion and that the fighter receives only a small per cent of his ring receipts. I am the only manager of Carnera, he remarked. Primo backed up the assertion with an emphatic "uh-huh."

"Carnera gets 66 2-3 per cent of every dollar he makes," See explained. "The other 33 1-3 is mine. Out of my share I pay William Duffy of New York for his assistance in helping us line up bouts. Nobody else is cut in."

It was See who first recognized the exploitation possibilities in Carnera and arranged to bring him to America. He knew that Primo wasn't ready to take on all comers, and if the firm was to make money, they would have to hook up with a domestic trained manipulator. So he turned to Duffy, who managed to guide him into profitable channels without endangering his reputation as a fighter.

The tour from coast to coast wasn't exactly fool proof. They ran into a Negro on the Pacific slopes named Chevalier, who insisted on trying to snap Primo's string of setup victories. At a time when it looked like the Negro was going to succeed somebody in his corner tossed a towel into the ring, losing the bout for the winning battler.

Carnera against a top ranking heavyweight, if any, probably would be a big fistic attraction for Chicago. If any promoter attempts to show him against another tanker, the customers are sure to respond by staying away in large numbers.

What Are Best Bouts Available? You Can Decide

VERDICT BOOED; FANS GIVE EDGE TO CALIFORNIAN

Chicagoan Protests Low Blows.

Earl Mastro of Chicago and Fidel La Barba of California have yet to determine which is the better fighter. Meeting for the third time, after each had won a bout on the coast, they battled to a ten round draw at the Stadium last night.

The coast Italian left the ring positive he had earned the decision and many in the crowd of 12,430, who contributed gate receipts of $37,000, agreed with him, booing the judges' findings when the announcer boomed forth: "It's a draw."

The judges, Rube Metz and L. E. Osborne, saw the bout differently, the former voting for Mastro and the latter for La Barba. Referee Phil Collins called it even.

Californian Hits Low.

The verdicts of Collins and Metz probably were influenced by La Barba's low blows. Several of the coast lad's punches were so far out of bounds that Mastro's tights were raised as Fidel's fists traveled upward.

Mastro started to complain in the first round, but Collins overlooked any infractions, believing that Earl did not relish the body attack which La Barba continued throughout the fight. Again in the second, third, sixth, seventh and eighth rounds Mastro gritted his teeth and fought on after catching punches he claimed were below the waist line. Once Mastro urged La Barba to keep up his punches.

Foul or fair, unbiased observers were of the opinion that the Californian deserved the decision. He landed the harder punches and swarmed over Mastro in the first five rounds. Earl landed few scoring blows until the fourth round and did his best work in the last two sessions.

Start at Fast Pace.

They opened up at a furious pace. La Barba directed his attack to the body. Mastro jabbed with his left and landed with right crosses, but Fidel was getting in the harder wallops.

La Barba gave Mastro a pounding in the second round and landed a hard right to the jaw. Mastro's left was not keeping his opponent away and La Barba got inside, pummeling the body, once bringing a complaint that Fidel was hitting low.

In the third La Barba had Mastro in distress, sending rights and lefts to the jaw while the Chicago Italian protested a low punch. Mastro landed solid rights to the jaw in the fourth, but that brought only a shower of wallops in return. The fifth was fast with each giving as much as he received.

Mastro Continues Protests.

The next three rounds were marked by protests from Mastro, but he went at the business at hand, exchanging blow for blow, though he appeared to be shaded.

Mastro bounced rights off La Barba's jaw in the final round and it was his best exhibition of the evening. He made the Californian back up, but the heat and fast pace had taken most of the sting out of his fists.

Tait Littman, Milwaukee middleweight, knocked out Dan Gasparo of Chicago in the seventh round of the semi-windup. The bell rang after Littman had connected with a right uppercut and Gasparo was unable to come out for the eighth and final round. The bell saved Gasparo in the sixth.

Levine Stops Rivers.

Sammy Levine, fighting in the Golden Gloves trunks he won last winter, stopped Al Rivers of Chicago in the fourth round. Rivers was on the floor for the third time in the round when the bout was halted.

Willie Pelligrini of Chicago learned that Georgie Nate of Gary carried too much dynamite in his fists. He weathered the four rounds, but was floored three times in the first session and once in the second.

Haakon Hansen, local Norwegian, was taking a beating from Henry Firpo of Newcastle, Pa., for five rounds, but in the sixth he shot a right and left to the jaw and the easterner hit the floor. Firpo was resting on one knee at five, but did not rise at the count of ten.

FOXX HITS 31ST HOMER WITH 2 ON; MACKS WIN, 4-1

Victory Over Washington Increases Lead.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx's thirty-first home run of the season with two on base in the sixth inning enabled the Athletics to beat Washington today, 4 to 1, and regain their first place lead of 7½ games.

Foxx's hit was the finishing touch to a pitchers' battle waged by Crowder and Walberg. The game was scoreless until Cronin singled in the sixth, stole second and scored on Harris' single to right.

In the A's half of the inning, Haas tripled after two were out. Cochrane walked and Simmons hit an infield single to short, scoring Haas. Foxx then drove the ball to the roof of the center field stands, scoring Cochrane and Simmons ahead of him. Score:

ROBINS SCORE 2 IN 9TH; DEFEAT PIRATES, 6 TO 4

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The league leading Robins continued in high speed today, taking the second game of their short series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 4.

A Robin attack broke up the game with a two run rally in the ninth, after Dazzy Vance had relieved Jumbo Elliott at the start of the second inning and kept the Pirates under control. With the score tied at four-all, Ike Boone batted for Vance and walked. Johnny Frederick tripled to drive him home, and Gilbert scored Frederick with a single. Watson Clark pitched the ninth for the Robins and held the lead safe.

Fourth Round in Tribune Golf Meet Gets Under Way Today

The fourth round of THE TRIBUNE public links golf tournament begins today. On courses scattered throughout the Chicago district, the first detachment of the five hundred contestants will start play and tomorrow the remainder of the pairings will be announced.

A competitor will have until a week from Monday to get his card to THE TRIBUNE golf editor and if he fails to do so by that time, his opponent will win by default. A contestant may play on any course he chooses at any time of the day he finds convenient. Before sending in his card, each one must write on it the name of his opponent as well as his own.

Final third round results:

Gordon Cary, 7124 Ridgeland avenue, beat Charles Rack, 5462 Higgins avenue, 2 strokes.

Earl Crawford, Crown Point, Ind., beat Clement Krueger, 1736 Pratt boulevard, 2 strokes.

P. L. Fosburg, 228 Forest avenue, Glen Ellyn, beat G. F. Hadam, 432 West 61st street, 1 stroke.

B. C. Ruthy, 4517 South California avenue, tied Richie Bassett, 323 North Charlotte street, Lombard.

Russell Stankewitz, 154 Portland avenue, Beloit, Wis., tied J. J. Conway, 6625 South Peoria street.

Charles Glaser, 6050 Ergleston avenue, tied John McIntyre, 947 South boulevard, Oak Park.

The following won by default in the third round:

F. O. Anderson, 18 East Erie street; S. Berger; R. E. Berggren, 909 East 84th street; H. R. Brown, 2919 West 65th place; Earl Christopherson; Chester Corner, 46 North Parkside avenue; Ed Damer, 1242 South Oak Park avenue, Berwyn; A. J. Dauphinais, 525 West 49th place; W. J. MARTIN AND BALL WIN IN CALUMET PLAYDAY GOLF

Russell Martin of Flossmoor and R. B. Ball of Los Angeles yesterday made it a runaway affair for low gross and low net at Calumet's annual Playday invitational tournament. Martin had 68—72—140, ten strokes ahead of George Thomas of Olympia Fields, and Ball was low net with 180—50—130, twelve strokes ahead of Frank Platt of Navajo Fields.

Alden B. Swift of Glen View and Charles Becka of Calumet tied for third low gross with 77—74—151. M. J. Bemet of Cleveland, winner last year, finished fourth with 79—75—154.

Martin made only three mistakes in his two rounds. In the afternoon he three-putted twice and once got into the creek, but ended up with an even par, 72. In the morning he had 7 birdies.

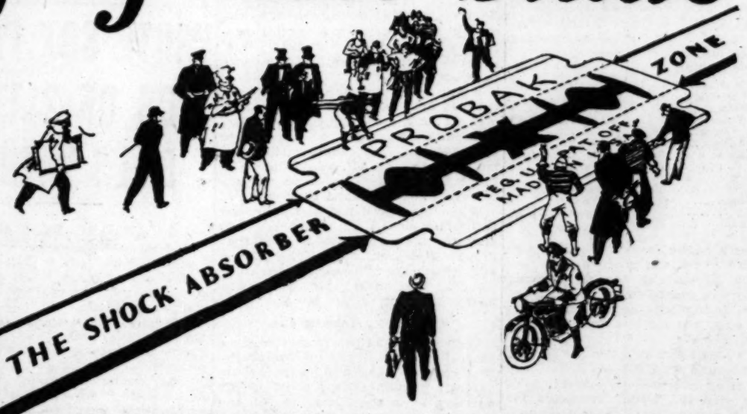
And now... a SHOCK-ABSORBER in your safety razor blade



Probak blades are for Probak razor and other razors of this type

Special Introductory Offer
PROBAK RAZOR and 8 BLADES for $1
To introduce the revolutionary new feather-weight, counter-balanced Probak razor we offer a special matched shaving set consisting of one chromium-plated Probak razor and 8 Probak shock-absorbing blades at the amazing price of only $1. If your dealer cannot yet supply you, order direct, sending $1 to Probak Corporation, 656 First Avenue, New York.

EVERY Probak blade has a built-in shock absorber that absolutely prevents edge distortion. You feel the results in an utterly different and vastly better shave.

Probak's shock-absorber incorporates two revolutionary improvements in blade construction—butterfly channeling in duo-tempered steel. Scientifically shaped perforations disperse the bending strains—provide channels for their escape. Specially tempered steel in the middle of the blade absorbs what little strain is left. No shock or distortion reaches the highly tempered and finely honed shaving edges. The blade is as keen in your razor as in the original package.

Prove these facts. Buy a package of Probaks. Try two in your double-edge razor (old or new model). If every Probak shave isn't quicker, cooler, smoother—return the package and your dealer will refund every cent—$1 for 10, 50c for 5.

COLLINS MEETS CHAMBERS TODAY FOR GOLF TITLE

St. Louis Youth Rallies to Beat Banks on 19th.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Bill Chambers of Briergate and Charles K. Collins of St. Louis will meet today at the Flossmoor Country club in a 36 hole final for the western junior golf championship. Chambers swept into the final round by overwhelming Claude Myers of Kansas City, 6 and 5, in the quarter finals yesterday morning and going on in the afternoon to defeat Joe M. Switzer of St. Louis, two up.

Collins, the medalist, also had an easy time in the morning round, eliminating Julian D'Esposito of the Illinois Golf club, 5 and 4, but in the afternoon he was forced to fight his way from three down on the 13th to one up on the 19th to turn back John L. Banks of La Grange High school.

Banks Increases Lead.

Banks won the first hole when Collins drove into the rough, and he increased his advantage on the fifth after his adversary had hit two shots into traps. Then he missed a one foot putt on the sixth and Collins took the hole. The next three were halved in 4's, leaving Banks 1 up at the turn.

Collins drove into the woods on the 10th, played a safe out, and took a 7 while his opponent was making par 5. Then he went three down when he hit his tee shot in a trap beside the 11th green.

It was not until the 14th that Collins began coming back. Here he laid his approach two feet from the pin and sank the putt for a birdie 3. He won the next also when Banks three-putted, and more unsteady work on the green cost Banks the 17th. That squared the match.

Collins had victory within his grasp on the 18th after Banks had put his third in a trap and was on the green in 4. But Collins' three foot putt lipped out of the cup and the hole was halved in 6's. Then Collins made a fine finish by laying his approach on the 19th within two feet of the pin and putting for a birdie and the match.

In the other encounter Chambers and Switzer were all square at the 18th hole, but the Chicago boy won the next two, dropped the 14th, and won the 18th to finish 2 up.

Halve First Hole.

They began the match by halving the first hole in par 5's, but Switzer three-putted the second and Chambers went one up. On the fifth Chambers sank a long putt to win after his adversary had been trapped. He lost the sixth by hitting one out of bounds.

Chambers was again 2 up when he sank an eight foot putt for a deuce on the seventh, but he lost the ninth by 3-putting.

Both were trapped on the 11th, but Switzer got down with a 4 to Chambers' 5 and squared the match. Then the Briergate boy forged ahead on the 12th after Switzer had hit one into the trees. He laid his drive in position for a deuce on the 13th to go 1 up. Chambers lost the 14th by missing a 2-footer and the next three were halved. On the 18th Switzer's approach was short and Chambers took the hole with a 5 to win the match, 2 up.

The summaries follow:

Third Round.

Collins defeated D'Esposito, 5 and 3.
Banks defeated Dixon, 2 and 1.
Chambers defeated Myers, 6 and 5.
Switzer defeated Bassett, 5 and 4.

Semifinal Round.

Collins defeated Banks, 1 up in 19 holes.
Chambers defeated Switzer, 2 up.

Enterprise Wins Third Straight Yacht Cup Test

Newport, R. I., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Harold S. Vanderbilt today sailed Enterprise, smallest of the America's cup defense candidates, to her third straight win over her three rivals. Weetamoe, the Morgan-Nichols candidate, came home second, 19 seconds later. Whirlwind took third place and Yankee, the Boston boat, was last. The race was sailed in light and flukey breezes over 37 miles of tide disturbed water.

THEN IF I DID THAT, SHOULD I KISS HER GOOD NIGHT?
NO, YOU'D OF DONE ENOUGH FOR HER ALREADY.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

A FETE DAY.

The day was fine and sunny, there was never a hint of rain;
The crowd was great to celebrate the birthday fete of Crane.
The Riverview you used to know had grown a mighty place
With the great American melting pot coloring up its face.

The Scots were doing a bag pipe dance,
the Danes were drinking "Kaff,"
The big Italian organ grinder's monkey made you laugh,
The Germans ate, Hawaiians sang, the
Poles were playing ball,
And the mixtures mixed among them, drinking milk . . . 'twas free to all.

But after the races and the jumping stunts were done
And the crowds went trudging over to the rides and all the fun—
Where they cram you into frying pans and jiggle you about,
Or chute you down to a pond to drown and you're sure you're falling out;
Or drag you up to the top of the world on the bobs, then set you free
And you find yourself, at the end of the ride, with your head where your feet should be—
There they found the pot of melting pots, where the people, great and small,
Are kids again at a "Pippin's" roar or a "Dipper's" downward fall;
Where they think no more of rank or blood . . . they are happy and thankful enough
To grab some friendly human hand when a Fete day does its stuff.

Final Toast to Toro.

So you've run your last race, Toro. Many times have I seen you, apparently hopelessly beaten, strain that great form of yours to get up in the last stride and nip first place. Little you knew the ways of men and their selfish interest in you. Royal blood was yours and love of competition. To win or lose meant nothing to you so far as worldly gain. Then your last race, as game as always, but you could not go on, and while we cheered you, there was grief in our hearts, for to those of us who loved you it meant the passing of a gentleman. Though you never race again, your honest hoofbeats will ever echo on the turf. "Gentlemen, your glasses, a final toast to Toro."

Paddock Mack.

CLEVELAND PAIR SETTING PACE IN ROQUE TOURNEY

Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Sterling Rounds and H. H. Woods of Cleveland, both recent graduates from the second division to the championship class, are setting the pace in the national roque tournament of the American Roque league now in progress here.

Rounds, who offered a serious bid for the title last year, has an average of 31 1-3 for his first three games, having won two and lost the third by a narrow margin of two points to his father, W. A. Rounds of Cleveland, former league president. Woods has an average of 30 1-5 for five games, having won four straight after suffering a 52 to 23 defeat in his opening clash Tuesday.

W. W. Wilson, Chicago, a former champion, after two wins, dropped three games in succession today and is practically out of the race for top position.

I. H. Scott of Kent, O., with three straight victories, is leading the second division and Harry Howard, 15 year old Lakeside, O., boy, is out in front in the third division with two victories and no losses to his credit.

Polo Team of Brothers to Meet Old Aiken Four

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The four Aston brothers from New South Wales, Australia, playing under the name of the Goulburn team, will make their first competitive appearance in a formal polo match Saturday at Meadow Brook field against the crack Old Aiken team, former national junior champions. The Old Aiken combination has been one of the most sensational developed in American polo in recent years.

C. & N. W. LEGION NINE IN STATE FINAL TONIGHT

The Chicago and North Western railway junior team will leave this morning for Springfield to meet the Zeigler team, representatives of the downstate district, in a three game series for the American Legion state championship. The first game will be played at 8 o'clock tonight at the Three Eye field in Springfield.

Bullet Hari, midget left hander, who pitched in both Cook county final games last Friday and Saturday, will be on the mound in the opening game. Kuehnapfel probably will pitch Saturday's game with Litz, a southpaw, and Bayer in reserve for Sunday's contest.

Zeigler is no stranger to Legion finals, having gone to the semi-finals the first year of the series and to the finals last year.

ONLY 1 FAVORITE WINS IN PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A series of upsets in the first two rounds of the National Public Links Golf tournament today eliminated all but one of the favorites. The sole favorite to reach the quarter finals was Bob Wingate of Jacksonville.

The survivors, besides Wingate, are: B. H. Burrows, Washington; Ade Fordham, St. Paul; Walter Barton, Akron; Larry O'Palka, Detroit; Joseph Greene, Philadelphia; Barney Lucas, Los Angeles, and Dominic Strafaci, Brooklyn.

O'Palka eliminated the tournament medalist, Al Quigley, Chicago medalist, in the first round, 4 and 3.

14 May Start in Handicap at Hawthorne

Fourteen horses probably will face Starter Harry Morrisey in the $25,000 Hawthorne handicap to be run tomorrow. If 14 go to the post the race will have a gross value of $27,650.

The field will shape up about as follows, according to Racing Secretary Joseph McLennan:

Misstep, Brown Wisdom, Display, My Dandy, winner of the race last year, The Nut, Pigeon Hole, Paul Bunyan, Galahad, Lady Broadcast, Stars and Bars, Uncommon Gold, Islam, Easter Stockings and Golden Prince. If the track is fast, Misstep no doubt will rule the favorite. He will likely be scratched if the going is muddy or heavy.

Hal Price Headley has shipped his fleet filly Alcibiades to Latonia to run in the renewal of the Latonia Oaks tomorrow afternoon. Alcibiades already has the Kentucky Oaks, Arlington Oaks to her credit.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Those stake horses which decided to loaf rather than run over Hawthorne's muddy racing strip yesterday would have hung their heads in shame if they could have been lined up along the rail and watched the struggle their understudy selling platers staged.

Display, Golden Prince, Chicago, Who Win, Amyvale and others were in the Helen Kane purse which was declared off because of the many scratches. A mile and a sixteenth battle between a dozen selling platers was offered instead. And it will be a long time before a stretch duel as stirring as that which Hy Schneider and Upsedaisy waged will be witnessed again on any track.

At the end Hy Schneider won by a head, but was all out with Jockey Corbett riding desperately to get the decision over the Greentree stable's Upsedaisy. They ran inches apart for the last eighth of a mile, with Upsedaisy in front. She hung on so stubbornly it looked as if Hy Schneider's challenge was to be of no avail.

Riding Decides Race.

But in the last strides Corbett was a more powerful rider on Hy Schneider than Richard was on Upsedaisy. The riding decided it. Corbett picked Hy Schneider up and tossed his head across the finish line in front. Hy had his backers. Sweet Mandy was the favorite but the best she could get was third money, five lengths back of the two leaders. In the betting Hy Schneider paid $7.96 and he ran the mile and a sixteenth over the heavy track in 1:50 3-5.

Despite the difficult track conditions and numerous scratches a crowd of 11,000 saw the races.

Maid of Honor Likes Mud.

Otto W. Lehman, president of the Arlington Jockey club, uncovered a fine looking 2 year old in the Cuddler purse at 5½ furlongs. His color bearer was Maid of Honor, a daughter of Supremus-Boja, and she found the muddy going just to her liking.

Jockey McKnight held her back until the field hit the turn. Then she sprinted to the front like a champion and went on to open up a lead of five lengths. She was under restraint in the late stages but got to the payoff station two lengths ahead of Water Port, with Fair Missie, a long shot, beating Aunt Deb, even money favorite, for third money in the last strides.

Surf Board Is Victor by Head at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP) — Mrs. Payne Whitney's Surf Board, carrying 118 pounds, scored his second victory of the meeting when he won the Albany handicap at six furlongs here today.

Surf Board is a very fast horse and should have won this race by a much wider margin, but Mack Garner, who had the mount, was watching over his right shoulder to see if any horse would surprise him and he never once glanced over his left shoulder with the result that Blenheim stole up and almost got the purse. Panelian was third. The race was worth $5,075 and the time was 1:23 3-5.

The start was good. Surf Board and Panelian quickly drew away from the field. The pace was fast and Panelian was the first to crack. He stopped badly and Surf Board ran into a three length lead. However, Garner thought he had the race cinched and took things easy. Blenheim came with a powerful rush on the inside and just failed to get up, Surf Board winning by a head.

Jockey F. Stevens was suspended 10 days by the starter for disobedience at the post in the first race.

YEARLING SALE AT SARATOGA TRACK BRINGS $91,900

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—An offspring of the famous French-bred sire, Sir Gallahad 3d, the daddy of the great Gallant Fox and a host of other good winners, was sold at the Saratoga yearling sales tonight. This was a bay filly out of Flamsette which sold for $11,000. A still higher price, and highest of the sales so far, was that of $17,000 paid for a bay colt by Pennant Imp-Sis Martin.

Forty-seven head were placed under the hammer and they brought the grand total of $91,900, making the average $1,955 per head. Mrs. T. J. Regan's sixteen head sold for $46,950, averaging $2,934. William Woodward's Belair stud lot of the same number totaled $21,250 to average $1,328. Cold Stream stud and partners offered eleven head which brought $42,850, to average $1,168. Four youngsters consigned by Brooknell farm made $10,850 for an average of $2,712.

Ex-Senator Gives Braves 1 Hit in Exhibition Game

Jamestown, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Jamestown Spiders, semi-pro team, defeated the Boston Braves of the National league, 3 to 0 in an exhibition game here today. "Swat" Erickson, former Washington pitcher, hurled eight hitless innings. In the ninth Richbourg rapped a single to right field for Boston's only safety of the game. Erickson fanned eight. Score:

Braves	000	000	000	0	1	1
Jamestown	030	000	00*	3	5	2

Hansel and Gowdy: Erickson and Lapp.

Betty Nuthall Arrives in Quest of U. S. Net Crown

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Betty Nuthall, British woman tennis star, arrived in New York aboard the Cunard liner Mauretania, which docked tonight. Miss Nuthall, who shares the No. 2 position with Miss Eileen Bennett in the British women's tennis rankings, is here to compete in the American women's tennis tournament to be played at Forest Hills starting on Aug. 18.

LISTERINE
SHAVING CREAM
Now 25c a tube

Millions of men with tough beards and tender skins have paid 50¢ a tube for this wonderful shaving cream. To increase users tenfold, we have cut the price in two, confident that tremendous sales will reduce production costs.

At 25¢, Listerine Shaving Cream is the biggest tube of quality cream at anything near its price. Your first shave will prove that its thick, creamy lather takes up water like a sponge. That it stays moist. That it deposits a microscopic film of glycerine on which your razor slides.

The 50¢ quality is now 25¢

BY FRENCH LANE.

Those stake horses which decided to loaf rather than run over Hawthorne's muddy racing strip yesterday would have hung their heads in shame if they could have been lined up along the rail and watched the struggle their understudy selling platers staged.

Display, Golden Prince, Chicago, Who Win, Amyvale and others were in the Helen Kane purse which was declared off because of the many scratches. A mile and a sixteenth battle between a dozen selling platers was offered instead. And it will be a long time before a stretch duel as stirring as that which Hy Schneider and Upsedaisy waged will be witnessed again on any track.

At the end Hy Schneider won by a head, but was all out with Jockey Corbett riding desperately to get the decision over the Greentree stable's Upsedaisy. They ran inches apart for the last eighth of a mile, with Upsedaisy in front. She hung on so stubbornly it looked as if Hy Schneider's challenge was to be of no avail.

Riding Decides Race.

But in the last strides Corbett was a more powerful rider on Hy Schneider than Richard was on Upsedaisy. The riding decided it. Corbett picked Hy Schneider up and tossed his head across the finish line in front. Hy had his backers. Sweet Mandy was the favorite but the best she could get was third money, five lengths back of the two leaders. In the betting Hy Schneider paid $7.96 and he ran the mile and a sixteenth over the heavy track in 1:50 3-5.

Despite the difficult track conditions and numerous scratches a crowd of 11,000 saw the races.

Maid of Honor Likes Mud.

Otto W. Lehman, president of the Arlington Jockey club, uncovered a fine looking 2 year old in the Cuddler purse at 5½ furlongs. His color bearer was Maid of Honor, a daughter of Supremus-Boja, and she found the muddy going just to her liking.

Jockey McKnight held her back until the field hit the turn. Then she sprinted to the front like a champion and went on to open up a lead of five lengths. She was under restraint in the late stages but got to the payoff station two lengths ahead of Water Port, with Fair Missie, a long shot, beating Aunt Deb, even money favorite, for third money in the last strides.

Surf Board Is Victor by Head at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP) — Mrs. Payne Whitney's Surf Board, carrying 118 pounds, scored his second victory of the meeting when he won the Albany handicap at six furlongs here today.

Surf Board is a very fast horse and should have won this race by a much wider margin, but Mack Garner, who had the mount, was watching over his right shoulder to see if any horse would surprise him and he never once glanced over his left shoulder with the result that Blenheim stole up and almost got the purse. Panelian was third. The race was worth $5,075 and the time was 1:23 3-5.

The start was good. Surf Board and Panelian quickly drew away from the field. The pace was fast and Panelian was the first to crack. He stopped badly and Surf Board ran into a three length lead. However, Garner thought he had the race cinched and took things easy. Blenheim came with a powerful rush on the inside and just failed to get up, Surf Board winning by a head.

Jockey F. Stevens was suspended 10 days by the starter for disobedience at the post in the first race.

YEARLING SALE AT SARATOGA TRACK BRINGS $91,900

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—An offspring of the famous French-bred sire, Sir Gallahad 3d, the daddy of the great Gallant Fox and a host of other good winners, was sold at the Saratoga yearling sales tonight. This was a bay filly out of Flamsette which sold for $11,000. A still higher price, and highest of the sales so far, was that of $17,000 paid for a bay colt by Pennant Imp-Sis Martin.

Forty-seven head were placed under the hammer and they brought the grand total of $91,900, making the average $1,955 per head. Mrs. T. J. Regan's sixteen head sold for $46,950, averaging $2,934. William Woodward's Belair stud lot of the same number totaled $21,250 to average $1,328. Cold Stream stud and partners offered eleven head which brought $42,850, to average $1,168. Four youngsters consigned by Brooknell farm made $10,850 for an average of $2,712.

Ex-Senator Gives Braves 1 Hit in Exhibition Game

Jamestown, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Jamestown Spiders, semi-pro team, defeated the Boston Braves of the National league, 3 to 0 in an exhibition game here today. "Swat" Erickson, former Washington pitcher, hurled eight hitless innings. In the ninth Richbourg rapped a single to right field for Boston's only safety of the game. Erickson fanned eight. Score:

Braves	000	000	000—0 1 1

Hansel and Gowdy; Erickson and Lapp.

Betty Nuthall Arrives in Quest of U. S. Net Crown

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Miss Betty Nuthall, British woman tennis star, arrived in New York aboard the Cunard liner Mauretania, which docked tonight. Miss Nuthall, who shares the No. 2 position with Miss Eileen Bennett in the British women's tennis rankings, is here to compete in the American women's tennis tournament to be played at Forest Hills starting on Aug. 18.

LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM
Now 25c a tube

Millions of men with tough beards and tender skins have paid 50¢ a tube for this wonderful shaving cream. To increase users tenfold, we have cut the price in two, confident that tremendous sales will reduce production costs.

At 25¢, Listerine Shaving Cream is the biggest tube of quality cream at anything near its price. Your first shave will prove that its thick, creamy lather takes up water like a sponge. That it stays moist. That it deposits a microscopic film of glycerine on which your razor slides.

Thus friction is reduced. There is no scrape or pull. No heat or harshness. Your skin feels cool and contented, pleasantly protected by this lubricating cream. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

The 50¢ quality is now 25¢

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Fisherman's Luck.

DORR E. FELT, 68, MANUFACTURER, DIES SUDDENLY

DORR E. FELT.

Dorr E. Felt, president of the Felt and Tarrant Manufacturing company, a former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, and inventor of the comptometer, died suddenly early yesterday in his home at 432 Wellington avenue. He was 68 years old.

Funeral services will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Jeanne Felt, whom he married a year ago in Paris, and four daughters by his first wife, Mrs. Agnes Felt, who died two years ago. His daughters are Mrs. Virginia F. Koch, 1110 Pine street, Winnetka; Miss Elizabeth Felt of the home address, Mrs. Constance Felt Tippens, Wyoming, O.; and Mrs. Dorothea Felt Noyes, 70 East Cedar street.

Mr. Felt invented the first key operated calculating machine and the first practical adding and listing machines. His first model of a comptometer he made in 1882, two years after he came to Chicago from Beloit, Wis. He was an apprentice in a machine shop when he was 14 years old. He perfected the comptometer in 1887. The manufacturing company which he headed until his death was organized the same year.

He served as regional advisor for one section of the war industrial board in 1918 and was a member of the employers' commission appointed by Secretary of Labor Wilson in 1919, going to England to study labor conditions. He was a former director of the United States Chamber of Commerce and a member of Union league and Chicago Athletic association.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Gov't vs. Northern Pacific.

Owners of stock in the Northern Pacific will be interested in the outcome of the suit brought against that road by the department of justice at Spokane, Wash. If it is decided in favor of the defendant, the company stands to profit to the extent of between $8,000,000 and $12,000,000, it is figured. The suit arose over an original land grant. It is contended that the carrier did not receive all the land it was supposed to get under the terms of the grant, and that, after all these years, it is in a fair way to be recompensed.

Radio Corp. Report.

Wall street is awaiting with a great deal of interest the half year report of the Radio Corporation of America, scheduled to be made public within the next week or so. It is a foregone conclusion the showing will not be particularly pleasing to stockholders. The period is probably the worst the radio industry has been called upon to fight its way through in its history.

Digests Much Selling.

Electric Bond and Share has been digesting considerable selling on the curb since the beginning of the week, but has not given much ground. The short interest in the stock is still uncomfortable.

START WORK ON REMODELING OF OAK PLAYHOUSE

Architect Places Cost at $150,000.

BY AL CHASE.

Contracts have been let by Architect David Saul Klafter for the reconstruction of the Oak theater at the northwest corner of Western and Armitage avenues, at a reported cost of $150,000. Work has just started. The improvement will include a new front of modernistic design, with Spanish motif.

The interior will be altered and redecorated to conform to the new design. The balcony is to be entirely rebuilt and a new mezzanine floor installed with new marble stairways. The building is owned by the Oak Theater Building corporation. It is expected to have the playhouse ready for fall opening.

Hotel Changes Hands.

Eugene Gehm yesterday took title to the Lincoln Park Manor apartment hote at 500-508 Fullerton parkway by master in chancery deed, from the Lincoln Park Manor Building corporation. The five story, fireproof building contains sixty apartments of one, two and three room suites.

The property fronts 96½ feet on Fullerton parkway with an irregular depth. The hotel building is one of a group erected about seven years ago. It was acquired by Mr. Gehm subject to an incumbrance of $165,000. It will be operated by him. E. J. Gehm & Son handled the transaction.

Walton Place Lease.

Mabel Thorne, formerly in charge of antiques at Mandel Bros. department store, has leased the two story building at 103 East Walton place, near Michigan avenue, from Clarence J. Carey, and will use the premises for the sale and display of antiques and interior decorations. The Bowes Realty company negotiated the transaction.

The Beatrice apartments, a six story building, containing thirty-seven furnished suites, on a lot 50x125, at 2358 East 70th street, was bought by Julius Kahn and others, who purchased the stock of the Beatrice Building corporation at a reported price of $226,000, subject to $137,000. Walter Hill of the Jackson park office of Carroll, Schendorf & Boenicke, was broker.

FAIR BULGE IN COTTON

Cotton prices were erratic yesterday, but closed with gains of 17@21 points on futures in Chicago and 15@22 points in other markets. Spots were up $1.00 a bale, with New York, 13.15c; New Orleans and Galveston, 12.80c; Houston, 12.75c. Liverpool was 19@21 points higher, with spot sales 4,000 bales.

Traders evened up for the government report due early today.

Drought is seriously affecting the cotton crop throughout the central part of the belt and there was more disposition to buy on weak spots. Prices follow:

J. C. PENNEY CO. SALES FOR 7 MONTHS REACH $100,000,000 MARK

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—July sales of the J. C. Penney company totaled $13,602,419, compared with $14,566,471 for the like month last year. Sales for the seven months ended July 31, however, totaled $100,059,648, the first time in the history of the company that sales reached the $100,000,000 mark before August. Sales for the corresponding period last year totaled $97,642,705.

Other July sales figures not previously published are reported by the following chain systems:

A. F. Lipman, president of National Family stores, said sales for the first six months of the current fiscal year ending July 31 showed a decline of 6 per cent as compared with last year. Mr. Lipman said, "I consider this a most gratifying record, considering general business conditions that have prevailed during this period. Despite this reduction in sales, earnings for this period will show a slight increase, due to many operating economies which have been in effect since the beginning of the year."

Gross sales of twenty leading chain store systems for July showed a decline of 6.64 per cent, compared with the same period of 1929, whereas for the seven months ended with July sales for the same systems decreased .009 per cent, compared with the figures for the same period of last year, according to the monthly compilation of George H. Burr & Co. Sales of these twenty store systems aggregated $108,287,253 for July, against $115,996,385 reported for July, 1929, a decrease of 6.64 per cent.

RECESSIONS ARE MILD IN CHICAGO STOCK TRADING

Majestic Household Off on Profit Taking.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange eased off yesterday, but in few cases were the recessions other than fractional. The gains noted also were extremely moderate, as was the turnover for the day, which totaled 147,700 shares.

Majestic Household, which has been providing the week's excitement, ran into profit taking and the price in closing at 48⅛ was 2⅛ off. The low for the day was 46½. Sales in this issue totaled 44,700, a considerable decline from yesterday's figure. Interest in Grigsby-Grunow declined and the price on a turnover of 11,200 shares slipped ⅝ to close at 15¼.

Auburn Slows Up.

The market as a whole was typical of the dull days that have been prevailing for the last few weeks so far as the general list has been concerned. In a majority of cases both recessions and gains were merely fractional. Yesterday's trading saw the losses far outnumber the advances.

Auburn has had the brakes put on its speed, either up or down, the last few days, and yesterday it took a loss of ¾ to close at 122¼. Fractional losses were suffered by Bendix and Cord, while Borg Warner maintained its price of 30. This latter issue has been very steady in recent trading.

Utilities saw Public Service of Northern Illinois, no par, drop 4⅛ to close at 278⅜, and Commonwealth Edison ease off 2½ points. Trading in both issues was extremely limited. Middle West Utilities perked up somewhat and on a turnover of 11,650 shares gained ¼ to close at 29½. Insull Utility was fairly active but lost fractionally.

Super Maid Up 2¼ Points.

In the general list E. L. Bruce and Cherry Burrell each suffered a 3 point loss on very light trading, and Marks Brothers Theaters slipped 2 points. Super Maid enjoyed the greatest gain of the day by moving up 2¼ points to close at 14. Vortex Cup common advanced ½ and the class A preferred was 1 point to the good.

H. O. Stone, in selling at 5, gained 1 point over yesterday. Bastian Blessing, which has been the subject of some attention recently, dropped off 1 point to close at 39.

Radios were fairly steady. U. S. Radio and Transformer both showed fractional gains, while Zenith was off ⅛.

Chicago Curb Exchange Stocks

Prices in most instances were moderately lower on the Chicago curb yesterday. Ford, Ltd., sagged over a point following its recent steady rise, Insull rights, both common and preferred, lost minor fractions, and gas and oil stocks were in fractional losses. Corporate Trust Shares turned in a good volume but after moving up momentarily to 8, eased in the later dealings and wound up in a fractional loss at 7⅝.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Commerce

FRIDAY, AUGUST 8, 1930.

SOARING WHEAT BRINGS FLURRY IN GRAIN PITS

But Gains Are Lost in Profit Taking.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Although weather reports and speculative buying by the public sent grain values soaring upward early yesterday on volume and rapidity rivaling the wartime markets, professional traders stepped in to take their profits and the market on the whole closed lower than on Wednesday.

Public interest, reflected in packed galleries in the new home of the Board of Trade, remained strong, and the volume of grain trades for the day was estimated at 150 million bushels, compared with 180,131,000 for the previous day, the highest since 1925.

The wheat and corn pits boiled with excitement during the first half hour of trading, when wheat jumped 2¾ to 4 cents a bushel over the finish of Wednesday, to a new high on the crop futures for March and May, the latter selling at $1.14 a bushel, while corn added 1¾ to 2¼ cents to the record breaking increase which began on July 4. December corn fell just short of the high level, selling at 99½ cents, a gain of 2 cents over Wednesday's figure.

September Corn Leads Wheat.

For the nearby deliveries September corn continued to lead wheat, closing at 99¼@99½ cents, as compared to 96¾@96½ cents for wheat. On Wednesday September corn closed at 97@101⅝.

The advance of 14½ to 15¼ cents in wheat within four days and 32¾@33¼ cents in corn in less than a month led to a great display of palms out in the pits, and wheat was carried off 3⅞ to 5 cents, while corn dropped 3⅝ to 4⅞ cents from the top.

After that there was a renewal of commission house buying and a rally. It was what was called a mean market by the traders. It fluctuated every few minutes, the net changes of the day showing as follows:

Wheat, ¾ to 1 cent lower than Wednesday's close.

Corn, 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents lower.

Oats, ⅞ to 1¼ cents lower.

Rye, 1¾ to 2¼ cents lower.

Profit Taking in Oats.

Selling for profits by longs and cash interests who were hedging against purchases of cash oats caused the latter market to show a rather heavy undertone in the Chicago Board of Trade, although the May delivery sold up to 51⅛ cents early, a new high on the crop. The close was ⅞ cents to 1⅛ cents lower, with September 41⅞ to 42 cents, and December at 45⅝ to 45⅞ cents.

The stock market boards in the Board of Trade and in the brokerage houses were virtually deserted, while the grain prices were followed with keen interest everywhere.

"Glad to see we are back on the map," said John A. Bunnell, president of the board, as he strolled about among the perspiring brokers, noting the crowds in the galleries, the good light that fell on the cash grain tables from the north windows, and the general atmosphere of vitality evident.

"The Board of Trade is sound," he said. "We do not object to government supervision, but we do object to government competition."

View of One Broker.

He was referring to the activities of the federal farm board and the 60 million bushels of cash wheat held by the Grain Stabilization corporation, for which a price said to average around $1.19 was paid. This is a strong factor in the present situation, which Mr. Bunnell and other members of the board felt should be left to regulate itself by the natural law of supply and demand.

"The logic of nature is a peculiar thing," said one broker, as he paused in the midst of the morning trading to tell what he thought of the future market.

"Some might call it Providence. I call it simply the logic of nature. The drought may do what all else has failed to do: put the farmers back to raising crops on which they can make profits, instead of seeding so much land to lazy man's crops."

There is a worldwide view of things on the floor of the grain market. The weather map has groups of interested students. Such rains as were reported yesterday in Nebraska, Iowa and the Ohio valley had immediate effect on the trading.

News from the Canadian northwest also had a quick reaction. It was reported by a crop investigator from Detroit that three million acres, or 35 per cent of the Saskatchewan wheat acreage, was in bad condition as a result of rust and drought and probably would return only enough grain for seeding. The Canadian market gained ⅛@¼ of a cent on this.

Hope Rains May Aid Corn.

Corn news indicated that there had been heavy damage to the crop, but that may recover a little with early fall rains. Some traders anticipate that the effect of the drought will last over next year.

Russia enters in the wheat situation strongly. London cables reported Russia had sold 2,500,000 bushels of wheat to the United Kingdom and the continent on Wednesday and was offering freely yesterday.

A plan was suggested by brokers yesterday by which farmers in any drought stricken community may form a corporation which will guarantee the payment of notes to be given by individual farmers. Then, it is suggested, the grain stabilization corporation can sell feed grains in car lots at market prices on easy terms, the local organization arranging for distribution of the feed and the collection of notes when due, taking no profit. The federal farm board in this way, it is argued, may help any community that is willing to help itself, and would aid in disposing of the grain surplus.

Prison Made Goods Grow Into Problem

BY SCRUTATOR.

What to do with the labor of prisoners in American penitentiaries and reformatories seems to constitute a problem of increasing, rather than decreasing, importance.

For one thing, the amount of this labor is greater than it was in the past; certain experiments in legislation have crowded all prisons. For another, some prisons at least are becoming more efficient in their methods of applying the human energy within their walls. If this were pushed to possible limits and the products of the prisoners thrown freely into the open markets, manufacturing and free labor each would have harder competition than they now have.

A great deal of prison made goods does get into the markets now, most of it without marking to indicate origin. Two million dollars was the estimate given by the Illinois Federation of Labor in 1926 of such manufactures sent into Illinois annually and sold in the open markets. Prisons of other states were selling here against Chicago labor. The estimate included clothing, $500,000; shoes, $500,000; furniture, $150,000; brooms, $150,000; clay products, $175,000, and baby buggies, $50,000.

Cost Factors Differ.

The department of commerce has printed the report of a committee, composed of business and professional men and women, among them labor leaders, outlining the prison labor theme. Statistics are quoted showing that the country's criminals produced $12,370,000 worth of work shirts alone in 1923, and that from a fourth to a third of all the broom corn in the country is processed behind the gray walls. Binder twine and chairs, as well as shoes and other garments than shirts, take up much of this slave labor.

It was related in the report that major factors of normal cost applying to private manufacturers were missing with prison labor. On the other hand was the general belief that prisoners should be usefully occupied for economic as well as disciplinary reasons. It was suggested that prison goods should be marked as such and prevented from directly affecting market prices generally, with the alternative of barring prison goods completely from the markets.

"Solutions," the report continued, "must be found. . . . Otherwise, either prison industries must cease and prisoners be kept in idleness or manufacture of products competing with the prison output will become impossible. Either of these developments would be disastrous."

Compete with Government.

A point that apparently was overlooked, or at least not stressed, is that when the state enters the market with prison made goods, the private manufacturer and his free labor are not competing with prisoners, but with government. Logic would require that prisoners be made to earn a living. There seems to be little excuse for a state to make profits on stuffs produced with labor at a minimum subsistence wage. Yet it is stated in the prison labor study that the agricultural machine plant in the prison at Stillwater, Minn., has agents out selling and demonstrating its products.

Some states use their wards in public improvement work. Here again they compete with free bargaining labor. The sensible thing in theory would be to have the prisoners make improvements that would not otherwise be possible. The difficulty is that there is so little work of that kind which can be done. It is possible that governments may have to compel their prisoners to work inefficiently so their output will not be able to compete in open marts of trade.

Baldwin Locomotive Has Big Gain in Shipments

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Shipments by the Baldwin Locomotive works for July totaled $2,520,000, compared with $2,346,000 in the like month last year. Shipments for the first seven months this year were $20,005,000, against $10,937,000. Unfilled orders Aug. 1 were $12,600,000, against $17,600,000 Aug. 1 last year.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS SEE LOSSES DUE TO RATES AND DROUGHT

Officials of the big grain hauling railways are making estimates as to the loss in revenue which may be expected because of reductions in grain rates. The officials report it too early to make any reliable forecasts as to the actual amount of losses resulting from the present droughts.

Executives of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific yesterday estimated that their lines will lose about $2,000,000 in revenues from grain shipments due to rate changes made by the interstate commerce commission. This figure is based on preliminary figures.

Officials of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, in an estimate based on a five year average grain tonnage, figure that the loss to their system through rate changes will be $2,250,000 annually in gross and net earnings.

Concerning the drought, it is anticipated that the Illinois Central, which has extensive mileage in the south and middle west, will be one of the hardest hit systems should commodity tonnage fall off as a result of the lack of rain. Both the Rock Island and the Atchison are extensive winter wheat carriers, and so will be little affected by present conditions. The North Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific are expected to suffer in more moderate degree should the drought continue.

On the other hand, it is anticipated in some quarters that the drought may result in some increase in tonnage through release of grain now in storage to meet the demands of the market. How far this will offset losses from the drought cannot be estimated at present, it was said.

BIG STEEL TRIAL LAPSES INTO WAR OF AUDIT FIGURES

Challenge Data of Ernst & Ernst.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The legal tussle over two different auditing systems, through one of which the opponents of the merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube with Bethlehem Steel corporation claim they were entitled to a greater number of Bethlehem shares in exchange, lapsed into another barrage of figures today. Hassell Tippit of the Cleveland firm of Ernst & Ernst, auditors, was on the stand all day for cross-examination in the hearing of the suit brought by the Cyrus S. Eaton interests to enjoin the merger.

F. H. Wood, Bethlehem corporation counsel and one of the attorneys for the merger group, challenged the Ernst & Ernst audit which computed the exchange of stock on the basis of 1929 earnings at 548,000 more shares of Bethlehem than the Youngstown stockholders will receive if the merger agreement stands.

Obtains Admissions.

Attorney Wood obtained admissions from Tippit that members of the Ernst & Ernst firm are financially interested in some of the companies of which Eaton is a stockholder.

The Ernst & Ernst audit arrived at conclusions widely different from the report of Price, Waterhouse & Co. on which the merger terms were based. Important among these items were relative charges for maintenance and repair and for depreciation, which by ratio affect earnings available to stockholders.

Tippit's direct testimony supported the contention of the anti-merger forces that Bethlehem did not show a comparable rate of depreciation.

Sticks to Testimony.

The witness stuck to his testimony throughout a rigid cross-examination today. He insisted that Ernst & Ernst was correct in distributing between the two classifications of maintenance and depreciation some big items which Bethlehem charged only to maintenance.

Wood also attacked Tippit's conclusions on the application of income on Bethlehem's insurance fund, which the Price, Waterhouse report included in the earnings to Bethlehem stockholders. The Ernst & Ernst audit made no such credit, Tippit holding that the income on insurance funds was not applicable to earnings.

U. S. RUBBER HAS NET LOSS OF $2,797,403

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—United States Rubber company today reported net loss of $2,797,403 for the first six months. In the corresponding period last year there was net income of $568,641, equal to 87 cents a share on the preferred.

Net sales for the half year amounted to $75,206,983, against $86,073,346 a year ago.

Interest on the funded debt was $3,904,299, and provision for plant depreciation totaled $3,730,793, an increase of $563,356 over the sum provided for the same account in the first half of 1929. The company's plantations had a loss approximating $350,000. Retirements in the funded debt during the period aggregated $2,983,000.

The report said that a large number of small companies and three factories had been sold and that arrangements had been made for closing five more plants "in accordance with the plans to concentrate the manufacturing operations of the company."

Current assets as of June 30 were $122,792,373, against current liabilities of $36,628,034.

Walgreen Sales Increase 7.85 Per Cent in July

The Walgreen company and subsidiaries reported a 7.85 per cent increase in sales for July of this year in comparison with July, 1929. For July, 1930, the sales totaled $4,327,276 and for July, 1929, they were $4,012,175. The 1930 gain was $315,101. For the first seven months of this year the sales totaled $30,266,462 as against $25,023,266 for the same period last year—an increase of $5,243,195 or 20.95 per cent.

Vermont Road Collects Damages from 3d Motorist

For the third time in two months the Central Vermont railway has collected damages from a careless motorist for damage to its equipment. In this case the court awarded the railway damages against a man who left his car on a grade crossing at Roxbury after a tire had blown out. It was hit by a freight train with damage to the locomotive.

Loans Made to Brokers Drop 14 Millions

With speculative interest centered largely in the grain market, brokers' loans showed a decline of $14,000,000 last week, according to the weekly report of the federal reserve board. The current total of $3,214,000,000 marks a decrease of $2,806,000,000 from a year ago. The New York banks increased their own loans $50,000,000, but interior banks withdrew $51,000,000 and other lenders, including corporations, withdrew $13,000,000.

The weekly statement of the federal reserve system shows that borrowings of member banks increased $4,822,000 to a total of $205,923,000. The reserve banks increased their bankers' acceptances by $2,809,000, while holdings in government securities were approximately unchanged. Deposits decreased $45,465,000 and note circulation increased $3,633,000. Gold reserves and total reserves declined $43,804,000 and $51,379,000, respectively. The ratio of reserve to liabilities declined to 83.1 per cent from 83.5 per cent.

Makes No Change.

The New York reserve bank made no change in its rediscount rate of 2½ per cent. Its report showed member bank borrowings increased $11,327,000 to a total of $44,757,000. Bankers' acceptances increased $16,225,000, while deposits declined $65,507,000. Reserves fell $99,682,000 and the reserve ratio receded to 84.1 per cent from 87.7 per cent a week ago.

Smaller changes are shown in the weekly report of the Chicago reserve bank. It reports that member bank borrowings decreased less than $1,000,000, while bankers' acceptances declined $6,889,711. Deposits expanded $14,416,805. Reserves increased $17,771,000, while the reserve ratio increased to 87.2 per cent, compared with 85.7 last week.

Bank clearings in July showed more marked recessions from a year ago than did preceding months. The decreases, in fact, shaped up about as large as they were in the first two months of 1930.

This was in keeping with the general ebbing of activity from recently preceding periods in trade and industry, due to ordinary summer dullness being accentuated by the decline in industrial activity, the lessened trade proceeding from vacation conditions, intense heat, reduced stock speculation, and other causes.

The total clearings at 125 cities for July, as reported to Bradstreet's, were $46,460,765,000, which marked a decrease of 22.4 per cent from July a year ago, this comparing with a decrease of only 6.1 per cent in June and finding closes resemblances in the decreases of 22.2 and 22.4 per cent, respectively, in January and February from the like months a year ago.

Decrease Is 5.4 Per Cent.

The decrease from June at all cities was 5.4 per cent, but compared with July, 1928, the gain was 2.3 per cent. New York City's clearings for July were $29,768,224,000, a decrease of 10.1 per cent from June, of 25.9 per cent from July, 1929, and 7.2 per cent from July, 1928.

Outside of New York the total clearings were $16,692,541,000, a gain of 4.4 per cent over June, but a decrease of 15.3 per cent from July, 1929, and of 5.3 per cent from July, 1928.

The total clearings at 125 cities for the seven months of this year were $335,486,708,000, a decrease of 16 per cent from a year ago and of 4.8 per cent from 1928. New York City's clearings for July totaled $219,666,013,000, a decrease of 18.2 per cent from 1929 and of 2.2 per cent from 1928.

LEFCOURT QUITS PRESIDENCY OF NEW YORK BANK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 7.—A. E. Lefcourt announced today his retirement from the presidency of the Lefcourt National Bank and Trust company. His successor is Joseph J. Bach, who organized the Public National bank in 1908, and who has served as its executive vice president until last week.

About Sept. 15 a meeting of the stockholders will be held to act on the request of Mr. Lefcourt that the name of the institution be changed, which request has been acceded to by the directors.

San Francisco Reserve Bank Cuts Rediscount

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The rediscount rate of the San Francisco federal reserve bank will be reduced tomorrow to 3½ per cent from the four per cent rate in effect since last March 21. The reduction was announced today by Isaac B. Newton, chairman of the board.

Reo Adds 600 Workers; 500 More to Get Jobs

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Reo Motor Car company has added 600 men to its pay rolls, and plans to add 500 additional men within ten days, it was announced today.

WARNER BROS. PASSES COMMON STOCK DIVIDEND

Regular Payment Is Made by G. M. C.

Dividend news for shareholders in a number of the nation's big corporations was mixed yesterday.

General Motors, as was anticipated, is paying its regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share on its common stock, payable Sept. 12 to stock of record Aug. 16. In addition, the board of directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 on the $5 preferred, payable Nov. 1 to stock of record Oct. 6.

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., ended speculation as to the outcome of its directors' meeting when the directors took no action on the common dividend now due. The regular quarterly payment of 55 cents a share on the preferred was declared payable Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 18. Passing of the common dividend was attributed to the recent expansion expenses and to decreased earnings this summer.

Goodrich Omission.

Directors of the B. F. Goodrich company voted to pass payment of the current quarterly dividend on the firm's common stock. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock was declared payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 10.

The Goodrich company has suffered from the prevalent depression in business, and particularly from the decline in raw material prices. The volume of business in lines other than tires has been fairly satisfactory, it was stated. Sales for the second quarter fell short of expectations, but the month of July shows a substantial increase in volume over sales in preceding months.

Directors of National Family Stores declared a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent in common stock on the common. Previously the quarterly dividend on the common has been 40 cents in cash. The regularly quarterly disbursement of 50 cents on the preferred was declared.

Sales Off 6 Per Cent.

A. S. Lipman, president, stated that sales for the first six months of the company's current fiscal year, ended July 31, showed a decrease of about 6 per cent below those of the corresponding period last year. Despite this reduction, he said, and the severity of the business depression, earnings for this year will show a slight increase, due to many economies in operation which have been put into effect since the beginning of the year.

He added that payment of the common stock dividend in common stock rather than in cash is particularly advisable at this time because of the need of additional working capital, and particularly because of the fact that the company's debenture issue is being withheld from public offering pending more favorable general bond market conditions.

Directors of Crown Cork and Seal today postponed until Aug. 15 their special meeting to consider inauguration of a dividend on the common stock.

ROADS PROTEST PRIVATE CAR RULING OF I. C. C.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Louisville and Nashville and other railroads today asked the Supreme court to set aside an order of the interstate commerce commission of last November prohibiting railroads from transporting free of charges private passenger cars, including so-called office cars of other railroads.

The carriers protested that under the interstate commerce act they had for many years been issuing free transportation to their own employés and their families and to other persons authorized by law to receive it, and had been exchanging passes with other railroads.

They took the position they had the right to haul free private cars of other companies when occupied by persons holding passes, and insisted this did not conflict with their duties as common carriers.

Railway Bonds Climb Another Notch in Value

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The demand for railroad investment bonds on the New York stock exchange today still appeared unsatiated.

Carrier obligations climbed another notch in the price averages and for the second time this week the price level was adjusted at a new 1930 peak. The investment department as a whole showed a firm undertone, with stock privilege and speculative issues suffering from the heaviness of equity securities.

One of the favorable factors for the accelerated pace of investment issues this week has been the comparative dearth of new offerings to attract institutions with large amounts of idle funds to invest. Another factor has been assurance that money rates affecting the bond market will continue easy throughout August. Call money, after rising to 2½ per cent early in the week, returned to 2 per cent today and bankers expect that it will rest there most of the month.

Considering the quietness normal for this time of year, traders found the inquiry which developed for bonds encouraging, the day's sales totaling $7,312,000. Attention was concentrated upon domestic corporation issues, with some utilities and industrials sharing in the vitality demonstrated by carrier issues.

Among the strong railroad bonds were Baltimore and Ohio ref. 5s, Pennsylvinia 4½s, Chicago and North Western 4¾s and Union Pacific 4½s, which reached new highs for the year.

PULLMAN, INC., SHOWS GAIN IN 6 MO. PROFIT

A net profit for the quarter ended June 30 of $5,336,899—after all charges—was reported yesterday by Pullman, Inc., and subsidiaries. This was equivalent to $1.37 a share on 3,875,000 no par capital shares outstanding, compared with $4,532,860, or $1.16 a share, on the same share basis for the preceding quarter.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 7.—Business picked up but prices did not today on the stock market. At the close most of the issues were just a little bit further downhill than they were in the morning. Those gentlemen who favor the downward curve were persistently active for several hours, and then their little spurt of enthusiasm waned and a few of the more hardy issues began cautiously to poke up their heads for a breath of air. Nobody got anywhere much.

The greatest pressure was exerted against the canning and dairy issues on the theory that both classes of stock would be affected by the drought in the agricultural and truck garden regions. American Can and Continental Can each were forced down more than 2 points, but both managed to gain back all except about a point of their losses.

Other Victims.

Other stocks which were pummeled included Borden, Case Threshing, Corn Products, International Harvester, and National Dairy Products. Most of these issues, however, met good investment buying on the decline and bearish operations were not eminently successful.

Dealings in stocks were on a somewhat broader scale today, transactions

How long is

LONG-TERM

The soundness of investing in common stocks for the long term, as opposed to a practice of guessing short term fluctuations, is generally accepted. But the investor may properly ask, "How long a time is implied by the phrase 'long-term investment'?"

Obviously, no specific length of time can be set down. Ten months may be too long or ten years too short a time to continue an interest in a particular business. The clue to the answer may be found in the factors which induced the purchase in the first instance. A common stock should be purchased and held because the company in which it represents an ownership is well managed, is growing steadily and soundly and is aggressively developing the opportunities in its field. When these conditions no longer prevail, or better, when there are signs that they will no longer prevail, the term for the retention of the stock should end.

This is the function of investment management.

National Securities Investment Company is an investment company of the general management type with capital and surplus of over twenty-five million dollars. It is sponsored and managed by George Pick & Company and A. G. Becker & Co. The holdings of National Securities Investment Company are subject to change at any time and from time to time by the men directing its affairs. Its lists of holdings as of June 30, 1930 and December 31, 1929 are available. They are made up of securities of outstanding companies in the United States.

The Allotment Certificates, listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange, represent one share of 6% Preferred Stock, one-half share of Common Stock and the right for more than three years to buy another half-share of Common Stock at $15 per share, the current market price.

The net asset value of the Preferred Stock on July 19, 1930 was $140 per share. The Allotment Certificates are currently selling around 90, yielding well over 6½%. We recommend them on their merits as investments, on their yield and because they afford a most attractive way to benefit from long-term appreciation in the general market. Full details upon request. THE inevitable result of easy credit conditions, low money rates and declining commodity prices is a steadily broadening demand for high grade securities paying a fixed rate of interest.

Receipts at Chicago today: 2,000 cattle, 23,000 hogs, and 4,000 sheep.

An early dip of 15@25c in hog prices yesterday was followed by a sharp reaction and closing sales were about in line with the general selling of the previous day. Light weights showed most weakness on the break, while medium and weighty butchers were as much as 5@10c higher near the close, the high point of the day on all weights.

The extreme top lost 15c at $9.80, as compared with a top of $9.70 at the opening yesterday. The general average remained unchanged at $8.95. Brisk local demand was the feature of the trade and early weakness was soon lived.

Outside orders were unusually small on Thursday. However, only 4,000 remained at the close. Five western markets except 38,000 today, against 31,000 the previous Friday.

December Hogs in Demand.

December contracts attracted most attention on the hog futures market again yesterday and further gains of 5@15c were scored. Prices show the advance in two days, while prices in all other months held about steady. December light opened at $8.50 and closed at $8.75, while mediums for the same month opened at $8.50 and closed at $8.65. September mediums sold at $9.25.

Bidding for feeding lambs for August and September delivery was steady at $8.50 on back face medium wool 67@65 lb averages and $6.50 on white face stock of similar quality and weight.

The cattle market was a two-way affair yesterday. Steers carrying weight lost 15@25c more, selling 75c at $1.00 lower than a week ago, while yearlings and light steers met brisk demand at additional price gains. The latter are mostly 25@50c above last week's close, outselling heavy stock by the biggest margain in several weeks.

Top at $11.00 was paid for 852@862 lb averages carrying a few baby beef heifers. No prime weighty beeves arrived, but good grades averaging 1,300 lbs were bought as low as $9.60.

Butcher stock was mostly steady, although fancy light heifers gained 10@15c more. The latter sold up to $10.60, averaging 685 lbs. Calves advanced mostly 50c. Stockers and feeders unchanged.

Lambs Sell Lower.

The lamb market was subjected to a drubbing soon after a slow topping yesterday, with closing sales fully 25c under the general selling the previous day. Good to choice ewe and wether natives sold at $8.00@8.50, with one lot "hand picked" by a city butcher at $9.75.

Bulk of top westerns sold at $9.00@9.25, while "seconds" and feeders were hard to dispose of at weak prices. Some feeders were bought at $5.00@5.50, although strightly choice light weights were quoted at $6.50@6.65. Good sheep and yearlings were unchanged.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 2,000 cattle, 16,000 hogs and 4,000 sheep, against 2,086 cattle, 13,235 hogs and 7,595 sheep on the previous Friday and 2,307 cattle, 14,400 hogs and 7,170 sheep a year ago.

SHARP BULGE IN LARD

Renewed buying of lard futures, particularly December, carried prices up yesterday 15@37½c over the previous day's close, with January leading the upturn. Outsiders are taking hold more freely and prefer December, which is considered an old 'crop delivery, while January is a new crop offer. Packers and carriers were the sellers. At the close prices were off early, although net gains were 10@ 30c. Liverpool lard was surprisingly strong, with an advance of 2s 3d. Export clearances were 20,125 lbs of lard and 60,000 lbs of bacon.

Bellies were 10c higher, with limited trading. Hog receipts were smaller than a week and a year ago, and prices closed strong, after an early decline. Prices follow:

BUTTER AND EGGS

Butter and egg futures eased off fractionally on the Chicago Mercantile exchange, trading being light. November butter closed at 39¾@39½c, off ½@¼c, while November eggs closed at 29¼c, off ¼c. November butter declined under selling pressure, only to firm up later and regain the loss. Toward the close, fresh selling by recent buyers brought about a further reaction and the close was at the bottom. The statistical news continued somewhat favorable. The centralized report showed a decrease of 20 per cent in the week's storage take, while the four principal markets showed 465,000 lbs less placed into storage. The storage holding in the ten markets is under the holdings of a year ago. Sales: Butter, 111 cars; eggs, 23 cars. Receipts—Butter, 4,874 tubs; eggs, 5,660 cases. Prices follow:

LEGAL NOTICES.
OFFICIAL PUBLICATION.
Pursuant to law in such case made and provided, public notice is hereby given that the following Joint Resolution was passed at Special Session of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Illinois, which proposed amendment will be submitted to the People for adoption or rejection at the General Election to be held on November 4, 1930.
SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.
Resolved by the Senate of the State of Illinois, the House concurring herein, there shall be submitted to the electors of this State for adoption or rejection at the next election of members of the General Assembly of the State of Illinois in the year 1930, provided by law, a proposition to amend Article IX. of the Constitution, by amending sections 2, 3, 9, and 10 of said Article to read as follows:
Section 1. The General Assembly shall have power to enact laws to provide revenue. All real estate for the purpose of imposition of taxes shall be in one class, except that mineral lands and land devoted to reforestation may be in different classes.
Section 2. If a tax is imposed upon incomes the State shall not receive more than fifteen per centum of the proceeds thereof, after deducting the cost of collection, except by the affirmative votes of two-thirds of the members elected to each house of the General Assembly. And unless otherwise provided by a similar two-thirds vote, the remainder shall be distributed among the several counties in the ratio which the total collections from persons in each county bear to the total collected from taxpayers of the whole State, and the amount allocated to each county may be further divided among the county and other municipal corporations within or partly within such county as the General Assembly may from time to time direct. Other taxes collected by the State may be distributed in whole or in part among the counties and other municipal corporations in such manner as the General Assembly shall direct by general law.
Section 9. The General Assembly may vest the corporate authorities of cities, towns, villages, sanitary districts, park districts, and other municipalities with power to make local improvements by special assessment, or special taxation of contiguous property, or otherwise. For all other corporate purposes, all municipal corporations may be vested with authority to assess and collect taxes.
Section 10. Except as permitted in section 2 the General Assembly shall not impose taxes upon municipal corporations or the inhabitants or property thereof, for corporate purposes, but shall provide that taxes to be levied by municipal corporations for the payment of debts contracted under authority of law. Private property shall not be liable to be taken or sold for the payment of the corporate debts of a municipal corporation.
Adopted by the Senate, May 21st, 1930, by two-thirds vote of the membership of the Senate.
JAMES H. PADDOCK,
Secretary of the Senate.
FRED E. STERLING,
President of the Senate.
Amended by the House of Representatives, June 19th, 1930, and adopted as amended, by two-thirds vote of the membership of the House of Representatives.
GEORGE D. MAHIN,
Clerk of the House of Representatives.
DAVID E. SHANAHAN,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
Amendments of the House of Representatives concurred in by the Senate, June 19th, 1930, by two-thirds vote of the membership thereof.
JAMES H. PADDOCK,
Secretary of the Senate.
FRED E. STERLING,
President of the Senate.
The form in which the proposed amendment to the Constitution of Illinois is to appear upon the official ballot at the General Election on November 4, 1930, is as follows:
TAX RELIEF AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF ILLINOIS.
PURPOSE OF THE AMENDMENT.
This amendment, if adopted, will give the General Assembly the opportunity to redistribute the tax load, to reduce taxes on homes, real estate, and farm land, to classify personal property and place taxes on intangibles which will not be unjust, as at the present time, but reasonable and fair to all.

Yes	For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2, 9 and 10 of Article IX. of the Constitution.
